Pahl Resigns; Zettek To Be Interim Mayor

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board.

Trustee Charles Zettek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week.

He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office. He laughed when he made the latter comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL WAS elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glab when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection, in 1969 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Pahl was the chairman of the plan commission when he was appointed by Village Pres. James Gibson to replace Hartshorn.

SINCE BECOMING active in governmental affairs Pahl has been involved with many inter-governmental and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Northwest Municipal Conference and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Pahl and Blue Island Mayor Richard Withers in 1967 both played instrumental roles in establishing the council of governments, formed to deal with common governmental problems.

Pahl has been active with the Illinois Municipal League's revenue sharing committee and is currently on the executive board of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities.

He has served on the National League of Cities Committee on Inter-Governmental Relations and was appointed by former Illinois Gov. Otta Kerner to the Commission on Urban Area Government. He also has served as steering committee chairman for the Northwest Region of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. Pahl also is associated with the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Cook County Committee on criminal justice.

A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, he gained his initial municipal experience as an administrative aid from 1955 to 1958 to Chicago Ald. Jack Sperling in the 50th ward.

JACK PAHL, Elk Grove Village president, who announced plans Tuesday to resign from office. He has been the mayor since 1965.

Charles Zettek, a 10-year member of the Elk Grove Village Board, has agreed to accept the position of acting village president for the next two years, according to Village Pres. Jack Pahl, who announced his resignation Tuesday.

Zettek's appointment is expected to be made by the board at the village board meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the village hall, 901 Wellington Ave.

In commenting on the appointment, Zettek said, "Most of my emotions are over the loss of Pahl. I haven't given much consideration yet to the new post."

"I would only hope that I could pursue the same kinds of programs and initiate the same actions that Jack would have. More than any other man who has served on local government he has done more to develop government, especially in Elk Grove Village."

Zettek said he does not plan to go out and seek other inter-governmental positions but prefers to work in the confines of the village.

A RESIDENT OF the village for 14 years, he lives at 44 Woodcrest with his three children. He is an assistant manager of Western Electric Co., Chicago, where he has been employed for 20 years.

The village board could either have voted one of its own members to Pahl's position or held a special election.

Zettek's appointment leaves a trustee position vacant. He said a replacement has not been discussed by the board but he plans as one of his first actions to recommend a committee-of-the-whole be formed to seek applications and interview candidates.

Charles Zettek

Pahl: Not Because Of Any Personal Problems

Jack Pahl was sitting in his office late Tuesday answering questions on his sudden announcement to resign as president of Elk Grove Village.

"No personal problems," said Pahl, 48, adding that there are "personal reasons."

He said his family, which includes eight children, was unaware up to Tuesday that he was considering resigning from a position he has filled for six years and one month.

Village Clerk Richard McGreener, the man who persuaded Pahl to seek the office of village president six years ago interrupted to seek a signature of Pahl's on a plat that had been approved earlier at the board meeting.

Edward Hofert, long-time village attorney, also was in Pahl's office while the six village trustees were partaking in a closed session in the next room on the topic: What to do about a replacement for Pahl.

"Any one of the board members is capable to be village president," said Pahl. "There are plenty of competent people in the village. The area isn't bankrupt for leadership."

Pahl said he had told the trustees that he would agree to stay on through June but that he preferred his resignation be effective May 31.

The date seemed like rather far off but then Pahl mentioned that Tuesday was his last village board meeting. The 31st is Monday.

Pahl answered questions freely and without hint of any future political appointment or elective office.

Dressed in a bright blue suit, he had his foot on his desk as he continued.

"There are lots of ways to serve," he said without elaborating on the point. Asked if he would be an "available" for higher public office he indicated he would.

But he was quick to point out that he had no plans.

There were only plans to do more bike riding, joked Pahl, a bike riding enthusiast.

Girl Scout Troop Awards Court Today

Junior Girl Scout Troop 317 will hold a court of awards ceremony and fashion show today from 7 to 8 p.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The ceremony will provide parents an opportunity to see their daughters receive the badges they have earned.

Twenty fourth grade Girl Scouts who have worked on their sewing badges will model the clothes they have made. Each of the girls chose her own materials and patterns and learned to use the sewing machine as part of the requirements for the badge.

The ensembles include peasant skirts with matching scarves, belts or reversible vests, and gaucho pants and vests.

The mothers who helped the girls on the sewing badges are Mrs. Mark Nicol, Mrs. William Ballard, Mrs. Robert Williams and Mrs. James Howey. Troop leaders are Mrs. Howey and Irene Williams.

Teacher Council Resolution Supporting Referendum OKd

A resolution supporting the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 referendum June 12 was passed Tuesday by the Dist. 59 Teachers Council Executive Board.

Before proposing the resolution Robert Beaupre, council president, said the teachers have discussed the referendum at length earlier and were going "to back the referendum 100 per cent."

The referendum is for a 21-cent tax increase in the education fund and a 6-cent increase in the building fund. If the referendum is approved it will provide just enough revenue to meet the proposed budget for the 1971-72 school year, according to school officials.

The additional revenue is needed to maintain the present education level in the district, officials have said.

The budget includes no new programs or expansion other than accommodations for an estimated 400 more students than the 11,695 in the district this year.

The district has 20 schools in portions of Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

The budget includes pay increments for the 527 teachers and funds for an additional 24 teachers to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment. However, it does not include any cost of living increase for teachers, which is presently being negotiated by the teachers council with the board of education.

Beaupre said that despite the fact that the referendum included nothing for increased teachers salaries, the teachers felt it was necessary to have the referendum approved to provide a "quality education."

He said the teachers would not work actively to "put pressure on the public" to approve the tax increase.

The Teachers Council, in conjunction with the newly formed Educators for Political Action group, will be campaigning for the referendum by contacting educators living in the district and seeking their support. Beaupre estimated that there are about 1,000 educators living in the district. He said he feels the educational quality of the district affects more than the children in the schools and their parents.

He said, "I feel the referendum is important to everyone," saying that if it failed people would lose their jobs in the district and the property values in the area would go down.

The Teachers Council in the past has not passed any resolutions either supporting or opposing a district referendum.

Quotables

"I have just one announcement," said Mayor Jack Pahl late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting. "For personal reasons I find it necessary to resign."

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $90,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:
HIGH LOW
Atlanta 76 55
Boston 79 60
Houston 82 73
Los Angeles 78 61
Miami Beach 82 78
New York 90 67

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .64 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Graduation Set Saturday At Sacred Heart Of Mary

More than 200 seniors at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Rolling Meadows, will graduate Saturday.

Graduation exercises will be held in the Carousal Room of Arlington Park Towers, beginning at noon with a liturgy service.

Leading the service will be the Rev.

Michael Fritzen, a Louisiana evangelist. The service will be followed by the distribution of diplomas and a luncheon.

Speaking at the graduation exercises will be valedictorian Pamela Eichman of Arlington Heights, who had the highest standing among this year's seniors class. Sacred Heart principal Leonard Baenan is also expected to speak at the graduation.

PRECEDING GRADUATION will be a senior awards ceremony, to be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the school's auditorium. The ceremony will also be a final social get together for Sacred Heart's seniors.

The featured speaker and guest at the ceremony will be Sister Columba Kabanagh, who was principal of Sacred Heart until last year. She has been teaching at Maryknoll College in Boca Raton, Fla., for the past year and will return to Sacred Heart this fall to work in the guidance department.

Darlene Kotowski of Mount Prospect, the graduating senior's salutatorian, and principal Baenan will speak at this event, too. A slide lecture with music titled "This Who We Are" will also be presented at this event.

Veterans' News

Q — I plan to attend college under the GI Bill, and understand that I must submit, at intervals, a certificate of attendance card. Is this true?

A — Yes, veterans attending college under the GI Bill are required to return a certification card to the VA during the last month of each enrollment period. Students studying under the GI Bill below the college level must submit an attendance card every month.

Q — I have read some national cemeteries are filling up, and will soon close. Will VA pay an additional allowance toward purchasing a plot in a private cemetery?

A — There is no provision for VA to pay anything upon the death of a veteran except a statutory $250 burial allowance, unless he carries VA insurance. The Army, not VA, is in charge of the cemetery system.

Attorney Asks Nefeld Bond Be Set

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 26, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin, Joseph LaPlaca, a 48-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

THOMAS SAID HE will ask for Nefeld's bond "because there is not enough evidence against my client and the presumption of guilt is not great enough — he is innocent."

R. Jack Michelletto, attorney for Silas and LaPlaca, said he will make the same request for his clients. Barnes is still without legal representation, however.

"If anything, Nefeld has been involved in this case by circumstance," Thomas said, referring to Nefeld's association with LaPlaca and Silas.

He said that on the surface "there appears to be a case" against Nefeld because he was involved in the horse business and police have linked Jayne's murder to the horse business.

Nefeld recently put a down payment on a small Chicago Heights stable according to Thomas after selling his home in Markham.

"No matter how it looks, he was not involved in the murder," Thomas reiterated.

He said Nefeld's involvement in the horse business fostered his association with Silas, for whom Nefeld was a bodyguard according to Palatine police.

Police have further linked Nefeld with the murder due to his association with two other suspects who worked in a Markham restaurant where Nefeld frequently dined.

One of those suspects, Melvin Adams turned state's witness Friday and gave authorities the information they needed to make Saturday's arrests.

Police first questioned Adams when a second car seen at the murder scene was traced to him.

Oates Recieves Army Commendation Medal

Maj. David T. Oates, of 242 Yarmouth Rd., Elk Grove Village, recently received his third award of the army commendation medal. He earned the award while assigned to the 32nd Mobile Army Surgical Hospital in Jordan last October. He is now serving as executive officer for the army's reception group in Germany.

Officials Ponder Trace Disannexation

Rolling Meadows officials are considering disannexation of Meadow Trace apartments from the city, if $40,000 in back taxes, owed the city for more than three years, is not paid soon.

Mayor Roland Meyer asked City Atty. Donald Rose to begin the legal action against the apartment complex on Algonquin Road near Rte. 53. "Why should we service them, if they aren't going to pay their share of our taxes," Meyer told city council Tuesday night.

The disannexation announcement came after a detailed report submitted by City Treasurer Robert Cole showing $41,478.95 or 62 per cent of the total tax bill during 1967, 1968 and 1969, is unpaid.

"We get nowhere in the assessor's office and the only way to rid ourselves of this is to disannex the property," Meyer continued. Payment of the back taxes has been held up because of objections filed by owners of Meadow Trace with the Cook County assessor's office challenging the assessed valuation of the property during the three-year period.

UNTIL DECISIONS are reached on the objection, tax monies are not released by the county for distribution to local taxing bodies. Objections to the assessed valuation can continue for more than three years, officials said. Owners of Meadow Trace have filed objections to the assessed valuations for the past four years.

ROLLING MEADOWS officials also are displeased with the drop in assessed valuation of the Meadow Trace apartments between 1968 and 1969 which almost cut in half the tax levy to the apartment complex.

The 1968 assessed valuation of Meadow Trace was about $64 million, but in 1969 the valuation dropped to near $4 million. The tax levy also dropped from $26,067.18 to $15,211.04.

Rose said he has not fully studied the possibilities of disannexation, but said he considered a referendum necessary before the apartments could be removed from the city.

Asked if the city would continue to provide service to the apartments, Meyer said he felt water charges would be at least one-half higher.

ALTHOUGH THE CITY has not been financially hurt by tax returns, other taxing bodies have been forced to borrow money, because of the delinquent Meadow Trace taxes.

Last year, the Rolling Meadows library, which operates under the city budget, was forced to transfer money from the general operational fund of the budget to the bond fund to meet financial commitments.

SEVERAL SCHOOL districts have issued tax warrants because of the slow money turns. The park board in January transferred $25,000 from the building development fund to the general fund in order to pay current bills, and Dean Halterud, park district director, said the slow returns hurt the park's financial situation. Of late park district tax returns in 1969, the Meadow Trace share was 75 per cent.

A breakdown of the unpaid taxes to the city over the past three years shows $21,938.09 owed from 1968; $12,188.77 from 1967 and $7,352.09 in 1969.

In early 1971, more than $500,000 in taxes from 1967 to 1969 was still owed to the city, School Dists. 211 and 54 and the Rolling Meadows Park District.

"We're just tired of the whole thing now," Meyer said and the city is ready to take the legal action if possible.

Kassaba Development Co., present owners of Meadow Trace have not been the lone owners responsible for late payment of taxes. Sam Pancoffa, previous owner of the complex delayed payment of taxes during the years of his ownership prior to 1968.

A Big First For Schaumburg Fire Department

by NANCY COWGER

Victoria Lynn Stallone may become the youngest female in history to be named an honorary fireman.

Vickie Lynn, born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stallone of 1425 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, already has received a bouquet of flowers in recognition from the Schaumburg Fire Department.

The honors rise because Vickie Lynn is the first baby delivered by a Schaumburg fireman. She was born at home, with assistance from firefighters Bob Keats and Gerald Clarke and police officer Charles Barr.

"It's a great feeling to bring something into the world," Keats said. As a member of an ambulance crew, he said, much of his work involves auto accidents and illness, and delivering the baby was a thrilling honor.

He and Clarke have attended seminars on emergency birth at St. Alexius Hospital, said Keats, so they knew what had to be done. They were not nervous until the

Officials Surprised About Pahl's Plans To Resign

Area public officials, in response to the announcement of the resignation of Jack Pahl as Elk Grove Village president late Tuesday, all registered surprise. They said it would be a great loss to the village.

All of the officials contacted Wednesday said they had not been aware of Pahl's intention to resign before he announced it at the village board meeting Tuesday.

After serving as village president for six years Pahl said he was resigning for personal and business reasons.

James Gibson, former village mayor from 1961 to 1965 said, "I think he has spent a tremendous amount of time and energy in the job and deserves an awful lot of credit for the time he has put in in the last six years."

Richard McGrenera, village clerk and former trustee said, "It had to be the surprise of the year without any fear of contradiction. I know how hard he has been working on behalf of the village. I haven't ceased to be amazed at the schedule he has had for himself, yet I was totally surprised."

He added, "I'm disappointed obviously but Jack has done more in six years than the average guy would do in 60. His accomplishments have been fantastic."

"WE'RE SURE GOING to miss him," said Trustee Charles Zetek, who said the village board members tried to persuade Pahl to stay on as mayor after he told them his decision to resign.

The board learned of the decision Tuesday in a closed session prior to the village board meeting.

"We were completely surprised," said Zetek, a trustee for 10 years and the senior member of the board.

"We can ill afford his loss," he added, calling Pahl "a great and capable administrator."

John O'Dell Has Resigned Post In School Dist.

John O'Dell, assistant to the superintendent in High School Dist. 211, has resigned his position to become superintendent of Century Unit School District in Ulin, Ill.

O'Dell, who has been a district administrator for two years, will leave Dist. 211 June 15 and begin his new duties in Ulin July 1.

In his letter of resignation, O'Dell said his work in the district "has greatly enriched my background and brought me into contact with some extremely competent educators."

John O'Dell

"Undoubtedly, the experiences gained in this district will enable me to meet the challenge of providing an effective education for youngsters," he added.

O'Dell received a doctorate degree in school administration from Indiana University in January, 1970.

Before coming to Dist. 211 in 1969, he had a research assistantship on school finance at Indiana. He has been an assistant principal and high school science teacher.

O'Dell's resignation will be considered tonight by the Dist. 211 board of education.

"He's demonstrated great courage by his decision," Zetek said. "He has the courage to recognize that his family comes first," he said, noting that Pahl gave only personal reasons for his resignation.

Ronald Chernick who has served as trustee since Pahl first became president in 1965, said, "No one could weigh the loss in dollars and cents. If you had to pick out of the seven people on the board the last one to resign it would be Jack. He is so strongly dedicated to the political life."

He added, "He's always been my opinion of a tremendous image for the village. Elk Grove Village is Jack Pahl and Jack Pahl is Elk Grove Village in so many people's minds."

GEORGE SPEES, newly elected trustee, said, "I was stunned. We were all caught unaware."

He added, "There isn't much to say. He's done a tremendous job in representing the village."

Harry Jenkins, police chief, said Pahl's announcement came as a surprise. Just last week he said he had been talking with the mayor about long term projects.

He credited Pahl with saving plans to establish a central dispatching center for police from Elk Grove, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights.

The center, in Arlington Heights, would be provided for by a $600,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

"Jack got the mayors of each of those towns together," said Jenkins, admitting that he had all but given up on the project.

"I don't know how in the world we'll ever fill his shoes," Fire Chief Allen Hulett said.

He added, "I feel very bad about it. He's one of the finest public officials I've ever worked with and I've been around a great deal."

VIP Groups To Ask For Consideration Of Projects

Two Very Important Parents (VIP) groups in High School Dist. 211 will ask the board of education tonight to consider approval of special projects.

The Palatine High School organization is asking the board to consider installing an all-weather track at Ost Field.

Schaumburg High School VIP's are asking permission to put up a lighted billboard sign in the school parking lot.

Palatine is the only Dist. 211 school without an all-weather track. The VIP's are asking the board to consider installation of the track through funds in next year's budget.

The board will also consider a policy on tuition and transportation costs for high school students taking courses at Harper College in Palatine. An administration committee studying joint classes with the college is recommending the district not provide transportation from the high schools to the college and not pay tuition for students taking courses for high school credit at Harper.

Discussion of a proposed salary plan for district administrators will also be on tonight's agenda. Under the proposed plan, salary increases for administrators would include experience and performance as criteria as well as formal training and longevity.

To implement the new plan, the board would establish a salary fund for administration from which all administrative salaries would be paid. The superintendent, with final approval from the board, would establish individual administrator's salaries within the funded amount.

The board will also hear reports on staff assignment changes for teachers in industrial education and fine arts and budget development for the 1971-72 school year.

The Dist. 211 board of education will meet at 8 tonight in the G. A. McElroy Administration Center, 1750 S. Roselle Rd., in Palatine.

Girl Scouts Set Campout

Thirty girls and four adult leaders from Junior Girl Scout Troop 448 in Elk Grove Village will go to camp Happy Hollow in East Troy, Wis., this weekend.

They will sleep in platform tents, cook out-of-doors, and work on nature crafts. Profits from a spring cookie sale will pay for bus transportation to camp.

Adult leaders are: Mrs. Donald Lange, Mrs. Robert Krajewski, Mrs. Carl Ponoren, and Mrs. Bert Clabour.

In other scouting affairs, parents of girls in Junior troop 767 and Brownie troop 495 were invited to a combination fly-up and court of awards ceremony on May 18 at the Admiral Richard E. Byrd School.

AT THE CEREMONY 11 third grade girls went from the Brownie troop into the junior troop. The girls who completed one year in Brownies received their friendship pins.

The Brownie troop leaders are Mrs. James Morrow, Mrs. Frank Stompanato, Mrs. Kenneth Deal.

At the ceremony the junior girls received the badges they had earned. A special cookie sale award was given to Nan Amanti and Janet Jackson for selling the most cookies in the troop during the cookie sale.

At the last meeting before the summer break, Junior Troop 767 went on a hay rack party May 19 at Fleetwing Farm in Palatine. Following the party the girls roasted hot dogs and marshmallows. The junior troop leaders are Mrs. Dick Reid and Mrs. Armin Kunkler.

Elected President Of Principals' Assn.

Donald Skidmore, principal of Robert Frost School in Mount Prospect, has been elected president of the Dist. 59 Principals' Association for the 1971-72 school year.

Other elected officers are: Anthony Mostardo, principal of Clearmont School, Elk Grove Village, vice-president; Donald Heitzman, principal of Forest View School, Mount Prospect, secretary; and John Kertekos, principal of High Ridge Knolls School, Des Plaines, treasurer.

Athletic Assn. Sets Meeting For July 2

The next meeting of the Elk Grove Village Athletic Association will be at 8 p.m. July 2 at the Elk Grove Village Public Library, 101 John F. Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village. The June meeting has been cancelled.

Football Registration Dates Announced

Football registrations for the George the same but all boys who register will be held on three consecutive Saturdays in July for eight to 14-year-olds.

Registration will be from 12 to 4 p.m. at Grant Wood School, 225 E. Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village, on July 3, 10 and 17.

For the 135-pound team, ages 11 to 14 (not in high school) weight must be 135 pounds at weigh-in time for backs, but can be over 135 pounds at weigh-in for linemen. For the 105-pound team, ages 10 to 13, maximum weight is 105 pounds.

The Peeewe Division, which is an instructional league, is for eight to ten-year-olds up to 85 pounds at weigh-in time.

Registration fees will be accepted until after applicants try out and make a team. The fees for those age 11 to 14 are $20 for the first boy in the family to register, $12 for the second, and $8 for each boy in the family after that.

The fees for the Peeewe Division are the same but all boys who register will play on a team.

Cheerleading tryouts will be held for all of the teams from 1 to 4 p.m. July 24 at Lions Park on John F. Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

Girls age 10 to 14 may try out for the cheerleader squad for the two big teams. Girls age 8 to 10 may try out for the Peeewe Squad. Registration fees, which will be accepted after the girls make the squads, are $10 for age 10 to 14 and $5 for age 8 to 10.

Further information may be obtained from Grant Galloway at 437-3300 or Chuck Steiger at 430-0004.

Get Kids Away From The TV, And Reading Again

The average child by the age of 16 has spent more than 15,000 hours in front of his television set while spending only 10,000 hours in all of his formal schooling. In recognition of this, daily newspapers have spent more than $46,000,000 in the past 10 years to develop better, more intelligent readers of newspapers in public schools, according to recent surveys.

And, as one publisher, Henry Slane of The Peoria Journal Star, said, "It is true that if we didn't continue to develop readers we would be in trouble. But beyond that, we have a feeling that this country is in a time of crisis, and newspapers share the responsibility with teachers of seeing that the growing generation is informed, critical of what they see, and articulate in children growing up in this tumult able to read, and to perceive what they read."

Paddock Publications demonstrated its commitment to the Newspaper in the Classroom Program during the 1970-71 school year with six major steps.

Paddock Publications employed a full-time Newspaper in the Classroom Coordinator.

The first major NIC Workshop for the Northwest Suburban school systems was sponsored by the newspaper on Jan. 12 with speaker Hope Shackelford demonstrating classroom use of newspapers to over 100 area educators.

The newspaper published its own NIC teachers guide for the elementary through secondary school levels.

Paddock Publications is sponsoring a curriculum specialist to the 13th Annual NIC Workshop at Iowa University along with its own coordinator.

The Herald initiated plans to cooperate with a leading university on a graduate credited course in teaching teachers how to use the newspaper in the classroom.

Youth Forum pages and seminars were organized to foster high school-junior college-age student interest and involvement with the local news media.

The program has reached classrooms from third to twelfth grade and been successful in a special education class taught by Mrs. Virginia Fenner at Holmes Jr. High, Mount Prospect. The students "previously had no idea of the wealth of information the local newspaper had for them. They more or less thought of it as property of adults," she said.

Classroom activities ranged from imaginary job interviews for positions advertised in the want ads to making road maps to stores and places mentioned in the paper. "We started our learning with subjects they were familiar with and had an already cultivated interest, such as sports, comics, and TV programs."

Progressing to study the primary functions of a newspaper in reporting and serving its community, the class discovered — most importantly — "that the newspaper was more than just a topic for a 50 minute class period."

Our old friend Z played in the continent-wide charity game. He didn't do too well and blames the result on the computer, but he did confound the panel with today's hand they analyzed that most South players would land in a spade partial and make two or three.

Z went to four spades after his old partner Y raised him to two and proceeded to make his contract.

East won the first trick with the king of clubs and shifted to the five of diamonds. Z played low and West was in with the nine. He returned the deuce. Z won with the ace and played his king of hearts. East took that and led the suit back.

The defense had three tricks in, but Z was now ready to operate on them. He ruffed a diamond with the five of trumps, led the jack and let it ride after East ducked. Dummy's 10 of trumps held the next trick but Z got to his hand by ruffing a heart, cashed ace and king of trumps to pull East's last touch.

After that it was a simple matter to finesse against West's queen of clubs for the last two tricks.

"Wonderful," remarked A, who had been watching. "You wouldn't have made it against me."

"No," replied Z. "You would have led a second club early in the play. I could take the finesse but would be unable to cash the ace of clubs without East ruffing and spooling my diamond discard."

STUDIO OFFERS "FREE" LESSONS ON ORGAN

ONE HUNDRED FREE COURSES of instruction on the organ are being offered by NAYLOR's Studios in Glenview.

NAYLOR's is suburban Chicago's largest piano and organ company located at 1850 Waukegan Road, Glenview.

In making this announcement, Mr. Naylor said the free courses are being offered as an experimental study with the newest and most revolutionary electronic method ever devised for teaching and playing the organ.

There is no necessity for the student to own an organ, because NAYLOR's will furnish the organ for practice with no obligation.

Of the 100 persons to be chosen for these lessons, one half will be girls and half boys.

By dividing the instructions in this manner a complete and full study can be accomplished.

There will also be a limited amount of openings for adults.

NAYLOR's will expend approximately $2000.00 to complete this musical experiment.

Persons interested in receiving this course are asked to call 724-2100.

HI-FI HUTCH

Just Politics

by Ed Murnane

During these final weeks of the regular session of the Illinois General Assembly, it's difficult to know exactly what the legislators are going to do or, when they are finished, what they have done.

One area in which the legislators have expressed a great deal of interest thus far — although we're not predicting how much they'll actually do — is reform of the state's numerous election laws.

More than 100 bills have been introduced to revise election codes, with the subject matter ranging from changes in primary election dates to making it easier for a candidate to have his name appear on the ballot.

Unfortunately, one of the more sensible proposals, particularly for suburban residents, already has been shelved at least until the fall. The legislation offered by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, which would consolidate election dates in the state, will be held in committee because Graham doesn't think it can be passed this spring.

BRIEFLY, THIS IS what would happen in Illinois if the major election reform proposals were passed.

Absentee ballot regulations would be changed to allow a voter to receive an absentee ballot in the mail at his home address. Also a physically incapacitated person could receive a ballot without a physician's affidavit.

The sale of alcoholic beverages on election days would be allowed.

Campaign spending rules would be established under a Political Campaign Spending Commission and another which creates a Political Spending Act to be administered by a state board of elections.

As required by the new Constitution, the governor and lieutenant governor would be listed on the same ballot.

Special runoff elections for mayor would be eliminated in cities which did not have a mayoral primary.

Voter registration dates would be the same in Cook County as they are downstate and city, village and township clerks would accept them longer.

A county election commission would be created in every county with less than one million persons.

Voters would not have to register if they changed their names through marriage or other reasons.

VOTERS WOULD BE allowed to change their party affiliation in primaries or vote in primaries without declaring a party preference.

Paper ballots could be marked with a check, as well as a cross or X mark.

Primaries would be held on either the third Tuesday in May, the fourth Tuesday in August, the second Tuesday in September, the second Tuesday in June, the third Saturday in April or the second Saturday in June. Currently, primaries are scheduled for the third Tuesday in March.

Each political party would be required to nominate at least two candidates for the Illinois General Assembly.

All voters in the state would be required to re-register prior to 1972 elections.

Straight party voting would be prohibited.

Polling places would be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., rather than from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Representatives of the news media would be allowed to observe ballot counting.

The maximum size of a precinct would be changed from 800 registered voters to 1,500 registered voters.

County Board Legislation Okayed

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has approved boards of health of Cook, DuPage, Lake, Winnebago, Madison, St. Clair and Will counties from eight to 12 members.

He also approved legislation amending the Illinois Vehicle, Election and Park District codes and signed House Bill 795 which releases right of way easement held by the state to land in Rock Island County owned by the Metropolitan Airport Authority.

HB 367 provides that single county boards of health in counties of 200,000 or more are to be increased from eight members to 12. The four additional members would be appointed the next anniversary of the present appointments, two for three year terms, one for two years, and one for one year.

House and Senate bills affecting the Illinois Vehicle Code are.

HB 36 revises the code's language by substituting "an urban area" in place of reference to corporate limits of city, village or incorporated town.

HB 38 repeals an act requiring bulletproof shields in Chicago taxicabs and incorporates the provisions of that act in the Illinois Vehicle Code.

HB 39 amends the code's section concerning conditions under which a law court must forward a drivers license and reports to the secretary of state so that the section conforms to references in Chapter 12, Effective Jan. 1, 1972.

SB 47 DELAYS until July 1, 1972, the transfer of the administration of the Illinois Safety Responsibility Act from the Department of Public Works and Buildings to the secretary of state.

SB 56 states Illinois policy concerning the authority of the secretary of state in entering into reciprocal agreements with other states in regard to vehicles. The amendment specifies the use of vehicles interstate. The deletion in this bill of "nonresident owned" in reference to vehicles being operated in intrastate commerce in Illinois expands the compliance with registration and licensing laws of Illinois to include residents.

SB 57 allows the secretary of state to register vehicles eligible for multi-year registration for only a one-year period in order to allow more orderly registration.

Social Security and You

Q — WHEN I WENT to my doctor's office the other day there was a sign referring to Medicare number and Medicaid numbers. I thought these were the same thing. Am I mistaken?

A — Medicare comes under the Social Security Program and is administered through the Social Security offices. Medicaid is a medical assistance program administered by the state through welfare offices. They are not the same program.

Q — I NEED A Social Security card. Do I have to go to the 4415 N. Milwaukee Ave. office to get one? I live in Des Plaines.

A — No, you need not come in. Write or call and an application for a number will be mailed you.

Q — I CAN'T go into the Social Security office. I had many doctor bills in 1970 and need help in completing the forms for Medicare. How can I get this help?

A — If you call the Social Security office, the forms can be completed over the phone. Have your Medicare card handy. The form will be mailed to you to sign and forward to Medicare.

Q — I HAVE A Television Repair Shop. I report self-employment income on myself. My wife does the bookkeeping for me. Should I report her as an employee?

A — No. The Social Security law does not permit a wife to be reported as an employee of her husband.

NCU Files Suit Against National Tea

A lawsuit was filed yesterday in Chicago by the National Consumers' Union (NCU) against National Tea Company, asking that the firm be compelled to show NCU its books, bylaws, minutes of meetings and stockholder lists.

The suit was also filed in the names of Jan Schakowsky and Lynne Heidt, directors of NCU and National Tea shareholders.

NCU contends that the state law entitles shareholders to inspect a company's books and records of account, minutes of shareholder and board of director meetings and stockholder lists.

NCU has tried unsuccessfully, through letters and phone calls starting April 1, to get permission to examine National Tea's books and records.

NCU wants to see the records to help it pursue the adoption of proposals the two shareholders want to present at National's annual meeting on June 22.

The proposals the NCU shareholders will present

—TO HAVE included in the 1971 proxy statement or disclosed at the annual meeting specific facts and figures detailing the firm's progress in minority hiring and promotion including opportunities for women; progress in implementing consumer services such as open dating and unit pricing; progress in community projects and community relations.

—To have included in the 1971 proxy statement a proposal to form a consumer advisory committee made up of company, union and community representatives. Such a committee was promised at last year's annual meeting.

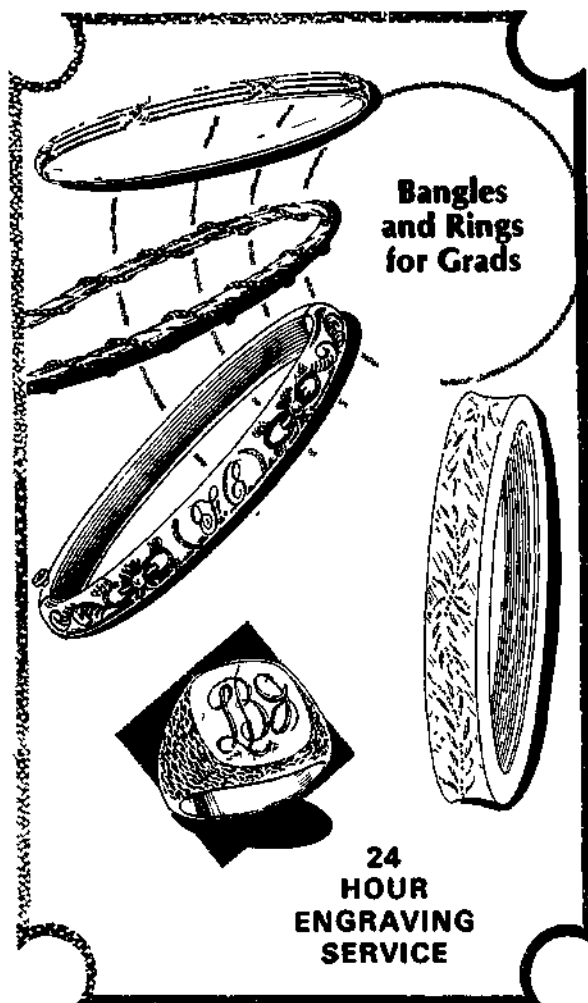

—To have National Tea's bylaws amended to allow public interest and consumer proposals and non-management nominees for directors to appear on the proxy statements of future meetings.

NCU will also nominate three people to the board of directors. They are Kermit Coleman, a Chicago attorney, Linda Rocky, Seattle, former Chicago reporter, and Robert Townsend, Long Island, New York, author of the book, "Up the Organization."

National Tea omitted NCU's proposals and director nominees from its proxy statement. The NCU has asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to require the company to include them.

A spokesman in National Tea's legal department said yesterday the company hasn't been served with the suit, "and we have no comment."

Tonight Is Bus Boy's Night Out

by JERRY THOMAS

"You are cordially invited to attend the Employer-Employee Banquet," say the engraved invitations to tonight's dinner planned by students in the cooperative vocational education program at Conant High School in Hoffman Estates.

In small letters in the left hand corner the invitation says "R.S.V.P.," for one student, Bob Stampf, of Schaumburg, the French "responde, silvous plait" is the most important part of the invitation. Stampf needs to know exactly how many bosses and workers will attend this annual occasion that brings together the students and their employees.

Why? Because it's his job to set the table for dinner.

Stampf works in the Brandywine Restaurant where this year's dinner for over 200 is being held.

His job is just one of many that students do. Conant have found themselves working at as part of their training for various types of employment.

"I'm a bus boy at Brandywine," said Stampf when asked what he does. Stampf will be a guest tonight but as the Elk Grove Restaurant prepares for the banquet he is one of the workers.

It is Stampf's responsibility to place 200 table-settings, arrange the speakers table and podium if needed and see to it that microphones and any additional equipment necessary is working and in place.

Sue Martino banquet manager for Brandywine said Stampf has worked with her for about a month and shows a real interest in his job.

"Bus boys don't just fill a water glass, you know," she said.

All the preparations for a sit-down dinner for 200 are his responsibility. He begins with an empty room and sets up tables and chairs; linens, silverware and dishes must all be in place and spotless

"Thursday night Bob and I can relax and be guests but if he were working the banquet room it would be his responsibility to stay with the party, satisfying every need and request until the dinner is over.

"He's not done then, that's when he'd clear and clean the room for the next banquet," said Miss Martino.

Christopher Ferro, distributive education coordinator at Conant High School said the dinner is the school's and student's way of thanking employers in the community who have contributed by supporting the school's vocational program. Students like Bob, interested in the food and restaurant business, get a rare opportunity to learn the business, by actual work, said Ferro.

In addition to classroom training there is no better way to learn than by work, staff members believe.

Stampf agrees, "I like to work with people, and am interested in the management level of this type of business. I've learned a lot here."

"I hope to someday manage a large motel," he added.

"It is important to know every phase of any service operation and I know today that bus boys do a lot more than I thought they did. Every job in a service establishment contributes to the general picture," Stampf said.

During the banquet outstanding students will be honored for their accomplishments this past year.

"Maybe I won't get an honor award but I have been getting paid while I've been learning my job and that's a pretty satisfying feeling," said Stampf.

"It will be different sitting down with my boss Miss Martino and watching another bus boy take over Thursday," said Stampf. Miss Martino reports she too is looking forward "to just watching someone else take over."

NSSEO Here For The Aid Of Children

by WANDALYN RICE

Some children always seem to have more trouble than others.

They may be unruly and unable to get along with other children, unable to share or take turns, unable to accept any kind of organized group.

Or they may be the quietest in the class — more than shy, withdrawn and always left out.

The problems may go unnoticed at first, because every child seems at times to be unable to get along with anyone, or seems shy.

But, for a certain number of children, the adjustment to social situations is more difficult, either because of chemical imbalances that make a child over-active or because of the way a child reacts to emotional and social stress.

If a child with behavior disturbances lives in one of the eight Northwest Suburban elementary school districts, he may be referred to a special program for help.

WHEN A CHILD with a severe behavior problem is referred, the staff of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) and the staff of the school referring the child decide what kind of help can do the most good, Sonja Clary, coordinator for NSSEO, explained. For some children, a few hours a week with a psychologist from NSSEO may be the answer, but other need an environment outside of regular school where they can get special attention, she said.

For those children NSSEO has special classes where they can overcome their behavior problems and then eventually return to their school.

This year four such classes with a total of 30 children are run by NSSEO and housed in the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Next year, the program will be housed in Dwyer School in Arlington Heights, provided rental of the building from Arlington Heights Dist 25 is approved by the ten-district cooperative.

Dwyer School is an eight-classroom building on a common lot with Westgate School. Dist. 25 arranged to rent the building to NSSEO as part of a series of budget cuts following the defeat in March of a tax rate referendum.

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT about Dwyer, Mrs. Clary said, districts have been calling NSSEO with even increasing numbers of children who may fit in the program.

Next year, the program in Dwyer will have six to eight classes, she said. By law, there can be no more than eight students in the class for each teacher and teacher's aide.

Children in the program were originally grouped by age this year, but as the teachers got to know the students, they were grouped by behavior, explained Caroline Stone, one of the teachers, so that "we can provide the best possible learning situation for each child."

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Stone said, she did not try to teach academics very much, but instead worked on getting the children used to functioning in a group.

"At the beginning of the year they were constantly demanding the attention of myself and the aide," she said, "but now they are much better."

AT FIRST, Mrs. Stone concentrated on games and other group activities and then gradually worked into academic subjects.

All the children are of normal or higher intelligence, but they often lag behind academically, she said. In her class there are now children who are working on reading readiness and others who are reading up to the sixth grade level.

In addition, the children have gone on field trips, and taken part in activities like ice-skating and bowling and "anything we can think of that will be a social activity and give them some confidence," Mrs. Stone said.

Each child in the program works with a psychologist as often as necessary, usually several times a week, and members of the child's family also become involved, Mrs. Clary said.

"One of the most important factors in dealing with the children is working with the parents. We need to deal with the total day for the child, not just the time he is in school," she said.

The parents can thus be helped in their relationship with the child and can alert the teachers to behavior that crops up at home, she explained.

THE CHILDREN are gradually put back into regular school situations on a part-time basis as they improve, Mrs. Clary said, and the goal is to return each child to regular classes in about two years.

"If we made the right decision in putting them in the program, we feel we ought to be able to have made progress in two years," she said.

This year is the second for the program and some children are being integrated into regular classes, she said. If, after two years, a child is not ready to return to regular classes, "We have to decide whether we feel he has improved," she said.

Children may be sent back to regular classes part time and remain in the program, she added.

Hasty Wind Up In Legislature

It's now or never for the Illinois General Assembly.

When the legislators reconvene next week after a Memorial Day recess, they will enter the final month of a six-month session that was heralded as potentially the most significant and most meaningful legislative session in the state's history.

A new Constitution was waiting in the wings, with thousands of legislative actions needed to implement it before July 1.

The state's 24 congressional and 59 legislative districts were waiting to be redrawn to conform to latest population figures.

Problems of mass transportation, spiralling education costs, welfare reform, environmental protection, election reform, health care and a multitude of others were staring the legislators in the face when they convened on January 6.

To add to the difficulty, the legislature had one of its closest political blanches in years, with Republicans controlling the House of Representatives and Democrats enjoying rare control of the Senate.

The legislators recognized the monumental task that was facing them and to prepare for it, they voted themselves a sizable pay increase in the dying minutes of the 76th General Assembly, only a half-hour before the new session began.

So now after five months of work on an almost full-time basis, the legislators face a final month with a pace so hectic that meaningful legislation is likely to be overlooked and the familiar routine of stopping the clocks on the night of June 30 to take final action on hundreds of bills will be repeated.

Already, it is fairly certain that the legislature will have to return for a busy session in the fall to deal with much of the legislation that will not get out of committee or will be left hanging in the final crush.

It is particularly discouraging when good legislative proposals are shelved because the legislators don't have time to study them.

One such item is the proposal to consolidate election dates in the state, as suggested in a bill sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington. Last week, Sen. Graham said there was no way the proposal could get a proper hearing in the time remaining and, rather than risk defeat, he would hold it off until the fall.

Another indication of the legislature's failure to move quickly is seen in a comparison with the opening months of the 76th General Assembly.

By May 15, 1969, 99 bills had been passed in both houses and signed into law by the governor. By May 13 of this year, only 35 new laws had been signed. The fault rests with the legislature, not with the governor.

Prior to the June 30 deadline for the legislature in 1969, Governor Ogilvie had signed 236 bills into law. Following the adjournment, and prior to the special autumn session held that year, the governor signed an additional 1,700 bills, most of them passed during the final weeks of the session.

It is difficult to believe that these bills are given the consideration they deserve when they are put off until the final weeks of the session and must compete with so many others for attention.

Yet the same thing is going to happen this year.

The legislature has dawdled for five months with partisan politics, rather than statesmanship, guiding its course.

Most of the same problems that faced it in January are unresolved and the solutions that will be found between now and the end of June are likely to be hasty ones.

The odds in favor of a good final month are slim, but we will keep our fingers crossed. The taxpayers are paying each member of the General Assembly $17,500 this year and there should be some return on the investment, shouldn't there?

A Milestone For Harper College

The recent announcement of accreditation for Harper College calls for a tribute to many, many persons.

In fact, if you lump together the college's administrators, its board of trustees, its faculty, staff and students, you would have the beginning of a list of those responsible for the accreditation.

Accreditation, announced recently by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, means that Harper's academic credits will routinely transfer to any other accredited college or university in the United States.

To gain accreditation, the Palestine community college went through six years of outside scrutiny and self-study. The performance of the college "family" deserves an A for its achievement.

But the simple physical fact of accreditation isn't enough. To those acquainted with the college, it has a full range of college transfer and career courses, a faculty dedicated to teaching and an administration which has skillfully guided the college through six years of extensive growth.

For President Robert Lahti, there's little breathing room between accreditation and the future. The college is facing an exploding enrollment which will stretch facilities and taxpayer support to the limit.

Lahti can be especially proud of the college's accreditation, as Harper is one of the first community colleges created since 1965 to gain such rank.

For other men, accreditation might be the occasion to relax and reflect. But Lahti, and the men and women behind him, are intent on making a good institution much better.

Is That All There Is?

Nature And Women's Lib

by BRAD BREKKE

His name was Oscar and he died the other day next to a honey tree.

A prince of a guy, Oscar made one mistake in life. He took on Big Bertha, the stinger-wielding matron who did him in, sensuously.

The two made love only once in life. It was enough. So violent was the affair, Oscar dropped dead shortly after.

A playboy, Oscar never amounted to much. His sisters said he was a bum. And in a way, he was.

All day Oscar would buzz lazily in the sun, think out sex and be fed by beautiful women. He never had a job, but that was because he wasn't good at anything besides making love.

At least that's what he said.

This isn't a chapter out of some dirty book. Oscar, you see, is a honeybee. Since the beginning of time he has been oppressed by females.

Suburban Scene

Females such as those in today's Women's Lib movement.

And this is his sad, sad story:

Oscar's lover and executioner, Big Bertha, is a queen bee, a tigress, an enchanting hater of men. Men in the world of the honeybee are looked down on, exploited and inevitably come to a cruel but just end.

Starvation. Castration. And death.

It's a terrible price... even for a "male chauvinist pig" like Oscar, who was driven by his passions and in the end, devoured by his own inadequacy.

But life is different for Big Bertha. She is not only loved by men, but surrounded by female emulches who adore her, protect her, caress her, feed her, bestow gifts on her, clean her and wait over her when she dies.

Women's Lib actually began hundreds of years ago, as part of nature's balance. The only trouble is, in bees, it is natural. In modern society, it is not.

But getting back to the bees...

A queen bee is fertilized by a male bee or drone only once in life. Afterward, she may lay fertile eggs for the rest of her life, usually 4-5 years. And in her prime, she'll lay up to 3,000 eggs a day.

Bertha the bee is an insect not more than half an inch long who lives in a hive and is surrounded by 50,000 undeveloped females, called workers. They might be compared to England's Twiggy, although they are not as fashionable or high paid. They are much smaller than Bertha and unlike her, cannot lay eggs.

Nature planned it that way.

But what is surprising is that Bertha can determine the sex of an egg at will, when she is laying it.

And what's more, the workers can change the sex of an egg after it's been laid.

During the mating season, dozens of males fly with Bertha high in the sky. They are the hive's jet set and Bertha is their beautiful queen.

Those who pass at her and fail don't live to try another day. Oh no... they have only a few weeks left before they too will die, only much more slowly. For all the queen's men, there is a painfully cruel death. Even here, love has its price.

Drones, you see, can't gather nectar. The workers of a hive must feed them. But when winter comes, when they are no longer needed, the girls find it quite easy to starve them to death. Unless they freeze first, that is.

Honeybees can sting only once. Only females have stingers. Their stingers have barbs in them which remain in your flesh. When they use it, their stinger and poison sac is ripped from their body, much like the male's sex organ during mating, leaving a gaping hole.

Then they crawl around, suffer much, like a cowboy with six slugs in his gut and finally die.

Queen bees have stingers too, but unlike the workers, they reserve theirs for use on another queen, whom they kill with it.

Bee experts say honeybees won't sting unless provoked. They tend to prefer suffering than committing suicide to punish you.

But bees or broads, when they've suffered long enough, watch out. "Hell has no fury like a woman scorned," a poet once wrote. Amen.

Nothing's more terrifying than an angry woman... or bee.

Male bees are tolerated only during spring and summer for mating reasons. In honeybee life, the only thing fella like Oscar live for is sex. And ironically, they pay by being put to death the first time they touch a female.

Now what kind of life is that?

Bertha the queen, however, doesn't have it all that easy either. If she doesn't reproduce enough eggs, the workers will sting her to death and create a new queen. It's all very democratic. It's one of the powers "the people" have.

A young queen loses her virginity early in life. When she is 10 days old, she flies high and gives off an odor which attracts the boys. It works much like Chanel No. 5. And then she goes on to complete her life cycle.

From birth to death, the story of the honeybee is a tragic story for males.

Can you imagine a world in which everyone is asexual and countries are run by giant, hairy queens whose sole function in life is to reproduce? And men are starved and castrated annually?

I can't.

But then this is just a story about honeybees... isn't it?

Problems Beset Parks

by DON OAKLEY

Problems of too many people, inadequate facilities, pollution and rising crime are certainly nothing new.

They have been the story of our continuing urban crisis for a good many years now.

What is both new and disturbing is that these problems have been cropping up more recently far from the crowded cities, in the very areas that originally were designed as refuges from the urban jungle—the national parks.

The year-by-year increases in visitor totals, which once would have been welcome as a measure of success, are now studied with concern. In some of the more popular areas, those more accessible to metropolitan centers such as the Great Smokies, traffic can be almost bumper to bumper at high season. Suggestions that traffic lights may eventually be necessary are not taken entirely as a joke.

At Yellowstone, the No Vacancy sign is often up for campers and it can sometimes be difficult to see the geysers for the people.

A recent review of the problem in the New York Times noted statistically that while total park area increased somewhat in the decade 1960-70, from more than 26 million acres to about 30 million, the visitor increase jumped 150 per cent, from more than 72 million to almost 180 million.

And where there are many people, there is usually litter; damage to natural surroundings — sometimes intentional and sometimes not — and, unfortunately, crime. Arrests in the parks for serious offenses, including murder, jumped from 90 to 374 in the 18 years.

With 1971 shaping up as another record year for park visitors, we would appear to be facing a dilemma. The parks were created for the enjoyment of the people, but saving them from destruction might seem to necessitate restricting access to the people.

Less extreme solutions are, of course, being sought, such as increasing accommodations and other facilities within the parks and in their immediate vicinities and also increasing the number of parks, state and federal. President Nixon is taking an active personal interest in his program to turn no-longer-utilized government facilities into new parks and recreation areas.

And the individual park visitor can, of course, do a great deal himself by demonstrating in his personal conduct the respect for the environment that presumably attracted him to the area.

We have long had a good thing going for us in the national park system. We do not want to ruin it now.

Anti-Speeder Action Asked

Recently an article appeared in this column concerning my telephone conversation with a reporter on this newspaper.

I was asked by the reporter if I was in favor of Rolling Meadows Police joining the C.C.P.A. and I answered by saying that I thought they (R.M. police) should first strive to do a better job in dealing with the excessive speeding problem in Rolling Meadows.

A reply came a few days later by an article, also in this column, by the Rolling Meadows Police. They challenged this newspaper and myself to check and we would find that there are more than twice the speeding tickets given out this year than for the same period last year.

I did not intend carrying this any further until a few minutes ago, when coming out of our shopping center on Kirchoff Road I could not help but see and hear a car screech out of the Rolling Meadows Bowl and go speeding west on Kirchoff right past the police station.

In full and deep respect for our police and our fine city, I challenge the police department to patrol Rohlwing Road between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. and watch the speeders harass those who are trying to obey the speed laws.

Likewise, I challenge the same for Kirchoff Road at the same time period.

In this same period, I challenge the police to deny, if they can, that there are no cars going east and west on Euclid at Rohlwing that don't even stop at the stop sign or simply slow down and go through.

I furthermore challenge them to station a squad car and policeman in the private section of my driveway any night of the week that is convenient for them and count, along with me, the cars that are not speeding. There aren't many.

If something is not done, I am afraid we will have more mishaps such as happened on Central Road recently.

Do our police officials want to be responsible for small children killed or maimed by speeders, or will they take some action? I can guarantee they will have the fullest cooperation from me and from the numerous neighbors I have talked to about this situation.

Accolade To Herald

I would sincerely like to thank the Mount Prospect Herald and its Woman's Editor, Mrs. Marianne Scott, so very much for the excellent publicity which my club received these past three years.

I was the press and public relations chairman for the Mount Prospect Woman's Club, and it was my wish to see that the club received as much publicity as possible. Mrs. Scott was most fair with me; we had — and still have — an excellent relationship.

The Mount Prospect Woman's Club Antique Fair — January Luncheon and Card Party-Reciprocity Day-Membership Tea and Spring Luncheon need a lot of good publicity in order that the public know what our club is trying to accomplish. Also our Antique Fair — Luncheons, etc. depend on public participation in order that we may give out scholarships — help the Mount Prospect Library and help many other worthy philanthropies. Who can forget the beautiful layout Mrs. Scott gave us for our Reciprocity Day? She was my special guest that day, and our club benefited from the excellent publicity that was given to us.

Many, many thanks again to the Mount Prospect Herald and Marianne Scott and my most ardent wish is that the Herald and Mrs. Scott give to my successor the excellent co-operation which I received.

Praise For Teachers

As a parent of a Miner Junior High School sixth grader, I wish to publicly thank the teachers who worked so untiringly on the production of "Camelot."

Nothing can be said to praise them enough for their patience, guidance, co-operation and overall dedication to a group of young people. Their contribution to a truly good life experience for these youngsters is immeasurable.

Mrs. R. J. Pratt
Arlington Heights

Grateful For Support

As my term as president of the O'Hare Chapter of Clipped Wings is coming to an end, high on my list of thank you's is Padlock Publications for all the space you have given us, plus the great photos, plus your very helpful publicity school last fall.

Every article, notice of meetings, and (to us) great happening that we asked be printed was done so. And through your paper, we obtained new members for our chapter.

Business Today

by RUDY CERNKOVIC

UPI Business Writer

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Webster defines retirement as "withdrawal . . . seclusion . . . privacy." Allard A. Sutton prefers "open end vacation."

Sutton, as head of the Aluminum Company of America's benefit communications department, is concerned with preparing Alcoa's employees for the day they stop working. Part of this "getting ready" program is a class on the problems involved which he calls "Planning For Your Open End Vacation." It's a subject dear to the heart of any mid-decade employee but one which few companies tackle so openly.

"We want to prepare our senior employees for retirement as gracefully as possible," explained Sutton. "We want them to find something to do, preferably creative. We want them to take part in community projects, to be useful members of the community after their nine-to-five days are past."

SUTTON TRIES TO select mixed groups for the course which runs five consecutive weeks with each session lasting from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on company time.

"When we first began the program we had only three of four responses to our invitations," said Sutton. "Now we have about 90 per cent response. Those attending bring their spouses."

Sutton's agenda begins with an hour of explanation about pensions and insurance. In the second hour, a doctor from the company talks about physical health and also stresses the proper mental outlook.

"The adjustment must be realized," said Sutton. "They are working and then suddenly they find themselves without a routine."

The question most frequently asked the doctor concerns the status of medical advances. How is cancer research progressing? What new methods are used in treating heart patients?

The medical lectures also stress preventive medicine and advises the prospective retirees to have regular check-ups.

AT THE SECOND meeting, a local Social Security office representative explains pension payments and Medicare. He is followed by Alcoa's insurance expert who tells how insurance is linked with Medicare. He also details payment of social security benefits.

The third meeting involves an explanation of Alcoa's retirement plan and a savings plan.

A trust officer from Mellon Bank attends the fourth meeting and discusses anticipated income and ways to spread savings. A legal expert then talks about estate planning and advises retirees who plan to move about disposing of their homes. He also is consulted about buying a home in new locations.

"At the fifth meeting we have no speakers," said Sutton. "We discuss ways and means of filling those empty hours when we don't have to go to work anymore."

Sola Basic Tells Earnings Per Share

Sola Basic Industries net earnings per share for the fiscal year ended March 31 increased 3 per cent on sales which were down more than 5 per cent from last year.

Net earnings for the year were $3,670,209 or $1.13 per share on sales of $97,153,185. Corresponding figures a year earlier were net earnings of $3,616,845 or $1.10 per share on shipments of $102,631,521 when adjusted for an acquisition treated as a pooling of interests. Prior to adjustment fiscal 1970 earnings were $3,458,763 on sales of $99,396,280.

Commenting on the results, Sola Basic president Frank H. Roby indicated that "the company's earnings performance for the year is considered quite satisfactory in the light of the general slowdown in national economy which became very sharp during the last half. Severity of the business downturn was anticipated well in advance, and significant reductions in both employment and inventories were made early to bring them into line with reduced business activity. Capital expenditures for plant construction and new production equipment continued at relatively high levels as a company-wide facilities modernization program neared completion."

Pointing to market diversification as a factor of equal importance in Sola Basic's good performance, Mr. Roby added that "electrical construction equipment and communications equipment both remained strong while some weakness was encountered in electrical power equipment and international markets, and a severe slowdown was experienced in both electronic equipment and electrical processing equipment. Although Sola Basic business has not yet reflected any significant improvement in general business climate, it is reasonable to expect a modest upturn in the near future."

"On the other hand," Mr. Roby continued, "per capita usage of electrical power for residential, commercial, and industrial applications has continued its dramatic climb. As a major producer of equipment for the distribution, control and use of electrical power, Sola Basic is in excellent position to gain from exciting growth and new market opportunities in this area."

During fiscal 1971 Sola Basic continued its program of patterned growth with the acquisition of four new domestic divisions, one major product line, and two international companies — Bishop Electric in electrical construction equipment, Dowzer Electric in electric power equipment, G-V Controls in electronic and communications equipment, and Tempress in electrical processing equipment. The Strobe Guidance product line was added to the Dielectric Communications Division, and both El-E-Q Sola Basic (Puerto Rico) and Spring Sola Basic (Spain) joined SBI's rapidly expanding group of overseas facilities.

Headquartered in Milwaukee, Sola Basic now has 19 domestic and 12 international plants. All are engaged in the production of electrical and electronic equipment for the distribution, control and use of electrical power. Sola has a facility in Elk Grove Village.

Named Advertising Consultant

Wayne F. Christensen has been named Advertising Consultant for Paddock Publications TV Time Magazine. Announcement of the newly created position was made by Ted W. Small, vice president of sales and marketing for the Paddock Corporation, publishers of 33 daily and weekly newspapers serving 80 communities in the Northwest Chicago suburbs, Lake, DuPage and Will Counties. Christensen will be working with all divisions of the Paddock Corporation to effect coordination between the newspapers, advertisers and the printers of TV Time.

An Arlington Heights businessman for six years before joining the Paddock staff, Christensen is a native of the area and a graduate of Palatine High School. He also has attended Harper College.

Christensen, his wife, Phyllis and three daughters live in Elk Grove Village.

Ask The IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) When will I receive my refund check?

A) It normally takes 5-6 weeks, but it may take longer if you mailed your return near the April 15 deadline. Delays will also occur if the return is incomplete or inaccurate.

If you have not received your refund or a letter explaining the reason for the delay within 10 weeks after mailing your return, contact your local IRS office or write the IRS office where you filed your return. Give all details including your social security number, current address, and the approximate date the return was filed.

Q) My daughter received a $250 award because she was the best student in her graduating class. Is this award taxable?

A) Prizes are not taxable if they are awarded in recognition of past accomplishments in religious, charitable, scientific, artistic, educational, literary, or civic fields. In addition, the recipient must have been selected without action on his part and must not be expected to render any further services.

The prize would be taxable if your daughter had to perform a specific act such as writing an essay or doing a project rather than on the basis of her overall educational record.

Northwestern Mutual Life Name Changes

The name of Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co., parent company of the Unigard Insurance Group, has been changed to Unigard Mutual Insurance Co.

The move completes a corporate identity program begun in 1968 by the Seattle-based insurer, which has been known as "Northwestern Mutual" since 1901.

"We introduced the descriptive name Unigard to provide positive identification of our group of companies and suggest a wide range of insurance coverages," said Frederick J. Orth, board chairman. "It has proven its value in both respects and we are now ready for the final step, changing the name of the parent company."

The Unigard Group is composed of five companies writing commercial and personal lines of property/casualty insurance, in addition to life, health and workmen's compensation. Unigard's midwestern division office is located at 1200 North Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights.

APPLE RIVER COUNTRY IS FOR YOU!

If you're thinking of a place to get away from 'till, invest wisely in Branigan's private Apple Canyon Lake. This natural wonderland is a haven of unspoiled beauty . . . so different from the plains look, with its rolling, wooded hills, tenebrous valleys, and clean, pure air. The Indians called it "Manitauim," home of the Great Spirit. You'll call it the perfect place for your family's outdoor recreation fun. Here you're close to historic old Galena, the town that time forgot—and Chestnut Mountain, a winter-playground for you and your family, is only minutes away.

A BIG, PRIVATE LAKE AND CLUB

When you invest in recreation land for your family, be sure you get all the enjoyment you can buy. That's why smart buyers come to Braniger. Look at all you get at private Apple Canyon Lake:

A bigger lake for swimming and boating—over 400 acres of water, up to 70 feet deep
A longer lake for water skiing—3 miles long
More shoreline for fishing—15 miles of it, with deep bays and coves
More room to roam for hiking, riding—plenty of open "Greenway" areas
A BIG, PRIVATE CLUB—clubhouse, huge swimming pool, tennis courts, golf course. Exclusive for property owners of Apple Canyon Lake!

JAZZY RED AND BLACK bridesmaid's bouquet was chosen tops in its category on the basis of color, originality, design. Camera does not do justice to the ruby red glad popped, white German statice and black eucalyptus. Glad poppies, like galmelias, are gladioli reworked to resemble another flower. Bachelor buttons sprayed black were used to form the centers. Foliage was also sprayed black.

Bridal Bouquets

The Prettiest Ever

by MARY B. GOOD

Bridal bouquets aren't what they used to be. They're even better.

They're alive, dramatic, sometimes offbeat and boldly colorful creations.

That was the consensus of judges who viewed an arrangement competition at the Allied Florist Association annual meeting.

It was a wild, mad, gay, exciting convention at the Sherman House in Chicago recently and an evening filled with innovative ideas for special events.

Florists from all over Chicagoland competed for the honor of best bouquet. Area contestants included Busse Flowers, Mount Prospect; Arling's Flowerland, Rolling Meadows; and Berthold Nursery, Elk Grove Village.

ONE WINNER which could easily be adapted to other uses besides wedding — garden club flower shows, coffee table arrangements, for example — was one of glad poppies with sprayed eucalyptus and German statice. Glad poppies are gladioli pulled apart and rewired petal by petal in a poppy shape. The center is studded with a sprayed bachelor button. This magnificent creation featured a color combination of ruby red and stark black.

Mrs. Irene Haberkamp of Mount Prospect, owner of Haberkamp's Flowers, commented that the trend in flowers this year is casual and informal, just like the trend in fashion and suburban living.

Top winners in the bride's bouquet category reinforced Mrs. Haberkamp's feelings. Both were clean, uncluttered designs without a hint of frou-frou.

The selections were made on the basis of design, color, texture, choice of plant materials, condition and workmanship.

GONE IS THE pomp and circumstance of stilted designs in standard Hogarth curves and formal topiary sculpture. Bird of paradise as a plant material has flown out of fashion. "In" are Flemish and colonial bouquets of garden flowers. There were tulips, Dutch iris, baby's breath, statice, daisies on display in bridesmaids' bouquets.

The bride herself is likely to choose Amazon lilies and stephanotis or cymbidium orchids — long-time standbys — but the trend is to use fewer of them. This creates a less pretentious effect, that is softened by ivy foliage or baby's breath in a free-flowing design, alive and contemporary.

A demonstration of mod wedding bouquets featured Clark Herman of Park Ridge, whipping up such exotic creations as Mexican bird feathers and eucalyptus petals that looked like wood and a bouquet of everything from the garden. Another offbeat Clark creation was a flower basket with a self-contained lighting unit that could easily serve as a banquet table centerpiece or home conversation piece.

Judges for the competition were Mary-lin Stitz, Chicago Today staffer; Bill Kistler, American Floral Art School; and Mary B. Good, Paddock Publications garden editor.

A ROUND POUF of color describes this perky bridesmaid's bouquet, done in contrasting shades of blue and green. Majestic daisies and bachelor buttons were the plant materials used.

Mrs. Burke Heads Jewish Women

New officers of the Northwest Suburban Unit of the National Council of Jewish Women were recently elected. Mrs. Barry Burke of Buffalo Grove will head the unit activities for the coming year.

Also taking office were Mrs. Richard Heinrich, Buffalo Grove, vice president; Mrs. Barry Cain, Buffalo Grove, treasurer; Mrs. Barbara Ferguson, Wheeling, recording secretary; and Mrs. Henry Wegler, Arlington Heights, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Wayne Koch, Arlington Heights, social; Mrs. William Flapan, Arlington Heights, publicity; Mrs. Peter Sandler, Buffalo Grove, ways and means; Mrs. David Samsky, Buffalo Grove, education; and Mrs. Fred Marcus, Arlington Heights, community services.

Early Deadline

Because of the Memorial Day holiday, Paddock Publications will be closed Monday, May 31, and no paper will be published that day.

Deadline for submitting news for the Tuesday, June 1, edition of Suburban Living is 10 a.m. Thursday, May 27, and the deadline for the Wednesday, June 2, edition is 10 a.m. Friday, May 28.

Individuals and organizations wishing to submit news for these editions are asked to observe the early deadlines.

Brides To Walk Down Memory Lane

About the only thing in common among wedding gown fashions during the past 70 years is that they are usually white in color, or in varying shades of white.

The styles run the gamut from Victorian to the new look of the peasant bride. The fabrics range from heavy silks and satins to organza and peau de soie, and lately to richly textured cottons that stay fresh and crisp through the years.

A parade of bridal gowns dating from 1800 to the present will be modeled tonight for the Lutheran Church Women of Our Saviour's Church in Arlington Heights. The gowns have been handed down from grandmothers, aunts and mothers, carefully packed away by faithful descendants, and will now be donned by the women of the church for another shining hour.

The fashion review follows the church women's salad supper at the church.

THE OLDEST GOWN in the show is a 74-year-old olive green taffeta with beige lace trim, reflecting the austerity of those days when the young bride had to wear the gown again and again for all social functions. It will be modeled by Karen Banker of Rolling Meadows and is her great-great-grandmother's bridal attire of Dec. 14, 1898.

Others in the procession down memory lane will be from the 1900s, concluding with a bride of last year, Anita Neuner, who is now Mrs. Walter Bednarz of Des Plaines. She will be preceded down the aisle by a bridesmaid and flower girl from her wedding.

Mrs. Russell Westby is in charge of arrangements for the show.

IT'S A WINNER! Judges picked this Amazon lily and eucalyptus bouquet as best wedding bouquet in one category. The look is graceful and contemporary.

JUNE BRIDE MAY FAVOR an elegant yet simple bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath. Trailers can be used as honeymoon corsages.

A Big, Blooming Success

A mother and daughter team and the club president took the top artistic awards in last weekend's Plum Grove Garden Club flower show. The setting was Marion Jordan School in Palatine.

Mrs. Thomas Ormerod, club member, won the creativity award for her arrangement of yellow Dutch iris, snake plant and coiled copper tubing. Her daughter, Sandy, received the junior achievement award for "There's a Fungus Amongus" entry, a dried fungus set against a background of golden dried grasses.

The tri-color award went to president Mrs. Harry Eickenberg, who competed in the category, "If You Hang a May Basket On My Door." Hers was a table arrangement done in shades of gold, green, yellow and smoky grey.

Mrs. Paul Mandabach of Barrington swept the horticultural competition, winning the sweepstakes award for the greatest number of blue ribbons and three awards of merit — for a Bechtel crab, a French lilac and asparagus.

Mrs. Jack Perkins, a club member, displayed an educational exhibit on how to make a terrarium. Sixteen-year-old Patty Ormerod and 17-year-old Laurice Heimlich won first place in their age categories for pollution posters in the conservation department.

Club members Mrs. George Orbin, Mrs. Otto Becker, Mrs. Don Arntzen, Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Ormerod and Mrs. Eickenberg won blue ribbons in the artistic arrangement category.

IN AN INTER-CLUB competition the Arlington Heights Garden Club exhibit, created by Mrs. Charles Moser and Mrs. N. B. Manos, won first place.

The junior artistic arrangements were won by Pam Orbin and Sandy Ormerod.

An award of appreciation was given to the Avant Garde, a study group of 13 nationally-accredited amateur flower show judges. Two of the arrangements in this group included an exhibit arrangement of driftwood, evergreen, geraniums and red wood chips by Mrs. Joseph Koenen, Arlington Heights Garden Club, and Mrs. Jerome Thelander, Garden Club of Mount Prospect. Mrs. Harry Eickenberg created a display with bamboo, driftwood, palm spade and the fruit of the pandanus monstera.

THE CENTER of the show floor featured a gazebo covered with a daisy print and shocking pink cover. Sixty-year-old ice cream parlour chairs were set around a table covered in matching fabric. A hanging basket in shocking pink was filled with spring flowers.

The show was staged by Mrs. Ormerod; Mrs. Pease wrote the schedule; Mrs. Orbin was chairman.

PRECEDING TRADITIONS of the 1900s, the bridal gown modeled by Karen Banker of Rolling Meadows is in olive green with beige lace trim. It was worn by Karen's great-great-grandmother in 1898 and she weighed just 83 pounds! This is the oldest gown to appear in tonight's bridal parade for the Lutheran Church Women of Our Saviour's Church, Arlington Heights.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Just read of the difficulty a reader was having getting off masking tape which had been on for some time. I don't know whether what I've done in such a situation will work but it's certainly worth a try. Some decals were baked on a window by the sun and we had no luck budging them until we dabbed on some salad dressing. After a little while, we were able to peel off the adhesive easily. I was able to do the same thing with some stickers on the car bumper. The same "treatment," also worked with adhesive stuck to some lovely glassware we have. —Mrs. Leroy Klueter.

Dear Dorothy: I've enjoyed many a tip in your column but none as much as the one on how to keep eggs from cracking — especially as I scoffed at it as I read it. It still amazes me when I pierce the large end of the egg with a needle and know that the egg will not crack when it is boiled. —Lucile D.

Have to confess I get the same feeling when I do this trick.

Dear Dorothy: The cast iron burners on my stove are pretty greasy. Is there any quick way to clean them? —Helen Y.

Put them in a pan of water to which you have added about six tablespoons of concentrated sal soda and let them simmer over a burner for about 15 minutes. The grease will slip right off. Be sure not to use an aluminum pan.

Dear Dorothy: Your reply to J. G. who asked you how to marble a steak surprised me as you didn't answer her at all. To marble a steak, cut off any fat that is on the outside and, making tiny strips of the pieces, insert them into tiny slits cut in the steak. This makes the steak marbled. If there is not enough fat, you can use some fat from bacon. It doesn't change the steak taste. You can also do this with a roast. This is usually called larding a roast or steak, but it really marbles it. Hope you pass this on to J. G. as she may not be able to pay the high cost of a marbled steak. As you know, they are higher in price. Thank you for listening. —L. S.

The way you started, I thought we disagreed totally on what a marbled steak is. We don't on that, but we are at opposite poles on your ersatz method. I simply do not believe that any amount of this laborious treatment will give you a taste to match a well-marbled cut.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280 Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Festival Of Shavout Sunday

The festival of Shavout (Pentecost) takes place Sunday for area Jews. The holiday celebrates the receiving of the Torah at Mt. Sinai and the harvesting of the first fruits of Spring in Israel.

The day has been set for the confirmation of young people at Beth Tikvah Congregation, 275 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates. Seventeen young members of the congregation will be confirmed at special services beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The confirmands are: Elyce Azriel, Martin Buble, Michael Cohen, Steven Cohen, Lynda Esrig, Robert Furem, Louis Grossman, Michael Mattenson, Scott Meyer, and Susan Oliff.

Others are Shelley Pazzoli, Stuart Pevsner, Jeffrey Vickman, Lori Wayne, Larry Weiner, Sherry Zifra and Lori Zirlin.

Beth Tikvah has also announced its newly installed officers. They are: David Roth, president; Joseph Splansky, 1st vice president; Milton Damlich, 2nd vice president; Robert Lyon, 3rd vice president; and Jerome Halperin, recording secretary.

Other new officers are Mrs. Ronald Simon, corresponding secretary; Saul Cohen, treasurer; Joel Ruben, financial secretary and Barry Norian, assistant financial secretary.

How About Ping Pong Match In White House?

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What with Rep. Wilbur Mills scuttling the President's revenue-sharing plan and Sen. Mike Mansfield pressing for troop cutbacks in Europe, relations between the White House and Congress are becoming increasingly strained.

Any day now you may pick up your newspaper and find the following dispatch:

WASHINGTON — President Nixon announced today that he had invited a congressional ping pong team to visit the White House next week.

News of the visit, which will be the first direct contact between Congress and the White House in more than a year, was received with mixed reaction in the capitol.

A State Department spokesman called it "a welcome development in the administration's continuing policy of exploring new ways to improve relations with Capitol Hill."

HOWEVER, HOUSE and Senate leaders cautioned against attaching too much significance to the invitation, saying it was unlikely to bring about any immediate change on the issue of recognizing the President's legislative program.

There also was some opposition to the President's action, notably from Vice President Agnew and Martha Mitchell.

"I'm against any move toward closer liaison with Congress as long as its leadership persists in waging a deliberate campaign of obstruction, mutilation and substitution against administration measures," Agnew said.

Mrs. Mitchell was even more outspoken.

"I don't think the White House should have anything to do with Fulbright and that crowd," she said. "Just wait till John goes to bed tonight and I get on the telephone. Believe me somebody is going to get an earful about this."

ALTHOUGH detailed arrangements have not been worked out, the congressional ping pong team is expected to spend several days touring the Executive Mansion and playing exhibition matches with the White House table tennis team.

Members of the congressional team, some of whom have been trying for months to gain admittance to the White House, expressed hope that the invitation presaged a new "open door" policy.

The Doctor Says

Fear, Excessive Drinking May Inhibit Sex Drive

by LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — My husband and I have been married for almost two years. He doesn't drink and has good habits. He is healthy and 24 years old. He never was a person who enjoyed sex but our relations were fair. Then the frequency gradually decreased until now he has no desire at all. We enjoy each other's company and I know he loves me. He has a child from a previous marriage and doesn't want any more children. I don't know what to do since we can't afford a doctor.

Dear Reader — Your husband is probably suffering a great deal more anxiety and stress about this problem than you are. A recent report said that as many as 40 per cent of American men have problems of the type your husband is experiencing.

There are many factors. One, interestingly enough, is excessive use of alcohol, which apparently does not apply to your husband. Many heavy drinkers lose their sexual capacity early in life. Often these difficulties are rooted in emotional and psychiatric problems. Some men have so much fear of an inadequate performance that the fear itself inhibits them.

Reassurance and a loving wife are the two best treatments for this problem.

Sometimes individuals do have illnesses which cause their difficulties. These can only be detected by an adequate medical examination. It is very important in these areas as well as in other areas of married life, for the husband and wife to have frank and sympathetic communication with each other.

Your minister might be able to help. Many are well informed on intimate family problems. He might help you find a marriage counselor for professional help. The best place to start would be with a doctor, if you can arrange it. I would like to emphasize that you do need help.

Sometimes it helps just to know that your problem is not unique. In fact, it is downright common. Short of being able to obtain medical or other help, about the best thing I could suggest would be to obtain a copy of Masters and Johnson's "Human Sexual Inadequacy" to study the problem and suggested methods to overcome some of them.

Perhaps the mutual project of reading and understanding the book along with sympathetic understanding, would help the two of you to overcome your problem.

Hitting Falls Short In Pirates' 6-8 MSL Season

by LARRY EVERHART

Three distinct and varied stages are evident in reviewing Palatine's just-concluded baseball season . . . the first good, the second bad and the third in-between.

The Pirates of coach Roy Schodtler started out like a serious title threat, winning three of their first four Mid-Suburban League games to tie for first place in the North Division. And before that, Palatine had opened the season with a 16-3 hammering of Lake Park, a team that marched into sectional tournament play this week with 12 straight wins.

(One in a series of reviews of baseball seasons at schools in the Herald circulation area.)

Cut after the fast start came a dreary spell that saw the Pirates drop five in a row and sink to the bottom of the division, a place from which they never escaped.

Then a rousing 12-inning victory turned things around and Palatine won three of its last five to finish with a respectable 6-8 league mark (just off from last year's 6-7-1).

The season as a whole brought both the expected and unexpected for Schodtler.

"Record-wise, we finished about like I thought we would," he said. "But our hitting and pitching were the reverse of what I expected. I thought we'd be strong at the plate and a little weak in pitching, but it turned out the other way around."

A look at league statistics backs that up. The squad's earned run average was 3.26, but the collective batting average was a paltry .186 with only one boy topping .220.

Fielding, too, left a lot to be desired and was not what Schodtler had hoped. "In that had stretch we had," he recalled, "we were committing three or more errors a game. There should never be more than one."

In both hitting and hurling, the lead was not spread out enough. Steve Garoutte was the only reliable pitcher, working more than half the team's total innings and finishing with a 3-5 record and 3.26 ERA. Garoutte struck out 76 batters while walking 46.

Sophomore Andy Knotek used a hot second half to lead the club in average and runs batted in. He hit .279, after carrying only a .137 mark midway through the season, and had six RBI's.

Garoutte was next highest with 220 and led in extra-base hits with five.

Lack of batting punch was mainly responsible for the mid-season slump. "We just were not getting solid wood on the ball," said Schodtler.

He admitted that morale suffered during the cold spell but added, "The win against Elk Grove really pulled us out of it." That was the 13-inning affair, won 2-1 on a stellar mound job by Garoutte.

The Pirates were ousted in their first tournament game, losing to Fremd 6-3.

With nearly a 500 season this year and all but four regulars expected to return next year, including most consistent player Garoutte and most improved Knotek, the future looks bright.

"We only lose four — (Bruce) Eberle, (Rick) Ziemann, (Keith) One and (John) Feekin," noted Schodtler. "That will hurt us on defense but I think we'll have the hitters to replace them."

If so, Schodtler may be right when he says, "One of these years, maybe we'll put it all together and be tough ALL season."

Boys Baseball's The Loser

OUTSTANDING LEADERSHIP for a boys baseball program is tough to find. Volunteer help always is.

So when a city has some excellent people heading up its program, it has to be a blow when they have to leave. Just ask those who run the Elk Grove Boys Baseball program. They will quickly tell you that the Frank Van Dykes have done more to make it a qualified program than anybody.

Frank is presently serving as the program's commissioner for the second year and Sharon, his wife, is beginning her third year as the publicity chairman.

Sharon submitted her name to help out and, instead of being responsible for a league, she ended up running the entire operation. She founded the program's publicity department and developed it into the most highly organized system for getting game accounts.

And now the love affair of the Van Dykes and their town's youth is coming to an end. In the middle of June they will be moving to a St. Louis suburb.

During their short stay they've watched and helped the program grow to 80 teams. This year, Sharon admits, the reports turned in by the managers have been the best ever. So, it seems, Sharon's system has really caught on.

She is presently teaching Mrs. Allen Granskog the ropes so she can take over the job. Marc Formittag, the assistant commissioner, will take over for Frank.

Speaking for her husband and herself, Sharon had this comment about their summer hobby:

"I think it's been a very interesting and rewarding experience. Working with the managers, who I think are just great, and getting to know the boys have been the most important things for us."

The boys baseball programs in the Herald area are growing every year. Because of this it was necessary to establish some rules this season regarding how the sports copy must be turned in.

SHARON VAN DYKE

When we compiled our list we borrowed some of the ideas Sharon had been using the year before.

Such things as mentioning first and last names, winning and losing pitchers, the extra base hitters and the key situations of the game in logical order have been standard procedure for the Elk Grove program the past couple of years. She has also stressed turning in neat copy and this has been greatly appreciated by those of us who type the results each week.

Sharon and Frank will be missed by those of us who worked with them the past couple of summers. And the community will also be the poorer. As has been said before, volunteer help is tough to come by, especially such dedicated people as the Van Dykes.

The Van Dykes left Elk Grove several years ago and then returned. Here's hoping they decide to come back again.

NORTH ORANGE INTERMEDIATES
Standings	—	Doves 2-1, Hornets 2-1, Rifles 2-1, Mohawks 1-1, Mounties 1-1, Steelers 0-3.
Rifles	501 100-20-10
Hornets	506 241-7-11
The Rifles raced out to a 3-0 lead as Brad Bennett held the Hornets scoreless over the first three innings. Then the eventual losers came back but it wasn't enough. Mensch had a grand slam for the losers in the fifth inning. Castillo also had a homer and went 4-for-4 at the plate for the Hornets. The Rifles sent 12 batters to the plate in the second and recorded six hits and three walks in tallying the eight runs. Clint Culver and Mark Ahrens pitched relief for the winners. Durand was the losing pitcher with Krysniak and Falge relieving. Brian Busby homered for the winners with Mark Bongrun tripling and Culber, Ahrens and Bennett doubling.
Bluffs	631 601-15-2-3
Mohawks	582 80-14-11-3
The Mohawks had a combination of five hits and five walks in erupting for nine big runs in the bottom of the third to rout the Rifles. In all, 16 men batted. The winning batter for the Mohawks was George Luchers, with Paul Lundstedt relieving. Brad Bennett was the loser with Keith Klinker and Bob Wilkinson coming in on relief. Don Lyon and George Luchers homered for the winners and Phil Seges had a double for the Rifles.
Mounties	400 317-15-9-4
Steelers	582 216-6-5-3
Tim Smith was the winning pitcher and Jim Brewer was the loser in the game which saw the Mounties charge with a seven-run uprising in the sixth inning to break open a close game. Dick Christianson and Mike Buell homered for the winners and Paul Rogers did the same for the losers. Phil Christiansen and Kevin Hanson hammered tripling.
NORTH GREEN INTERMEDIATE
Standings	—	Hawkeyes 2-0, Saints 2-0, Triplets 1-1-1/2, Flyers 1-1, Commandos 1-1, Tomcats 1-1-1/2, Leathernecks 0-2, Dolphins 0-2.
Leathernecks	000 002-2-5-3
Saints	000 000-0-0-0
Dave Dean and Dave Vent, the battery for the Leathernecks, teamed up to spin a no-hitter at the Saints and still lost. Dave Vent tripped off of winning pitcher Mark Walker and Jim Vent had a pair of doubles.
Flyers	(15) 000 00-15-6-3
Hawkeyes	2 00 42-16-12-3
The Flyers jumped out in front to a 15-0 lead in the first inning and then blew it to the losers in the bottom of the third by going 15-0. Jim Butts, premier reliever for the Hawkeyes, then came on and shut them out the rest of the way. Bringing the Hawks back at the plate were Wayne and Robert Eischen with back-to-back homers in the eighth-run second inning. In the final inning, a walk produced the winning run. Eischen had two extra base hits in all with a double and Butts and Greg Rye had a double each. Evan Kokinos was the losing pitcher.
Tomcats	115 11-7-4
Triplets	301 01-2-7
The game ended in a draw with Scott Curtis on the mound for the Tomcats and Jeff Smith for the Triplets.
Saints	412 18 211-15-10-9
Tomcats	1 0 0 3-6-5-7
Backed by two homers each off the bats of Charlie Cuthbert and Steve Malambri, the Saints romped past the Tomcats. Cuthbert was the winning pitcher with Jeff Mack relieving. Bob Holmquist was the losing hurler. Daryl Burckle was the only Tomcat to hit a homer. The Saints got triples from Ken House and Henry Kennedy with Mark Roloff tripling for the losers.
Dolphins	201 010-4
Flyers	212 50-13
The Flyers received a three-run homer by Robie Stuhl and a two-run shot by Jim Rickerts in blasting the Dolphins right out of the game with an eighth-run fourth inning. Stuhl was the winning pitcher and Steve Fantuzzi took the loss.
Hawkeyes	030 (11) 14-7-1
Leathernecks	023 14-6-3
The Hawkeyes, known for their comebackers, did it again against the Leathernecks with an 11-run seventh inning. A bases loaded triple by Tom Rogers was the highlight of the game. The Leathernecks helped give the game away with seven errors. Wayne Eischen was the winning pitcher and worked well with catcher Tom Nikol to spin a fine three-bitter. Jim Vent took the loss.
Triplets	325 02-13-14
Commandos	000 02-2-4
Bill Cobe bested Roy Smith by spinning a four-bitter at the Commandos.
CENTRAL MAJORS
Standings	—	Orleans 4-1-1/2, Angels 3-2, Astros 3-2, Mets 2-1-1/2, Twins 2-1, Phillies 0-5.
Twins	000 000-0-3
Angels	013 100-6-0-0
Doug Harth, helped by Steve Chester's double, twi-hit the Twins and shut them out. Gregg Fugitt was the losing hurler. Teaming up with Harth was Scott Doll, his catcher.
Phillies	000 125-3
Orleans	314 30-11
The Mets romped past the Phillies, 11-8, as Mark Schranz and Bob Singer homered. Gary McGrath had a triple and a double. Dean Di Valerio would have had a grand slam for the winners in the bottom of the third but he missed second base. Schranz was the winning pitcher and Bob Butts took the loss. Kurt Schultz came on in relief for the Phillies. Chris Dosa, John Gallinger and Tim Joliffe hit homers with the latter's being a grand slam.
Orleans	692 005-7-4-1
Astros	000 001-1-2-2
Bill Conato was the winning pitcher and Glen Eisenhut took the loss. Phil Barone and Joe Shields had doubles.
Mets	020 000-2
Astros	000 000-0
Mark Rusche was the winning hurler with John Mertins taking the loss. Phil Barone had a double.
NORTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE
Standings	—	Lancers 2-0, Pioneers 2-0, Chiefs 1-1, Comets 1-1, Redbirds 1-1, Broncos 1-1, Celtics 0-2, Patriots 0-2.
Broncos	310 201-7-8-1
Celtics	002 000-2-0-2
Scott Heiser, who homered and doubled for the Broncos, was the winning pitcher. P. Hawkinson was the loser. Dean Marchini doubled.
Lancers	022 000-12-13-2
Patriots	100 001-2-1-2
Ron McIntyre's one-hit pitching, plus an eight-run spurge in the sixth inning by his teammates, accounted for the Lancers' opening game victory. Bob Stevens had three big hits for the Lancers including a home run in the sixth inning. Tim Eriar had a triple and Newhouse had a double. Burkett was the losing hurler.
Chiefs	002 000-0-0-0
Comets	000 000-0-0-0
The Comets opened up with a seven-run first inning and then held on to defeat the Chiefs. Jeffery Rolleson was the winning pitcher and Rich Eisenhut took the loss. Rolleson, Mike Smith and Ray Satillas doubled for the winners. Dave Caccinelli tripled and doubled and Scott Montgomery also doubled for the losers.
Pioneers	022 225-12-12-0
Redbirds	035 000-5-7-1
The Pioneers, backed by five homers, romped to victory without an error. Clubbung them out were Chris Thompson, Kevin Dorsey, Tim Dorsey, Bill Briester and Matt Arnold. Mike Rossler and Steve Rossler had homers for the losers. The latter took the mound loss.
Comets	300 402-0-12-2
Lancers	004 040-12-13-3
Scott Bebbor's homer and two singles and Tim Eriar's triple, double and single paced the Lancers past the Comets, 14-5. The Comets made a strong effort in the sixth inning with the final out coming with the bases loaded. Mark Paquale had a double for the Lancers. Ahrens homered, Barbazzo tripled and Beckman and Rolleson doubled for the losers. Beckman was the losing pitcher and Tim Eriar was the winning pitcher.
Broncos	100 010-2-5-0
Redbirds	300 201-0-12-0
Mike Rossler homered in the first and sixth innings to help lead the Redbirds over the Broncos. Also collecting extra base hits for winning pitcher Pete Thillman were Kurt Wiebe and Steve Rita with doubles. Dean Marchini and Dale Marchini homered for the losers. Scott Heiser took the mound loss.
Celtics	111 032-8-12-7
Chiefs	300 18-22-13-3
Randy Fritz was the winning pitcher for the Chiefs and Gordon Lewin took the loss. Mike Hogrefe and McCollum came on in relief for the losers. Fritz gave up four walks and fanned eight in going the distance. The Celtic pitchers gave up a total of 16 bases on balls. Jim Kelly and Randy Fritz doubled for the losers.

nger and homer by Karl Emma or triple by Greg Conforti and doubles by Scott Chovanec, Dan Enright and Rick Mancke.

Sox 021 140-5-11-1
Indians 203 13-8-5-1
 Indian Ed Lago tripled home two runs to tie the score in the fifth and scored the winner on a sacrifice by Don Franke as the Indians overcame a pair of homers by Tim Laga and Mike Schuster in the first inning.

Twins 000 002-2-4-2
Senators 114 02-3-4-5
 Senator Matt Havila struck out an even dozen and hit a home run to help win his own game. Pat Rogers took the loss for the Twins.

Tigers 001 000-1-1-3
Yankees 020 00-11-9-1
 Tiger hurler Jeff Horne struck out 11, but so did Yank Jeff Crates in picking up the win. In a milt one-hitter, Yankee power came from Ken Mark's triple and Tom LaSusa's three-bagger.

Pirates 031 017-11-11-4
Mets 000 010-1-3-2
 Pirate Pitcher Bill O'Malley struck out 12 in going the distance for the division. Offense support came from Ed Karpow's homer, two doubles and a single in a perfect 1-for-4 afternoon. Mike Morroni and Bob Birt also knocked two-baggers.

Giants 202 018-13-10-3
Dodgers 110 000-5-3-4
 With the score knotted, Giant Tom Seiviz doubled with the bases loaded to put the game on ice for winning pitcher Bob Miller. Seiviz also homered while Miller doubled and Mark Berkhoff tripled. Dodger Matt Butler doubled in a losing cause.

MAJOR DIVISION
Giants 000 301-4-7-2
Braves 000 005-2-3-1
 Giant John Gustafson was working on a no-hitter until Jerry Van Houten broke the no-hitter in the ninth. Giant John McCann doubled in two runs in the fourth while Garry Aleksak added another in the fourth and again in the sixth after a walk when he stole three bases to score.

Cubs 002 021-6-11-2
Cardinals 020 003-9-0-0
 Garry Aleksak helped his own Giant cause by pitching and hitting a three-run triple. Garry Karpow also drove in a pair with a double. Cub Dan Streich homered for three while teammates Wayne Took and Steve Tomzinski each tripled.

Orleans 002 000-3-1-4
Sox 001 00-10-6-2
 With the aid of six walks and a triple, double and single by John Lopez and another double by Ben Steegs, the Sox got off to a nine-run lead in the first inning. Clay Crisp hurled a one-hitter while fanning eight. Dan Wutke doubled for the Orioles.

Angels 000 001-1-1-9
Tigers 021 32-16-0-1
 Jim Nolan's triple in the sixth inning spoiled Tiger Pitcher Randy Hansen's bid for a no-hitter. Tiger offense came from homers by Dave Henken, Randy Hansen and Phil Janos while Tom Handley and Bobby Kees tripled.

Cardinals 311 32-17-17-1
Dodgers 117 101-6-16-2
 The Cards' big bats made the difference when they broke the game open with a seven-run fifth. Super shots came from Greg Merri's double and homer, a double and a triple by Mark Smith and triples by Tom Izo. Mark Vico and Mark Anderson, Dodger hitters were Mark Zetok's homer, triples by Dave Hodges and Paul Thompson and a double by Bob Guritz.

Indians 203 000-5-7-1
Seminars 000 020-2-3-2
 Indians Joe Parmenter and Ron Van Den Busche combined for a nifty two-hitter while Al Dittore pitched a triple. Senator Tim Rogers got one of the hits by doubling in the fifth.

Redlegs 002 025-8-10-0
Pirates 013 16-10-15-3
 In this slugfest, Pirate Jeff Raver hit a homer, a double, triple and homer while Giant Galloway, Jeff Basik, Jim Wilson and Brian Freeman all tripled. Ron Gore doubled twice. For the Reds, Bob Alardo tripled twice, while Steve Campbell and Barry Krall had one each. Tony Waldenmaier doubled for the losers.

Yankees 330 40-10-11-4
Twins 104 000-5-5-2
 The Yanks rapped out 11 hits including a triple and homer by Tom Uke, a homer by Joe Woelfel, Kevin McClochan and Frank Flannery and a triple by John Woelfel. Despite the Yankee hitting spree, though, the Twins pitching picked up 11 strikeouts.

Cardinals 430 40-26-23-6
 The Card rout included doubles by Rick Henry and Mike McCandrew, a double and triple by Mark Vico, two doubles and a triple by Mark Smith, a triple and homer by Tom Izo and another circuit blast by Mark Anderson. Mike LaVway went the distance for the visitors who played long-ball with Redleg pitching.

Dodgers 000 000-0-1-1
Giants 100 00-1-1-0
 In a classic pitcher's duel between Dodger Dave Jones and Giant John McCann, Tom Butterfield spoiled McCann's no-hit bid. Tom O'Connell doubled for the Giants to drive in the winner.

Cubs 204 040-7-7-3
Mets 000 002-2-4-2
 Cub Dan Streich pitched his second no-hitter in a row to record the victory. Dan struck out 12 and got offensive support from Rob Durning's two-run double in the first and a double of his own and a single by Tom Zielinski during the four-run inning in the fifth.

Cubs 410 31-9-11-2
Cardinals 165 1-15-7-4
 Card hurler Michael Malters weathered the slugfest to pick up the decision with help from Mark Staddler's triple and doubles by Robert Connelly and David Probet. Cub hitters included a triple by John Carman, a double by Tom Butler and three hits by Jim Bernadine.

Tigers 200 330-10-6-4
Braves 130 43-11-6-4
 Brave Jim Flannery drove in the winning runs in the fifth with a double to spark Lou Altobelli to the pitching win. Brave Dave Mack also joined Flannery in the power department with a double and triple while Tigers got a double by Pete Lafayette and Fafinski.

Orioles 020 04-15-14-4
Giants 000 11-2-1-4

Oriole pitcher Dan Lesch pitched three hitless innings and got support from his own bat via a homer while teammate Bob Cunningham tripled and a pair of doubles by Kevin Hegland. Mike Wolfard also cracked a two-bagger while Fred Schuster belted out three hits.

Cardinals 140 001 0-6-5-4
Giants 000 121 0-4-6-2
 Card Bob Connelly hurled five innings to pick up the decision in out-dueling the Giants distance-going John O'Shaughnessy. Giant Tim McGuire was the only player to chalk an extra base hit as he doubled.

Tigers 012 033 0-12-8-1
Yankees 121 00-16-13-4
 Yankee Scott Benson tripled home three runs in the big fourth inning to go on top to stay. Pitcher Dan Mahoney went 5 1/3 innings to pick up the victory with relief help from Dennis Van Dyke. Dennis Hall and Mahoney doubled for the victors while Mike Brade had three hits. Fafinski tripled and Lafayette doubled for the losers.

Braves 002 013 1-7-7-1
Orioles 300 000 0-4-2-2
 Brave Tom Vychel yielded just two hits in picking up the win and striking out 10 along the way. Oriole Fred Schuster doubled for one of the two hits given up by Vychel. Dan Lesch suffered the setback for the Orioles.

Sox 050 051-11-9-0
Twins 100 515-10-4-1
 Sox Mike Guendling's double in the sixth inning chased home the winning run for the victors in behalf of winning pitcher Jim Zielinski. Pat Steininger suffered the defeat despite an extra-base clout by Twin Richard Smith.

Cubs 420 202 0-10-10-3
Cardinals 200 101 0-4-4-4
 Cub winner Pete Gennuso and Rick Nelson combined to four-hit the Cardinals for the victory. Cub clouts came from a triple by Bill Strybel and doubles by Bob Refstad, Jeff Powell and Steve Pritchard. Card Dave Gebhardt suffered the setback.

Tigers 105 0-6-4-0
Braves 321 1-7-7-0
 In a squeaker that was cut short by darkness, the Braves counted on sparkling relief by Dale Sladek and a timely hit by Barry Haft for the decision. Braves Tom Allen, Don Antonik and Bill Prince all doubled while Tiger Wayne Stolzman tripled and Steve Phillips and Jon Evans both doubled.

Orioles 200 000 0-2-4-2
 Mark Hvathlyd buried a masterful game for the Giants and received strong support from his team as they cracked out 14 hits. Brian Helm went 4-for-5 including a homer while Tom Campo doubled. Oriole blasts came off the bats of Dave Miller's triple and a two-bagger by Mark Vormittag.

Cardinals 000 102 1-4-4-0
Giants 201 000 0-3-4-2

Hint Conduct Code Action At Board

Proposed changes in the Harper College student conduct code may come up for action at tonight's meeting of the Harper board.

The board's bi-weekly meeting will be held at 8 p.m. today in the college's administrative offices, located at Algonquin and Roselle roads in Palatine.

At the last meeting, James Harvey, vice president for student affairs, announced the Student Senate had approved the document, which had been drawn up by a committee composed of students, administrators, faculty and board members.

PAT LEWIS, vice president of the Faculty Senate, reported the document had been circulated to Faculty Senate members, but that no action had been taken on it at this time.

The document includes a list of violations of federal, state and local laws which call for college disciplinary action. It also lists procedures for disciplinary proceeding against students. If approved, it would replace a somewhat similar 1970-71 code.

In other action, the board is scheduled to hear a report on the progress of salary negotiations for the 1971-72 school year.

One week ago the board urged its own three-person committee, headed by Jessalyn Nicklas, to meet again with the faculty to work towards an agreement. The faculty and Faculty Senate had rejected an earlier proposal from the board committee.

The board will also act on the hiring of several new faculty members, including John R. Eliasik as football coach for the 1971-72 school year.

Assessor Theroux Completes Course

Wheeling Township Assessor Marshall Theroux has completed the basic and advanced assessment courses offered by the Illinois Property Assessment Institute.

Theroux received the assessment diplomas after studying various assessment procedures and passing a final examination given by the Institute in Peoria.

Certificates for the courses were presented to Theroux recently by Bernard Pedersen of Palatine, the Palatine Township assessor.

Initiated

Melinda S. Rydin, 2035 Frost Dr., Palatine, has been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, a national scholastic honorary society.

She was one of 293 people at Iowa State University, Ames, to be inducted recently. Phi Kappa Phi is the equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa in land-grant colleges and universities.

7 Students Win Awards At Film Fest

Seven student film producers received awards Saturday night at High School Dist. 214's first annual film festival.

The seven, all students at the district's six high schools, were among 70 entries in the competition.

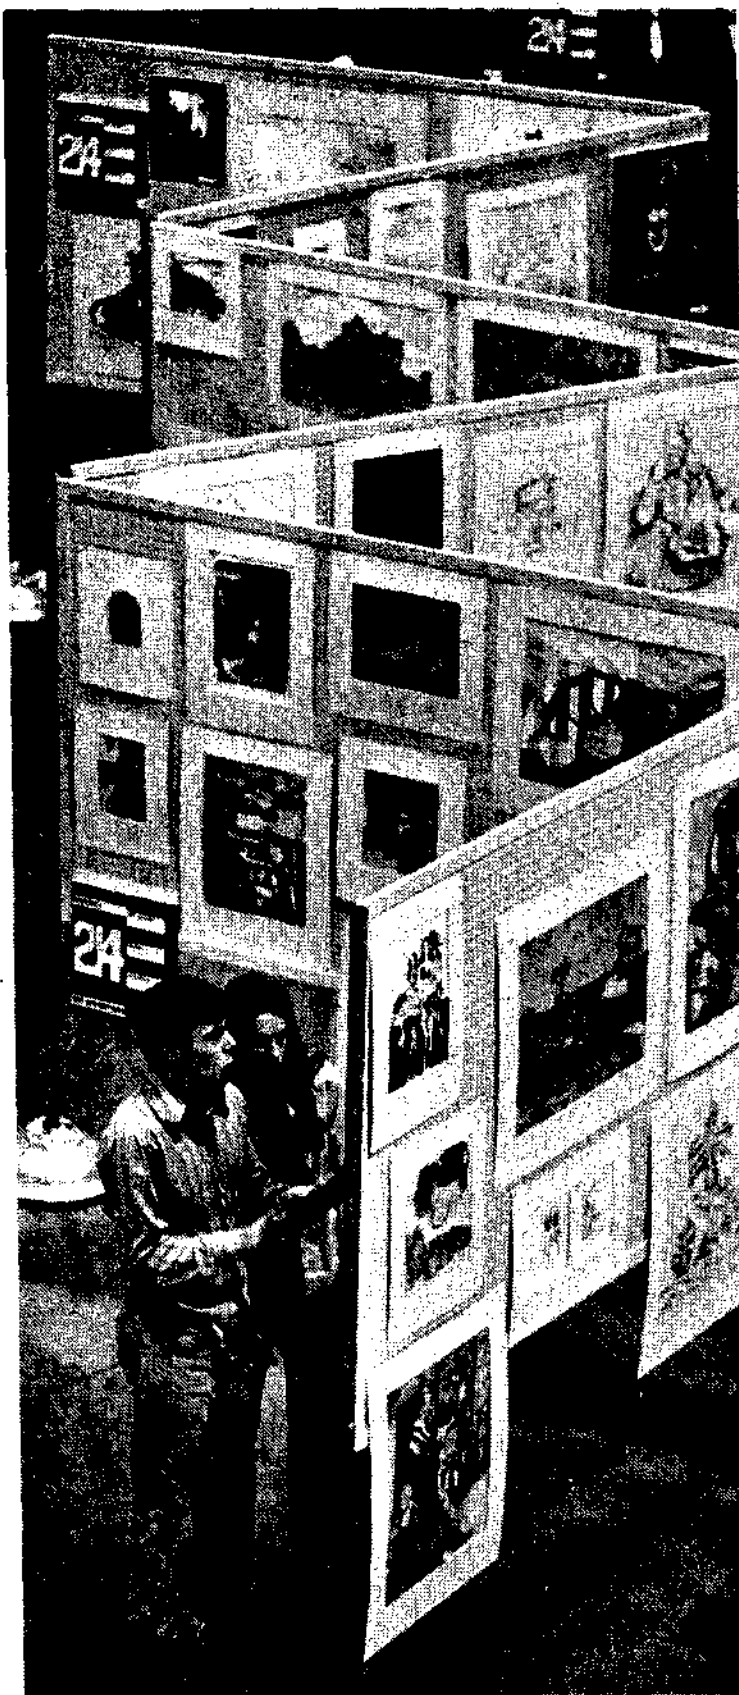

Judges for the contest included film-making teachers at the high schools, and the audience which voted on one of the awards.

Top awards went to "... And It Grows," by Mike Wellborn of Prospect (first), "Rocket Ship From Outer Space," by Robert Martens of Arlington (second), and "Siddown Young Strangers," by Gary Kmetz of Elk Grove (third).

EACH OF THE three judges also selected one of the student films as their first choice: Steve Bezark selected "Tempus Fugit" by Mary Deger of Arlington, Dave Voynik selected "Eggs" by Roger Adler of Prospect and May Pietz selected "Walk for Development" by Dave Christin, Tom Cvikola, Kevin Purcell and Gary Walden of Forest View.

The audience awarded its prize to "The Satanic Mind," done by Jim Moran, Bill Giebel, Tom Reed and Dan Skibinski of Elk Grove.

Hosts for the first film festival were film teachers at Forest View High School.

ART STUDENTS in High School Dist. 214 are displaying their works at Randhurst this week. The 600 pieces of art will be on display until Sunday.

Time, Patience And Understanding Help Families

Time is the healer, they say. Time and patience and a little understanding. But sometimes the understanding and the patience must come from someone else, and for families in trouble that other person is often a social worker. In this, the second part of a series on the Community Counseling Center in Des Plaines, writer Brad Brekke talks to Mary Young, consultant and program coordinator of Chicago Welfare Services for the Salvation Army.

Miss Young and other social workers are disturbed at the imminent possibility that the Community Counseling Center in Des Plaines may soon close for lack of funds.

If it does close, this is what the Northwest suburbs will lose:

by BRAD BREKKE

Every family, at some time, needs help, counseling or someone to talk over their problems with.

It may be a friend. A neighbor. Or a doctor.

But in many cases, it is a social worker.

So says Mary A. Young, consultant and program coordinator of Chicago Welfare Services for the Salvation Army.

Family Service, a division of the Salvation Army, serves one main function: to help families in trouble. And that is why the Community Counseling Center was started in Des Plaines six years ago.

As a rule, most persons come to the center because they are dissatisfied with themselves, their families or their ability to cope with everyday problems.

Two of the greatest problems they help families with are marital and child-parent relationships.

Other are personality adjustments, adolescents, financial assistance, alcoholism, vocational guidance, health, unwed mothers and old age.

Miss Young says problems families face today aren't new ones, but seem to be more widespread and more intense.

A part of the reason for this is family life style in the suburbs.

THE SUICIDE RATE is high here. So is alcoholism. Tensions seem to fall heavily on housewives, in the middle-income brackets, who are isolated.

First, there seems to be an economic problem in families with several children, and this gives rise to other problems. There isn't enough money for a second car, so Mom has to stay home. She has no relief from housekeeping and child care and sometimes this causes her to become unglued, emotionally upset.

The husband commutes to work in the city and his day is long. He comes home bushed at night, and often so late he does not assume his responsibilities as a father. This he leaves to his wife. The result is added tension.

And every family has its breaking point.

Many families come from the city, seeking a solution in suburbia for their family problems. Some of these are marital tensions, unpaid bills, emotional and behavioral problems with children.

In many cases, however, instead of easing the situation, the move only intensifies it, makes it worse.

There's a lot of house and yard work, for one thing. The upkeep strains the pocketbook. And so it goes.

While the counseling center cannot solve all problems, Miss Young says it can relieve tension by aiding parents and helping them to cope and live with their everyday situations. In practical matters, it helps them budget, market, plan the household and care for their children. Social workers won't tell a family what to do, but they will point out options, what they involve and let them decide what to do themselves.

OFTEN JUST having an outside person to speak with about family problems opens channels of communication between husband and wife, and helps them see more clearly what the problem is and what to do about it.

Here are a few examples of how counseling has helped:

1) Tommy was a school dropout. He was in trouble with the police because of stealing. Tommy was intelligent, but had trouble with his father, who criticized everything he did. The minister referred them to the counseling center. The case worker talked with the family and let them all express how they felt about the problem. In so doing, he guided the parents in understanding some of the things Tommy was rebelling against. The parents began to show more tolerance and respect for each other and Tommy was later able to get a job where he received vocational training.

2) An employer referred Jack M. to the center because he was in danger of losing his family, job and home because of drinking. He was in debt and his wife was emotionally ill. The case worker helped Jack make a plan for paying his debts. With psychiatric consultation, the case worker was able to give Jack some support necessary to help him overcome his drinking problem. As a result, the family did not break up and Jack was able to keep his job.

3) A mother brought in her pregnant teenage daughter. They were both angry and blamed each other for what happened. The counselor was able to get them to listen to each other. She helped the mother understand life was not over and both she and her daughter could have respect for each other. Later the girl was referred to the Salvation Army Booth Maternity Hospital.

HERE SHE WAS seen by the counselor and received some psychiatric help. It was agreed the baby would be placed for adoption. Here again distorted, unhappy lives were helped to adjust to reality and in all probability, further delinquent behavior was prevented.

In each case, one of the essential healers was time. Adjustments always take time. Counseling was carried on for months. The average is three to four months. Miss Young says in many cases, when counseling is terminated, the social worker will leave the door open, in the event a client may want to come back for brief consultation in the months or years ahead.

Another service the center offers is for housewives. It's called homemaker service and is available to homes in which a mother's illness threatens a breakup in the home.

A homemaker is placed there to maintain the home. In some cases, a homemaker may be used to show a mother how to care for a family. Usually the homemaker is there for an eight-hour day and the father or relative takes over at night.

The homemaker cares for the children, prepares them food and does light cleaning. She is paid for by the family, another agency or the Salvation Army.

"This is a lifesaver for women who are isolated and can't get away from their children for a day. But when used for these reasons, the woman usually will be undergoing counseling with us as well," said Miss Young.

EDWARD R. CARLSON, president of UAL, Inc., announced that UAL has filed a registration statement with the Securities & Exchange Commission relating to an offering of 2,500,000 shares of the company's common stock. The offering will be underwritten by a group of investment banking firms managed by Morgan Stanley & Company, Inc. UAL is a holding company whose principal subsidiaries are United Air Lines, Inc. and Western International Hotels Co. United is the free world's largest airline in terms of revenues and revenue passenger miles. Its daily scheduled commercial flights as of April 1, totaled 1,131,000 airplane miles, serving 115 cities in 32 states, the District of Columbia, British Columbia and Ontario.

Owner Must Use Business Savvy

With increased availability of mortgage money, many people are exploring the possibility of building a new house.

The difference between pleasant and troublesome homebuilding usually is due to the amount of care exercised by the owner in business matters, said the Small Homes Council - Building Research of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

This advice for the many people who plan to build a new home this year is contained in the Council's eight page circular Business Dealings With the Architect and Contractor.

Among questions covered are: Where do you get plans? What does an architect do? How do you select a contractor? What are his responsibilities? What documents and agreements should you have? What about fees and payments?

Rules for trouble-free building include:

Have a good set of working drawings and specifications which describe all work involved. Be sure you know what work and materials are included.

Prepare written agreements with your architect and contractor. The American Institute of Architects has standard con-

Report Surveys Central Banking

In its monthly review, Business Conditions, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago comments on the role of the Federal Reserve System in sustaining suitable flow of credit to particular classes of borrowers.

Proposals have been made from time to time that the Federal Reserve supports such sectors as housing, state and local government, agriculture, small businesses, and businesses in depressed areas.

The bank bases its comments on a staff report recently released by the House of Representatives Committee on Banking and Currency. This report presents the results of a survey of activities engaged in by the central banks of France, India, Israel, Italy, Japan, Mexico, the Netherlands, Sweden, the United Kingdom, West Germany and Yugoslavia. The report described the economic and social welfare activities of foreign central banks in considerable detail, as well as the financial environments within which the banks operate.

The report's expressed purpose is to describe, rather than evaluate, the activities of foreign central banks. It cannot, says the Chicago bank, serve as any sort of guide for central bank policy. The Chicago bank contends that if it were clear that the special measures used by foreign central banks to influence patterns of credit had been successful, the case for adoption of similar policies in the United States might be persuasive. But the House Committee report offers little evidence on the impact and success of such policies, or, indeed, on the extent to which they have been employed. Moreover, the report fails to mention the effects of such activities upon the primary function of central banks, controlling the supply of money and the promotion of economic stabilization.

Before the U. S. central bank even considers a move toward direct support for "critical" sectors, there is a need to examine more closely the performance of the foreign central banks. The environment in the United States is markedly different from those in many of the countries studied, and what may work abroad may not necessarily work in the United States, the report concludes.

Buyer Interest Higher in 1971

Sales of Hoffman Rosner Corp., for the year ended Feb. 28, 1971 were $12,866,000, compared to $19,751,000 in the preceding year. Jack Hoffman, chairman, and Robert Rosner, president, made the announcement.

Net income was $184,000, or 14 cents a share, compared to $1,002,000, or 83 cents per share, for fiscal 1970, the diversified community development and home building firm said. The company is based in Hoffman Estates.

"Excellent prospects for housing, product diversification and expansion programs, and the end of the housing recession and local strikes that affected last year's sales and earnings should produce excellent results in the new year. Net new sales contracts in the current fiscal quarter are more than triple the level of a year ago," Hoffman said.

"The easing of mortgage money, increased consumer interest, and pent-up demand for housing should make this a very good year for the industry," Hoffman predicted. "Nine new sales programs scheduled for opening by the company this year place Hoffman Rosner in an excellent position to capitalize on this market growth."

"Buyer interest in March and April was stronger than we've seen in a number of years for this period and the trend is continuing," Rosner said.

The backlog of sales contracts in force at fiscal year end was approximately 50 per cent greater than the year before, rising to 267 homes valued at $8.8 million compared to 179 homes valued at $6 million in 1970, the company announced.

In March and April, 1971, net new contracts entered into increased 221 per cent to 164 homes, from 51 homes for the same period a year ago.

New sales contracts are now being made in three major communities, including the newly opened Frankfort Square south of Chicago. Foxcroft, a 223-acre community near Aurora, announced by the company April 28, is expected to contribute to sales before the year end, the company said.

Single-family and townhome programs were being offered in three sales locations as the fiscal year ended. Nine new sales programs — two for single-family homes, three for townhomes, and four for other multi-family units are expected to open before year-end, according to the company.

Hoffman Rosner is a diversified land development company that builds single-family homes, townhomes, and apartments. Major communities under development include Indian Oaks, southwest of Chicago; Westlake, in Bloomingdale; Frankfort Square, in south suburban Chicago; and Foxcroft, in Aurora.

The Accepted Influence in the Northwest Suburbs

Housing Market Heading Upward

The upward trend in the Chicago area housing market is expected to continue, according to Bruce Bluetz, president of the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago. He discussed housing statistics gathered through the mid-point of the second quarter of this year.

Housing starts nationally moved to the highest level in 21 years in the first quarter of the year, reaching 1,789,000 units, surpassed only by the 1,890,000 unit rate in 1959's first quarter, said Bluetz. "The heavy future loan commitments now on the books and a record level of building permits for the first three months, indicate that this surge will continue," he said.

The National Association of Home Builders Quarterly Metropolitan Housing Forecast of about 100 large metro areas, when adjusted, indicates the year will wind up with approximately 1.8 million starts, a projection that coincides with previous forecasts of NAHB's Economics Department.

In the Chicago area, forecasts indicate a 26 per cent increase in single-family starts and a 19 per cent increase in multi-family starts over last year. Chicago, as last year, is expected to rank second in the ten largest metropolitan markets with a projected total of 47,000 starts — about 6,000 behind the leader, Los Angeles.

Some other factors compiled by the NAHB Economics Department include:

For the first time in eight years, single-family housing is hitting a 1-million-unit level: the first quarter average was 984,000 units, March's rate, 1,026,000 units.

Multi-family housing also shows a substantial increase. The first quarter is already 45 per cent above the first quarter of 1970. The average rate for the first three months was at a record 691,000 unit level.

The trend toward townhouses is continuing. Builders are expected to start 8 per cent of their production in the for-sale townhouse category and 9 per cent in rental units.

Condominiums, relatively scarce a few years ago, are going to account for 3 per cent of for-sale starts in 1971.

Sales in the existing home market have continued to rise and were particularly brisk during the first quarter of the year. In March the volume was 52 per cent higher than during the same month a year ago.

Bluetz said the vacancy rate for both rental and homeowner housing remains at low levels. The rental rate gained slightly from 4.8 per cent in the last quarter of 1970 to 4.9 per cent in the first quarter of 1971. This rate is still below any first quarter in the 1960's. The homeowner rate remained at 1 per cent for the third straight quarter.

Singles Swing Into Maturity

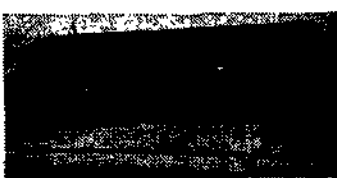

When single tenants of a forward-thinking North Carolina apartment developer marry, they won't have to look far for a new home.

The developer plans an apartment complex that will cluster motel-style units for singles, townhouses for young-marrieds and families, and high-rise apartments for senior citizens. Tenants can graduate from one building to another.

Set Condominium Seminar May 28

A panel of experts, from finances to legal aspects, will open the morning session of the day-long Questions and Answers About Condominiums seminar being presented by the Home Builders Association of Chicago on Friday, May 28, at the Regency Hyatt Hotel in Rosemont. Sessions start at 9 a.m.

Comprising the panel are Anthony Burck, Chicago Title & Trust Co.; Dominic P. Cannon, condominium consultant; F. Gregory Opelka, Fairfield Savings & Loan; Jerome H. Gerson, attorney; and Richard Soderstrom of the FHA.

Following a coffee break the sessions will resume with design and planning as the topics. Salvatore Balsamo, architect, and Anthony Dorner, Jr. of W. W. Vincent Co. will be featured speakers.

Speaking from experience in all phases of condominium development will be William E. Becker, condominium consultant, of Bill Elliot & Associates, the luncheon speaker.

Featured in the afternoon panel will be Charles G. Matthies, developer; Jay Moore, Pulte Homes, Inc.; Alan Davis, United Development Corp.; and Gene Dreyfus, Childs-Dreyfus.

Following another coffee break, all the panel members will be available for questions.

Reservations can be made by calling Ronnie Murtagh at the HBAC office, 782-8657.

Lodge Managers Held Convention

More than 250 managers of Howard Johnson's Motor Lodges throughout the country gathered in Palatine last week for a three-day National Motor Lodge Managers' Conference. The meeting was held at the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge at Rt. 53 and Northwest Hwy.

Speakers at the meeting included Robert A. Riedel, president of the American Hotel and Motel Association, and a licensed Howard Johnson operator; and Wallace W. Lee Jr., group vice president of accommodations for the firm.

There are more than 430 Howard Johnson's Motor Lodges in the United States and in foreign countries, including 55 operated by the company. The Palatine lodge is one of the firm's newest licensed operations. It has 197 guest rooms, meeting room facilities adequate for 1,000 persons and banquet facilities for 600 persons.

Designs Honored For Innovation

Centex-Winston Corp., Palatine-based home builder, has won two awards for outstanding home design in the Design 71 competition sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland. The awards include first place gold key award in the condominium division for the two-bedroom apartment home at Winston Hills in Woodridge; and the third place silver key award in the single-family division for the Arlington, an eight room mid-level at Winston Woods in Bolingbrook.

These homes were two of the 15 homes in the greater Chicagoland area to be cited for overall exterior design including relationship to the land site, interior floor plan, basic quality of materials and construction, use of new ideas and total value for the dollar.

Entries in the Design 71 competition were judged by a panel of architects representing the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Designed by Robert Babbitt, A.I.A., of Babbitt & Associates, Inc., the five room apartment home at Winston Hills features 1,171 square feet of living area and includes two bedrooms, two full baths, living room, adjoining dining area and fully equipped kitchen. Many of the units feature a bay window in the living room and private patio as standard features. Air conditioning and heating with individual room control and carpeting are included. Laundry facilities are available in each building and provisions have been made for individual storage space for each apartment home. Residential and guest parking has been provided. The two-bedroom home is priced at $21,500.

Overlooking the Winston Hills Swim and Tennis Club, the Winston Hills model apartment homes are located at 2900 Mitchell Dr. in Woodridge.

Designed by Allan Grossman, A.I.A., senior vice president of Centex-Winston Corp., the Arlington incorporates 1,950 square feet of living area in eight rooms. Built on a center foyer plan, the Arlington features three bedrooms grouped together in one wing and fourth bedroom on the lower level; living room and formal dining room; two baths; family sized kitchen with adjoining outdoor dining deck; family room that measures 16 feet by 13 feet 4 inches; and an attached two-car garage with extra storage space. The Arlington is priced at $32,600 and is also available with the lower level unfinished at $31,200.

Model homes are located at 500 N. Fairmore Ln. in Bolingbrook.

In addition to Winston Woods and Winston Hills Apartment Homes, Centex-Winston Corp., a division of Centex Corp., has the following current developments: Phase Two of Winston Knolls, a single family home community in Hoff-

Installation Is Slated In June

The annual MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service dinner and installation of officers will be held at the Itasca Country Club, Itasca, the evening of June 28.

The dinner will be preceded by cocktails, starting at 6:30 p.m. and will be highlighted by a special awards presentation to all MAP Million Dollar Club member salespeople for their achievements in selling $1 million in real estate in one calendar year.

The Million Dollar Club awards is being inaugurated by present MAP president Edward J. Busse of Annen & Busse Real Estate and will be a yearly feature of future MAP installation dinners. The newly elected officers and directors for the remainder of 1971 and 1972 will be announced after the dinner.

MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate includes 64 active real estate organizations in the Northwest Suburbs with a total of over 625 professional brokers and salesmen.

On Dean's List

Natalie C. Mitchell, of 703 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, was recently on the dean's list at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana. She was also elected to membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, the National Scholastic Honor Society for freshman women.

Natalie, a graduate of John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell.

Durning Sets Sales Record

T. A. Bolger, Elk Grove Village Realtors, announced a sales record established by Robert H. Durning.

Robert H. Durning

According to Bolger, Durning has sold more than $1 million worth of real estate since Jan. 1 of this year. This sales total consists of 32 sales of single family homes.

Durning has been a real estate salesman for one year. He is retired from military service.

TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS FROM MAP MULTIPLE LISTING
REAL ESTATE SERVICE

The LOCATION of your home! Certainly, there are many important factors to be considered when selecting a home. One of the most important is the actual LOCATION of the home in relation to conveniences, shops, schools, parks, transportation and future development and growth of the community.

Two practically identical homes can be priced quite differently and although there can be no obvious difference in the style, space and condition of the homes, usually the home that has the better family location will obviously be worth more.

Location is just as important to the worth of the home as the actual interior and exterior features of the home. Your local MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate office knows the value of location and they make it a point to always show home buyers the advantages (and disadvantages) of various home locations. MAP Real Estate Salespeople know the Northwest Suburbs well... they can point out the many advantages of the area and the many lovely locations that make living more comfortable and convenient.

Kunze Retires, Manager Named

Edward J. Kunze, who has managed the Credit Bureau of Palatine since 1963, announced his retirement effective June 1.

The ownership of the bureau remains the same in the names of Albert and Regina Abegg, also owners of the Credit Bureau of Evanston.

The new manager of the Credit Bureau of Palatine will be Mrs. Ruth Meyer. She has been associated with the bureau since 1962, and served as assistant manager for several years. Mrs. Meyer previously headed the National Service and Appraisal Co. and Hills Reports, Inc., for over 9 years. She worked for Retail Credit Co. for 20 years.

The Credit Bureau of Palatine is located in Room 102, at 117 E. Palatine Road. It offers credit clearance service in an area 10-15 miles surrounding Palatine.

Mrs. Meyer, her husband William and their son Bruce live in Winston Park, Palatine. An older son lives in Lake Zurich.

Salesmen Must Win Confidence

The ability to win confidence, use time effectively, and give good service are the three basic ingredients of success in selling real estate.

This was the gist of the message presented at a recent meeting of the Northwest Real Estate Board by John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager of Baird & Warner, Inc., Chicago. Hall is also president of the Chicago Real Estate Board.

"Good real estate salesmen follow the same basic fundamentals that are available for the adoption and use of all salesmen," he said, and then elaborated on the major points as follows:

A good salesman wins confidence in himself and the company he represents. "He builds a reputation of integrity and dependability by being completely honest, correcting his mistakes quickly, and never promising more than he can deliver," Hall said.

In addition, the good salesman builds confidence through product knowledge — not just of the property he's selling, but of the real estate field, Hall said.

Confidence is also enhanced by the way the salesman acts, he said. This includes the salesman's ability to be a good listener, enthusiasm and being careful by his choice of words and actions to treat the buyer and the seller fairly.

"Remember that today's buyer can be tomorrow's seller," Hall said. The salesman should never leave the impression that he's favoring one or the other. He's always the professional, impartial broker trying to work out the best transaction for both parties."

The good salesman uses his time effectively, first to produce listings of properties for sale, and then find buyers. This means getting out of the office and building contacts, Hall said.

Finally, a good salesman gives good service, he said. This includes keeping appointments on time, answering questions, calling as promised, and following through on commitments.

Levitt Heads Up Management Team

William J. Levitt, the chairman of the board of F.T. Levitt and Sons, Inc., announced several changes in the top management of the company that he organized.

In addition to being chairman, Levitt will become the president and chief executive officer, succeeding Richard M. Wasserman, who recently resigned. Wasserman will become a Consultant to the company.

Louis E. Fischer will take over the office of executive vice president, succeeding Richard P. Bernhard who will also become a consultant to the company until the end of 1971. To complete the triumvirate, Norman Peterfreund will continue in his capacity of executive vice president.

Commenting on the firm's building activities, Levitt said "While for many years we specialized in single-family dwellings, we have been branching out into every conceivable type of shelter. We now produce garden apartments, high-rise apartments, multi-housing, mobile homes, modulars, attached town houses, and of course single-family detached houses.

"This is our 42nd year, and we expect record earnings with a volume that should exceed $300,000,000. To the best of our knowledge, no company engaged in the production of shelter has ever remotely approached that record.

"We are now building throughout the United States on both coasts, in the Central section, and in the North and South. We are also building in France and Puerto Rico and expect very shortly to announce additional countries in Europe where the name Levitt will again be a vital part of those countries' economies.

Wallace To Represent 1st Federal Savings

Walter Wallace

Walter Wallace, will represent First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Aurora, as their loan representative and manager of their newly opened North-Northwest Suburban "FHA/VA Loan Origination office" located at 749 Dundee Rd. in Wheeling.

Mr. Wallace, with his broad knowledge of this specialized field of mortgages in the FHA/VA market is well qualified to serve in this capacity.

Lavallee Certified Nursing Home Chief

Paul F. Lavallee, administrator of the Arlington Heights Americana Nursing Center has been certified and licensed as a nursing home administrator by the State Board of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators.

Lavallee successfully completed a written examination in Chicago, which was given by the board of examiners, to qualify for the license. The testing also included an evaluation of the applicant's education and experience. The 1970 session of the Illinois Legislature inaugurated nursing home administrator licensure by enacting into law certain provisions which made it mandatory for every nursing home to be under the supervision of an administrator, licensed by the state of Illinois. The action of the legislature was adopted to complement and supplement federal laws and regulations.

Since 1970, Lavallee has been administrator of the Arlington Heights Americana Nursing Center. Americana is an extended-care facility with accommodations for 78 patients and not only serves many patients that transfer from local hospitals but an ever-widening area of out-patients as well.

Justen Named Top Insurance Man

Peter J. Justen, 426 Cable Ct., Schaumburg, has been named New York Life Insurance Co's outstanding group insurance representative for 1970, according to Charles W. V. Meares, chairman of the board.

Justen led all New York Life group representatives in new group sales and set a company record for the number of sales produced during the past two years, 1969 and 1970. In recognition of these achievements, he was honored at the company's national group sales conference.

Justen joined New York Life in Chicago in 1967 and was promoted to his present position of home office group representative in 1968. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from the State University of Iowa in 1969, and a bachelor of science degree from St. Ambrose College in 1962. He served in the Medical Corps of the U.S. Army reserve from 1967 to 1966, and was honorably discharged as sergeant first class.

Justen serves as secretary of the Schaumburg Township Young Republican Organization, vice president of the Campanelli PTA, director of the Twi-brook YMCA, and director of the Holy Name Society of St. Marcelline's Church.

Mrs. Stafford Joins Q&T In Schaumburg

Mrs. I. Faye Stafford of Schaumburg has joined the Quinlan and Tyson, Inc., Realtors, Schaumburg-Hoffman Estates Area Office, according to an announcement by Kenneth J. Koy, manager. Mrs. Stafford completed studies at the Real Estate School of Illinois and entered the business under the sponsorship of Quinlan and Tyson, Koy stated.

Quinlan and Tyson maintains an active and continuing effort to bring qualified new people into the Real Estate business, utilizing both company training in which Mrs. Stafford will participate, and available Real Estate industry training, Koy said. "We go to school every week when we start in the business at Q & T," Mrs. Stafford said, "to learn all of the fundamentals necessary to representing the best interests of the buying and selling public." The sessions are conducted by general sales manager, Richard Rutledge and other members of the Q & T executive organization.

Avoid Pressure Drop

Sudden surges of icy cold or scalding hot water are common in homes with old-fashioned showers. They occur whenever someone else in the house is running the water, causing a drop in pressure.

Now there are temperature controls available that can be present before turning on the water. The water then remains at that temperature regardless of pressure changes. For free information, write to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Marcheschi Attend Panasonic Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Al Marcheschi of Arlington Heights, were guests recently at the famed Doral Country Club in Miami with almost 800 Panasonic dealers, representatives, executives and their wives.

The occasion was the annual Panasonic sales meeting and consumer electronics product introduction of the company's new line.

According to Ray Gates, vice president, Panasonic Consumer Electronics Group, the products shown at Miami number almost 200, and represent a major expansion of the Panasonic product line. A number of products, including the world's first "talking clock," a 7-inch color AC/Battery television set and a full range of 4-channel quadrasound sound equipment, were shown at Miami for the first time.

Marcheschi, of Allied Marketing, 6045 N. Lincoln, Chicago, is a sub-representative for Panasonic, and resides at 821 S. Burton, Arlington Heights.

3 GTE Employees Apply For Patents

Three local area men, members of the switching division of GTE Automatic Electric Laboratories, Northlake, have applied for U.S. patents as co-inventors.

A processor-controlled communication switching system was developed at the laboratories by:

Kenneth E. Prescher, 10 Elizabeth Court, Lombard; Ronald E. Schauer, 7842 Kensington, Hanover Park; and Frank B. Sikorski, 749 Mark Ave., Des Plaines.

Hintz Appointed By Zeigler Firm

Michael E. Walsh, president of Zeigler Coal & Coke Co., Chicago, announces the appointment of Thomas A. Hintz, of 3719 Bluebird Lane, Rolling Meadows, as assistant treasurer of the corporation.

He was formerly office manager of the company's Chicago office headquarters.

LES HAPPEN

Upgrading Public Service

Realtors serve all categories of real estate, including residential, office buildings, shopping centers and recreational areas.

Kenneth M. Gunsteens, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, made this observation today in discussing the many areas of specialization in real estate necessary to plan, appraise, manage, lease, and sell these types of real property. Realtor week is being celebrated through May 29.

Realtors — members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, the Illinois Association of Realtors, and the National Association of Real Estate Boards (NAREB) — continually upgrade their service to the public in these special fields through participation in educational courses and seminars offered by the various affiliates of NAREB, said Gunsteens.

These affiliates provide for many Realtors the framework of specialization under which they work, Gunsteens said. Most provide also professional designations, through which the public can identify the leaders in the fields.

The largest affiliate of NAREB is the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, which offers, through its two divisions, education in the latest techniques of marketing properties and serving the public. For those involved in the commercial end of real estate, NIREB's Commercial and Investment Division provides guidelines to successful operation. The Residential Division gives guidance to those in the largest single specialization in real estate — home marketing.

Certified Property Manager (CPM) designates those who have qualified through education and practical experience to manage apartment complexes, office buildings, and shopping centers. It is offered by the Institute of Real Estate Management, another professional affiliate of the National Association. The institute also awards the AMO (Accredited Management Organization) designation.

Mayors Sign Proclamation

Realtor Week proclamations were recently signed by officials of several Northwest Suburban municipalities. Members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors are celebrating this event May 23-29.

The proclamations were signed in the following communities: Des Plaines; Wheeling, by Mayor Ted C. Scanlon; Mount Prospect by Mayor Robert Teichert; Palatine by Mayor John L. Moodie.

The officials of several communities signed were expected to sign the proclamations later in the week, including Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Hanover Park, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg.

to selected management firms in the United States and Canada.

One of the fastest-growing affiliates of NAREB is the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers, which offers the AFLB (Accredited Farm and Land Broker) designation to qualified members, Gunsteens said. Its membership is drawn from Realtors and sales associates who devote the greater part of their time and effort to sales and development of all types of land — urban, rural, development, and farm and ranch. These specialists also engage in appraisal, management and financing of land.

One of the most progressive affiliates in the NAREB family is the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, said Gunsteens. Its designation is MAI (Member of the Appraisal Institute). Recently, the institute inaugurated the RM (Residential Member) designation to help the public denote those qualified through education to appraise one to four-family dwellings.

Members of the American Society of Real Estate Counselors comprise one of the newest categories in the field. Counselors offer independent advice on property. In no way dependent on the outcome of their advice, counselors are compensated on a fee, retainer, or per diem basis. The ASREC members are identified by the designation CRE (Counselor in Real Estate) following their names.

With the growing importance of international transactions in property, NAREB in 1956 met the challenge of providing a forum for those involved in the intricacies of nation-to-nation business, Gunsteens said. It formed an American Chapter of the International Real Estate Federation, which some of its pioneer members had helped organize earlier. At annual congresses in a different country each year, members from the United States have opportunity to meet with their fellow professionals from around the world. Today, close to 1,500 Realtors hold membership in the American Chapter.

The Society of Industrial Realtors keeps its members abreast of the industrial property field through educational programs, publications, and seminars. Members use the designation, SIR, and are part of a unique network of brokers and appraisers set up to serve the needs of industry in the United States and Canada.

As the name implies, NAREB's Women's Council is an organization of Realtors and sales associates from the distaff side. Its goals are education, progress, and professionalism, and these are met through local and state chapter educational programs and special sessions conducted at the three annual national meetings of NAREB.

The last affiliate is also the oldest — the Executive Officers Council. Organized more than 50 years ago it is composed of executive officers of local boards of Realtors and state associations, Gunsteens explained. Through its bi-monthly bulletin, state and national meetings, and annual Seminar of Board Administration, the Council fosters sound, progressive management of local boards and associations, he said.

Further information on these affiliates is available from each at 155 East Superior St., Chicago 60611, with the exception of the Society of Industrial Realtors, which has its headquarters at 1300 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

2 Win Citations Of Prudential Firm

Two area residents who are Prudential Insurance Co. representatives have won the company president's citation for outstanding accomplishments in 1970.

They are Dennis L. Gatenby, sales manager, of 1201 Country Club Rd., Lake Zurich, and Jeffery G. Kobi, 1103 N. Phelps, Arlington Heights, an agent.

The men are associated with Prudential's Palatine district office, located at 800 E. Northwest Hwy.

According to senior vice president William Ingram, who is in charge of Prudential's Mid-America operations, citations are awarded only to the highest ranking Prudential representatives in the United States.

Hoffman Estates Leading Area Home Construction

The housing boom is still going strong in the Northwest Suburbs, according to the most recent Bell Federal Savings Survey of New Building.

Hoffman Estates paced the entire Chicago metropolitan area for new single-family home permits issued this year, in Bell's April statistics report. The municipality reports a total of 317 home permits issued in 1971, with a combined value of $5,251,000.

Other leaders in home building for the first four months of this year are: Berwyn, 233 permits; Wheaton, 191; Schaumburg, 186; Arlington Heights and Tinley Park each with 166; Bloomington, 141; Naperville, 90; Downers Grove, 82; and Northbrook, 68.

Several Northwest Suburban communities showed significant gains over 1970 figures for the number of single-family home permits issued in April. April home permits were reported as follows: Arlington Heights, 45 permits in 1971 compared to 29 in 1970; Buffalo Grove, 83 reported for two months this year compared to 2 a year ago; Des Plaines, 7 in 1971 compared to 4 in 1970; Elk Grove Village, 112 in 1971 and 113 in 1970; Hanover Park, no report; Hoffman Estates, 113 in 1971 compared to none a year earlier.

Also Mount Prospect reported 16 permits in April, 1971, compared to 19 in 1970; Palatine, 16 in 1971 compared to 11 in 1970; Rolling Meadows, 10 in 1971 compared to 2 in 1970; Schaumburg 119 in 1971 compared to 9 in 1970; Streamwood, 64 in 1971 compared to 16 in 1970; and none reported in Wheeling for either year.

Permits for housing construction in the six-county Chicago metropolitan area continued to rise for the fourth consecutive month, according to the survey. The combined totals for single and multiple units for which permits were issued last month reached 6,630, compared to 2,670 in April, 1970.

Single-family home permits reached 2,895 for the Chicago metropolitan area in April, more than double the 1,324 reported a year earlier. Home permit volume more than doubled in the City of Chicago and suburban towns. Unincorporated areas reported 448 home permits compared to 275 a year ago.

The largest increase in housing permits was reported for apartment units, which rose from 1,346 starts in April of last year to 3,735 in April, 1971. The City of Chicago reported a 35 per cent increase in this category, from 288 units to 389 units in 1971. The suburbs reported more than three times as many apartment units, rising from 996 a year ago to 3,176 units in April, 1971. Unincorporated areas issued permits for 170 apartment units compared to 60 units a year ago.

Apartment permits issued during April in the Northwest Suburbs are as follows: Arlington Heights, 164; Buffalo Grove, 354 for two months; Des Plaines, 6; Palatine, 96; Rolling Meadows, 49; and Wheeling, 2.

The April seasonally adjusted annual housing rate rose 6 per cent above the March rate. Permits were issued at the annual rate equivalent to 67,444 units (27,900 homes and 39,544 apartment units). The March rate was 63,732 units.

The total building permit value of all types of construction (residential, commercial and industrial) totaled $272,020,561, more than double the volume reported last year ($127,364,835). Permit values more than tripled in the City of Chicago, more than doubled in the unincorporated areas and increased by 50 per cent in suburban areas.

Investment Is Seen Two Ways

The real issue in corporate profits is not how profitable a company is, but whether its affluence is directed to achieving corporate or societal ends, said Stewart L. Grill, chairman of 3H Building Corp. He recently addressed the Building Construction Alumni Association of Michigan State University.

"The answer lies somewhere in between," he maintained. "We must continue to earn money, and we must continue to expand our industry. But at the same time, we must accept that the responsibility of providing decent housing for all Americans is primarily that of the construction industry."

Grill also called upon the construction industry to view its capital investments in two ways: in plant and material but also "in actualizing human potential." He outlined 3H's minority training program for supervisory personnel as an example of this type of investment.

His company, with headquarters in Rolling Meadows, is the largest Chicago-area-based homebuilding firm and ranks in the top one per cent of all construction firms in the nation. Grill has been chairman since the company was incorporated in 1969. He was graduated from Michigan State University in 1958.

Development Co. Appoints Fukuda

Harry Y. Fukuda, a veteran of 25 years in the real estate field, has been named head of the closing department of

Harry Y. Fukuda

United Development Co.

Fredrick F. Sherry, president of United, announced the appointment. He said Fukuda was chosen to head the department because of his experience and the company's plans for expanding its residential program.

United expects to market some 1,000 residential units this year, with plans for increasing the volume to 4,000 to 5,000 annually in a few years, Sherry said.

Fukuda, a graduate of the University of Oregon, has spent the last 25 years with Chicago area home developers handling closings on sales and related responsibilities. He and his wife and five children are residents of South Holland.

United is a subsidiary of Urban Investment and Development Co., 491 N. Michigan Ave.

Salesman Completes Advanced Course

Jack L. Saunders, of George C. Poole Ford, 400 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, has completed an advanced retail selling course conducted at Ford's Chicago Marketing Institute.

The course is one of a number offered by Ford Marketing Institutes to benefit Ford and Lincoln-Mercury customers by emphasizing after-purchase service and customer relations.

Stephenson Joins Hoffman-York Here

R. Peter Stephenson has joined the Chicago creative staff of Hoffman-York, Inc., Chicago and Milwaukee advertising and public relations agency, as a copywriter. He was formerly a copywriter for The Biddle Co., Bloomington, Ill.

Stephenson, a copy supervisor for Carrier Air Conditioning Co., Syracuse, N.Y., prior to joining Biddle, is a graduate of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, Mich. He resides at 1009 Windsor Dr., Arlington Heights.

Zeigler Appoints J. Halbert Woods

Michael E. Walsh, president of Zeigler Coal & Coke Co., Chicago, has announced the appointment of J. Halbert Woods of 1540 Dempster St., Mount Prospect, as assistant secretary of the corporation.

He is a lawyer and has been house counsel of Zeigler since September 1, 1970.

Contemporary Design Focus

A newly-decorated three-bedroom townhome model recently opened for inspection at Meritex' Morningside Village in Carpentersville.

The Meritex Corp. is focusing on contemporary design in the townhomes.

Sola Electric Names Engineering Chief

Sola Electric, a division of Sola Basic Industries, Elk Grove Village, has announced the appointment of Henry S. Borkovitz as its director of engineering. Borkovitz had previously been Manager, electronics engineering and has been associated with Sola Electric since July, 1964.

Borkovitz holds a M.S.E.E. from the Illinois Institute of Technology and a B.S.A. from the University of Chicago. He is the holder of four patents in the electrical and electronic fields. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE).

Borkovitz has recently completed a computerized scheduled program for Sola's Engineering Department based on a modification of the Program Evaluation and Review Techniques (PERT), which is designed to allocate resources based on priority and task requirements.

Luigi Albat'O D'Ellessandr'O, merchandising director for the corporation, was given the project of decorating the townhome.

Leonard W. Besinger, Meritex president, said this was done to show young families how they can decorate a home in contemporary style with a minimum of furniture, a mass of imagination and a limited budget.

Bold patterns and bright colors have been used throughout, with muted tones applied in the sleeping zones and strong hues used in the living areas. Individual rooms feature multi-colored and patterned walls. The master bedroom, for example, displays four different shades of orange on one wall to blend in with the shadow contours cast by the lamps on the night stands.

The extensive use of different-sized mirrors and silver-and-blue foil wallpaper, create a new dimension of space and light throughout the home. Narrow strips of mirror border the tops and baseboards of some walls, creating the illusion of larger rooms.

Prices of the two and three-bedroom townhomes at Morningside Village range from $17,995 and $19,995 respectively, with VA, FHA and conventional financing terms available.

Morningside Village is located on Wakefield Drive in Carpentersville, east of Rte. 25 on Rte. 83. Furnished models may be seen daily, including weekends, from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Sees Perimeter Project Trend

Perimeter communities are becoming more sought after as residential areas, according to Elmer Swanson Jr., vice president of marketing for the Branigar Organization, Inc.

Swanson said that urban congestion has now spread to the suburbs, and that this causes more families to move to what he calls "perimeter communities."

"While so much attention is focused on the inner city problems, a type of 'creeping congestion' has begun to flood what used to be quiet suburban communities," Swanson said. He said huge shopping centers, rivaling State Street in their size and variety of goods, services and entertainment are mushrooming in the so-called outer suburbs. "Traffic in these shopping centers is so heavy that the surrounding residential area suffers from the congestion. The obvious result is that these 'outer suburbs' are struggling with many of the same problems as the inner city," Swanson said.

"People with growing families would rather spend a little more time traveling to and from their places of business and have their families live and grow in a good environment. Air pollution is another factor which is plaguing many suburbs and this is another reason why people are moving to perimeter developments," he said. Swanson cited the company's Windings of Ferson Creek project near St. Charles as a perimeter community.

The greenway which winds throughout the development provides open land adjoining the homesites. The Windings will also include a clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis courts plus two small fishing lakes in the community which will be for the private use of property owners.

Swanson believes that the trend to perimeter communities will increase in the next five years. He said that Branigar has pioneered in communities of this type and the company's future plans indicate that it will continue to develop communities in outlying areas.

Other Branigar projects in outlying areas include: Wayne Oaks, north of West Chicago; Indian Lakes Estates and Conestoga, near Roselle.

Shingles Meet Test

New earth tones and rougher textures are roofing trends, but protection continues to be the roof's primary purpose.

Heavyweight asphalt shingles, weighing 290 or more pounds per 100 square feet of roof area, are available in the newest colors and in rugged textures, including woodgrain effects. The Underwriters' Laboratories label on heavyweights shows the shingles have met stringent tests for fire and wind-resistance.

Systems Building Expo Is Planned

The city hall of Anchorage, Alaska, made waves recently, but there was nothing political about it.

The systems-built structure was manufactured in a California factory, then shipped 2,000 miles by barge for quick on-site erection in Anchorage. This avoided weather problems which often hinder construction in that area. Applications and benefits of systems building will be discussed at the second Industrialized Building Exposition & Congress, Oct. 31 to Nov. 4, at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville.

Goldstein Named MDNA 'Man Of Year'

Harold Goldstein, president of Cadillac Machinery Co., Inc., Elk Grove Village, has been named 1971 recipient of the Machinery Dealers National Association's highest honor, the Randolph K. Vinson Man of the Year Award. The announcement was made during the Association's 30th Anniversary Annual Convention at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas.

In his many years as a member, Goldstein has served as a second vice president, first vice president and, during the MDNA fiscal year 1967-68, as president of the Association. Currently Chairman of the MDNA Permanent Arbitration Committee, Goldstein has concentrated his association activities in the last five years on government affairs.

The Randolph K. Vinson Award is given annually to honor an individual for his efforts on behalf of both the Association and the industry.

Fulle Son Honored

Talbert A. Fulle, son of Cook County commissioner and Mrs. Floyd T. Fulle, 666 Laurel, Des Plaines, was recently named Mr. Future Business Teacher at Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth where he is a senior in the school of business administration.

He gained the title following school competition among those senior students enrolled in the business school.

The annual contest is sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda, national business fraternity and has the objective of recognizing those students most outstanding in the various college and university business schools throughout the nation. Fulle, who is a 1967 graduate of Maine West High School, will receive his BA degree in marketing and business at commencement exercises at Texas Wesleyan in May.

On Dear's List

Paulette Ruwe of Rolling Meadows has been named to the dean's list at North Park College in Chicago.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ruwe, 3001 Thrush Ln.

In Band Concert

John F. Cunningham, 465 N. Stark Dr., Palatine, recently performed with the Large Concert Band at the University of Illinois, Urbana campus, during the second of a pair of 81st Anniversary concerts.

The band played backup for piano soloist Robert Ray of Illinois' School of Music.

Complete Studies

Three Des Plaines residents have completed their degree requirements at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

The students will receive their bachelor's degrees in ceremonies this June.

The three are: Donald Knauss, 1757 Locust, Michael Lorz, 521 Thacker, and Diana Schmidt, 327 Mount Prospect Rd. IWU. She is a 1970 graduate of Maine West High School.

Completes Basic

Airman James M. Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Curtis of 200 N. William St., Mount Prospect, has completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex. He has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base in Texas for training in accounting and finance. Curtis, a 1966 graduate of St. Viator High School, received a bachelor of arts degree last year from Rockford College.

In Concert Choir

Douglas H. Griffin, 105 Flagstaff Lane, Hoffman Estates, appeared with the Northern Illinois University concert choir in a performance before the Music Teachers National Association convention held in Chicago in March. Griffin sings bass in the choir.

In Brass Concert

The Northern Illinois University brass ensemble, under the baton of Wilbur Pursley, recently presented a concert at the Fine Arts auditorium.

Des Plaines resident, Paul Busija, 772 Timothy Ln., is a member of the brass ensemble.

3 Earn Degrees

Three Palatine students recently received diplomas from the University of Illinois, Urbana, for completing their work for a degree.

Receiving diplomas were Michael R. Gershon, 161 Brentwood Dr., James J. Kowalczyk, 933 E. Morris Dr., and David Kramer, 975 W. Glencoe Rd. All have received their diplomas through the mail.

Gershon earned a bachelor of science degree in engineering while Kowalczyk and Kramer earned degrees in liberal arts.

Initiated

William Moehle, 949 S. Warrington, Des Plaines, has been initiated into the local chapter of Blue Key.

Blue Key members are chosen for their contribution to the university and the community. They are recognized for outstanding qualities of leadership, service and scholarship at Western Illinois University.

Graduated

Navy Airman Robert A. Carter of Rolling Meadows has graduated from the Aviation Administration "A" School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center in Memphis.

His wife, Alexis, lives at 3004 Thrush Ln.

Development Is Announced

Gladstone Realty and Development Co. of Elk Grove Village, announced the groundbreaking of the new Sage East apartment development in Lake Geneva, Wis.

There are 20 two-bedroom apartments in this twin building, all electric complex, each having approximately 900 square feet and including carpeting, air conditioning, oven and range, garbage disposal, and cable TV. Parking is provided.

The mayor of Lake Geneva, the president of the local Chamber of Commerce, as well as the Wisconsin Power & Light Co., welcomed this complex. Jerry E. Sigman and John L. Markay of Gladstone Realty and Development Co., chose the site, the architectural design, and arranged for the financing and construction. John F. Paquin and Associates of Rockford is the general contractor.

The financing has been arranged through Fred Walpole, president of Antioch Savings and Loan Association, and the leasing will be handled by Lake Geneva Realty, represented by Nicole Smith. Completion of the complex is scheduled for July 1.

Announce Lancer Groundbreaking

Al Bercher, vice president of Lancer Corp., builders and developers, recently broke ground for a new group of homes to be built in Hillbrook. The new project is on Bartlett Road in Streamwood, two blocks north of Irving Park Road (Rt. 19).

The gold shovel used in the ceremony was presented by Pioneer National Title Insurance Company of Chicago.

The new homes to be built in Hillbrook will be the same three-bedroom models as those already completed in the project. Prices range from $27,500, including lot.

Ranches and raised-ranches are offered, with one-and-a-half baths and one- or two-car attached garage. Exterior finish is offered in a variety of materials and colors. Styling of the homes is classic in design, with special touches such as multi-paned windows, shutters and paneled doors.

Interiors of the Hillbrook models feature full basements and family recreation rooms. Bedrooms are in separate area of the home.

Kitchen and dining areas are combined in an open style — matched woodgrain cabinets; appliances including range and hood, dishwasher and garbage disposer are included.

Among the other features of these Lancer-built homes are full carpeting, aluminum storm windows, paved driveway and seeded lot.

Hillbrook models are open to inspection daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. — on Sunday, Monday and Friday, to 8 p.m.

Lee Gruber Named Regional Sales Chief

Union Camp Corp. has named Lee C. Gruber western regional sales manager of its bag division. He will be headquartered at the company's regional headquarters in Des Plaines.

Gruber of Buffalo Grove, joined Union Camp in 1963. He has held a number of sales and sales management positions in the company's bag division. Most recently, he was a regional account executive.

A native of New Jersey, he is a graduate of The Citadel, Charleston, S.C. and holds an A.B. degree.

Leases Walden Office Square

Romanek-Golub and Company, Chicago real estate and development firm, has been named leasing agent for the Walden Office Square, part of the $200-million Walden development in Schaumburg, William J. Walsh and McCormick Investments, Inc., joint developers, made the announcement.

Howard Berg has been named by Romanek-Golub as director of the Walden Office Square leasing activities.

Walden Office Square will consist of three contemporary five-story buildings, each with 75,000 square feet of office space. The first building is being constructed now, with occupancy planned for early 1972, according to the developers. Each of the identical all-electric buildings will be of reinforced concrete construction on a steel frame. Complete with total climate control systems, the buildings also feature double-paned bronze-tinted windows and will be fully landscaped.

Walden Office Square is situated on the eastern part of the 155-acre Walden development, near one of the four landscaped man-made lakes planned for the total environment complex. Parking for 1,200 cars has been provided for commercial tenants.

Walden is located in Schaumburg on Algonquin Road, west of the Rte. 53 interchange of the Northwest Tollway.

Walden is a joint venture between William J. Walsh and McCormick Investments, Inc., subsidiary of McCormick & Co., Inc. Others participating in the project include: Karl Treffinger & Associates, San Francisco, architects; Sasaki Walker Associates, Sausalito, Calif., landscape architects; Pepper Construction Co., Chicago, general contractor; Robert Gladstone and Associates, Washington, D.C., economic consultants and Blake & Weiss, Chicago, design consultants.

THREE IDENTICAL office buildings will provide a total of 225,000 square feet of space at the Walden Office Square in Schaumburg. The first of the contemporary buildings is now under construction, with occupancy planned for early 1972. Joint developers are William J. Walsh and McCormick Investments, Inc.

Colonial Model A Sales Leader

Research studies done two years ago on the Arlington prototype home indicated that the three-bedroom Dutch-style colonial would be a sales leader, according to Levitt and Sons.

Today's sales figures back up research on the Arlington, which has accounted for more than $2-million in sales at Sheffield Park and represents 23 per cent of all homes sold at the project in Schaumburg.

"Before the Arlington was selected as a production home to be offered at any Levitt community, an experimental prototype model was built so that traffic patterns, materials, room sizes and spatial relationships could be reviewed," said Bob Craig, Levitt's Chicago marketing director. The Arlington was toured and graded by 15 Levitt corporate executives who reviewed a group of five new designs. Because of the extremely high rating received by the Arlington, the model was selected for five communities simultaneously — a commitment to the Arlington design of approximately $3,000,000.

The Arlington family room has been enlarged by 40 square feet; interior trim has been changed from painted wood to a stained colonial style; and exterior siding has been upgraded to aluminum.

Features of the Arlington, which is priced at $34,990, include the recently expanded family room with a beamed ceiling and fireplace, formal dining room also with sliding doors to patio area, an eat-in colonial-style kitchen; and laundry room with matching washer and dryer. The second level is larger than the main

THE LITTLE WOMAN

PROFESSOR PHUMBLE

by Bill Yates

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grossman

He Advertised His Love For Sandy

"Sandy, I love you. Howard." This ordinary love message became extraordinary when its sender posted it on a billboard just north of Palatine.

Howard Grossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grossman of Des Plaines, rented the billboard a year ago while he was stationed in Vietnam while serving in the Army. His message, posted at Rand Rd. near Dundee Rd., was intended for Sandy Niemiec, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Niemiec of Wauconda.

The billboard was in a place where Sandy would see it on her way home from work as a nurse at Holy Family Hospital. But just to make sure, she got a phone call to meet somebody at the appointed spot "and that's how I spotted it," her mother said last week. Sandy's reaction? She was shocked and delighted — and then broke down and cried.

HOWARD AND SANDY'S advertised romance culminated May 22 when the couple wed in a 4 p.m. double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Fremont Center. Rev. Brian Morgan of Transfiguration Parish, Wauconda, presided.

Sandy's maid of honor was Linda Harding, Lake Zurich, and bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Pat Niemiec; Chris Mosser, and the groom's sister, Carolyn Grossman.

Lon Olson, an Army friend of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were a brother, Robert Grossman; the bride's brother, David Niemiec; her cousin, Mike Niemiec; and Bruce Romanek.

A reception for 200 guests was held at Carpenter's Hall in Des Plaines where family and friends enjoyed dinner and dancing.

The couple is spending a week in Florida as a honeymoon and will soon be moving to Indianapolis.

Sandy is a graduate of Carmel High School, Mundelein, and the groom attended Western Military Academy in St. Louis and Harper College, Palatine.

Howard has one and a half years left to serve in the Army. He is currently stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

Folk Songs Featured By Adventure

The Chicago Northwest Chapter of Adventure Unlimited will present Larry Groce, of New York, as featured entertainment June 12 at 8 p.m. in the Barrington High School auditorium, 616 W. Main St.

The program will include a variety of folk songs and hymns. Since his songs are suitable for any age, Adventure Unlimited is highlighting this as a family activity.

Adventure Unlimited is a not-for-profit corporation sponsoring social, recreational and educational activities for young Christian Scientists and their friends.

ORGANIZED IN 1962, it has grown from its initial activity, "College Week," in Colorado in 1964 followed by the first teen event, "Barrington Day" in Illinois in 1965, to a nation-wide organization meeting the needs of young people in many ways.

Sky Valley and Round-Up Ranches at Buena Vista, Colorado have been the center for three-week summer camps, college and high school one-week get-togethers and ski-weeks between Christmas and New Years.

Away-from-camp, canoe trips and tours of Mexico and Europe have been offered.

In 1968 the first local chapters for high school students were formed, directed by local chapter advisors and backed by regional directors. The next year a chapter advisors workshop conference was held in St. Louis with eighty young adults attending.

Now there are four regional directors, supervising 94 chapters with a chapter advisor and an adult committee. The adult committees are made up of church members who have a sincere desire to perpetuate these worthwhile events for teens by contributing their time and energy and by securing financial backing from other interested adults. While the camp activities are entirely self-supporting, the local activities are supported by donations.

THE CHAPTER advisor works with a teen council made up of teens from the Sunday schools in its geographical area including Woodstock, Antioch, Crystal Lake, Elgin, Schaumburg, McHenry, Round Lake, Libertyville, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Barrington.

A brief information show and comments from the teens will precede Groce's performance. Other teens will be acting as hosts and hostesses, ushers, ticket takers, parking lot attendants, etc.

Anyone interested in attending may secure tickets at the door the night of the event. Seats are unreserved. Donation: adults $2, teens $1.50, children under 12 $.75, children under five free.

AND EVERYTHING NICE ABOUT FOOD

A Memorable Picnic

Memorial Day traditionally marks the beginning of the picnic season. Dining out in the open is one of summer's delights, and entertaining even a crowd can be a breeze. And what could be more pleasant setting than your own back yard?

Highly appropriate for simple, good tasting and attractive picnic fare are the flavorful menu companions — ham, potato salad, and iced tea.

The menu has another important asset — it's easy to prepare. Select a fully cooked smoked ham that can be served cold or heated on a rotisserie. If a whole ham exceeds your needs, broil one or more ham slices on the outdoor grill. Serve the ham with a prepared yellow mustard or offer a choice of quick-to-fix complementary sauces.

The potato salad mold can also be whipped up in minutes. It's made with instant mashed potato buds so there's no cooking, peeling and dicing.

Add a tossed green or fresh fruit salad, sliced cucumbers and a favorite ice cream dessert and it's a Memorial Day picnic that will be greeted with enthusiasm and eaten with appreciation.

Smoked Ham — Rotisserie-Style

7 to 10-pound boneless, smoked fully-cooked ham. Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of ham. Balance ham and tighten spit forks. Insert thermometer, angling it so bulb is centered in thickest part of ham. Place on rotisserie and cook at low to moderate temperature to 140 degrees. Allow 15 to 18 minutes per pound; 2½ to 3 hours.

Grilled Ham Slices

2 to 3 smoked ham slices, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick. Place ham slices on grill. Broil at low to moderate temperature, turning occasionally, for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Serve with mustard or a sweet-sour sauce.

Creamy Potato Salad Ring

3 cups water	1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ cup instant minced onion	2 cups thinly sliced celery
2 teaspoons salt	½ cup diced green pepper
½ teaspoon black pepper	¼ cup drained pickle relish
2 envelopes (8 servings each) French's instant mashed potato granules	¼ cup chopped pimiento
1 cup mayonnaise	4 hard-cooked eggs, cut in pieces

Bring water, onion, salt and pepper to a boil. Remove from heat and add instant potato, whipping briskly. Chill. Blend in mayonnaise and mustard, stir in remaining ingredients until evenly distributed. Pack in 1½-quart greased ring mold or other mold. Chill. Turn out on lettuce leaves. 8 to 10 servings.

Mustard Horseradish Whip

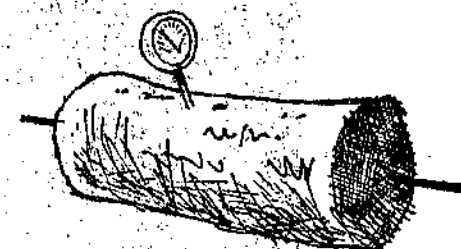

1 cup heavy cream	2 to 3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
3 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard

Whip cream; blend in mustard and horseradish. Chill until ready to serve. Yield: 1½ cups sauce.

Sweet-Sour Sauce

1 tablespoon butter	3 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
1 teaspoon flour	½ cup cider vinegar
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed	¼ cup drained, crushed pineapple
1 egg, beaten

Melt butter; blend in flour. Add sugar, egg, mustard and vinegar. Beat with rotary beater or wire whip until blended. Stir in pineapple. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve hot or cold with baked ham or broiled ham slices. Yield: 1½ cups sauce.

Tips for Rotisserie Roasts

- Insert rod, lengthwise, through center of roast.
- Test for balance by rotating in palm of hands.
- Fasten meat to rod securely with spit forks.
- Insert roast meat thermometer at slight angle so bulb is centered in thickest part of roast but not resting in fat or on rotisserie rod.
- Thermometer must clear cooking unit and drip pan while meat is turning.
- Use low to moderate temperatures for best results.
- Remove rod and let roast set for 15 to 20 minutes for easy carving.

Patio Iced Tea

Using Instant Tea:
For a pitcherful, use 2 rounded tablespoons for each quart of cold water. Stir; add ice cubes.

For Variety:

To each quart of plain iced tea, add any of the following:
1 cup orange juice and ¼ cup honey
1 cup pineapple juice and 2 teaspoons lime juice
1 cup apricot nectar and 1½ tablespoons lemon juice

Rice Sicilian Enhances Any Main Dish

One of the neatest tricks in the book, in a hurry, is to "put on the pot of rice." when it comes to getting a meal together. Just follow directions on the package of your favorite brand of rice. In practically no time, you've solved the problem of what to serve with your main dish — meat, fish or fowl.

Butter the hot rice liberally. Serve it with a smother of gravy, if the meat of the meal calls for it. Or, trick it into a flavorful and colorful "go-with" dish called Rice Sicilian. Onions are tenderized in butter, seasoned with salt, pepper and basil, then flicked with sugar and vinegar. For a bright color accent, add fresh tomato wedges at the last minute.

Serve hot with cold meats — ham, chicken, or ground meat loaf. Or, for the most delicious pairing of all, serve it along with fresh fried, poached, or broiled fish.

RICE SICILIAN

- 1 cup chopped onions
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 2 medium fresh tomatoes, cut in eighths

Saute onions in butter until tender. Blend in wine vinegar, basil, sugar, salt and pepper. Add rice and tomatoes. Heat thoroughly, tossing gently. Makes 6 servings.

Life Can Be Fun When Kids Leave

by JEANNE LESSEM

UPI — Jean Kinney, an author, lecturer and former advertising executive, is an evangelist for the good life a couple can have after their grown children leave home.

That includes cooking for two, after years of cooking for a larger family.

"It's nothing like being a bride," she said in an interview. "Cooking is second nature to you now. You know what your husband likes and you know the right combinations of food. You know what to do when directions say 'cook until done.'"

"Cooking is faster and easier — you're not proving anything any more."

Relax and enjoy this and other newfound freedoms, Mrs. Kinney urged. Many of her suggestions for travel, hobbies and meeting new people are described in her recently published book, "Living With Zest in an Empty Nest" Hawthorn.

A woman, whose children have left home eats and cooks in a different way, she said.

"When a wife isn't working, there's no reason to get up to fix breakfast. I doubt if many men care much. I don't think they eat big breakfasts during the week."

Even when a couple breakfasts together on weekends, there's no pushing at children to eat.

"We're awfully health-conscious," she said. "It's the time of life you like so well you'd like the long haul."

"I've learned how to do things easily. I do lots of casseroles and serve a salad with them — green or sometimes fruit."

"YOU CAN BUY small packages of almost everything, so you don't have to eat leftovers at all. Sometimes I make individual meat loaves and freeze the extra ones."

"Now I skip the baked potato because there's bread in it he meat loaf."

She said she adds extra nourishment to cereals by sprinkling them with dry milk instead of sugar and serving low-calorie non-dairy creamer instead of cream.

Mrs. Kinney and her husband, Cle, an artist, have six grown children. She had two by a former marriage and he had four. Three were in college when the parents married 10 years ago. When the children graduated, the parents had the equivalent of a giant raise — about $8,000 a year they'd been spending on college expenses.

Mrs. Kinney suggested that windfalls such as this can be put to many uses, including remodeling one's home to make it more comfortable when grown children and the grandchildren come to visit.

"WHEN A CHILD leaves, you have extra bedrooms. You can make a kitchen in a closet for very little. You can make one bedroom into a sitting room with a daybed, refrigerator, hotplate, electric percolator and toaster, and keep the other bedroom for the grandchildren.

"Children eat all the time — they're animated sacks, food just drops in."

Mrs. Kinney said she copes with these apparently insatiable appetites by stocking the extra refrigerator with lots of fruit, milk and soft drinks for the grandchildren and breakfast things for the parents. One advantage of this practice: the grandchildren have their own little place and are not underfoot when you're trying to get dinner.

Jean Kinney's meat loaf makes eight individual servings.

Mix 1 pound of ground beef with ½ pound each of ground veal and ground pork, 3 slices of bread mixed with 1 cup of milk, 1 egg, ½ cup of minced raw onion, 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup of walnut meats, chopped, and salt, pepper, sage and celery salt to taste. Because mixture contains pork, pan-broil a tiny meat patty before tasting for seasoning adjustment. Shape mixture into eight small loaves. Cover each with a bacon strip and a thin layer of chili sauce and place in single layer in lightly greased shallow pan. Pour 1 cup of water around loaves and bake in preheated 350-degree oven 1½ hours.

Hawaiian Style Muffins

HAWAIIAN STYLE MUFFINS

1 can (8 ½ oz.) crushed pineapple, drain well, reserve syrup
1 package (17 oz.) nut bread mix
1 egg
½ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup sugar
Maraschino cherries, if desired

Line muffin cups with paper liners or grease and flour the bottoms. In small mixing bowl, combine ½ cup syrup (or add enough water to make ½ cup), dry bread mix and egg. Beat 50 to 70 strokes by hand. Fill muffin cups about 1/3 full of batter. Combine ¼ cup drained pineapple, coconut and sugar. Spoon rounded teaspoon over center of batter and top with maraschino cherry. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes before removing from pan.

Tip: If you can't bake all the muffin batter at one time, cover the bowl until your muffin cups are free to use again. Use batter within 45 minutes.

French Toast Opens Sleepy Eyes

French toast is a breakfast regular in egg, crusty bread covered with a sweet sauce or syrup. Molasses French Toast is a blue-ribbon, best-of-kind version . . . it adapts beautifully to a sophisticated brunch, turns up for the family breakfast as well.

For the company brunch, the meal begins with a fruit compote of orange slices and strawberries. Accompany the French toast with bacon and, if you choose, serve little sweet rolls with the coffee. That's all the menu you need for an elegant little midday party.

MOLASSES FRENCH TOAST

2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons molasses
1/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 to 8 slices day-old bread, cut in half diagonally

Beat together eggs, salt, molasses, milk and vanilla in shallow dish. Heat 2 teaspoons butter in large skillet over moderately low heat. Quickly dip 4 to 6 half-slices of bread, one at a time, into egg-molasses mixture to coat on both sides. Place in skillet and cook slowly until browned on both sides, turning once. Remove to shallow baking pan and keep warm in 250 degree oven. Dip remaining bread slices into egg-molasses mixture and brown in skillet, adding additional butter to skillet as needed. Serve hot with Orange Molasses Sauce and bacon.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE MOLASSES SAUCE

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup molasses
1/4 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Combine all ingredients in small saucepan; simmer 5 minutes. Serve warm over Molasses French Toast.

Frozen Concentrate Adds The Flavor

Meals Will Be Coming Up Oranges

Delicious, nutritious ways to serve and cook with frozen orange concentrate are many and varied. When used thawed and undiluted in recipes, the quick-frozen orange juice enriches with full, fresh flavor and enhances with sunny color.

For a refreshing treat, whip up a bubbling Orange Ice Cream Soda or Orange Nog, frothy with a beaten egg. If any family member doesn't like solid food upon arising, or is in too much of a hurry in the morning, you can solve this breakfast problem with a delicious All-Go Breakfast Shake. Whipped up in a blender, it provides all the necessary morning nourishment. The shake makes a good quickie lunch, too, for mother on her busiest days.

The thawed concentrate is a delectable topping on a colorful Rainbow Fruit Platter that serves as either salad or dessert. Orange Pork Chops make a gourmet dinner entree that's quick and easy to prepare. The concentrate gives rich, sweet flavor to the sauce.

Frozen orange concentrate makes one of the speediest desserts ever: just spoon it over vanilla ice cream. A lusciously light and frothy Orange Chiffon Mold is made with unflavored gelatin, eggs, whipped cream and a whole can of orange concentrate.

With these recipes in your repertoire, your meals will be coming up oranges — with bright, sunny flavor!

ORANGE ICE CREAM SODA

1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Gingerale or carbonated water, chilled

Put 2 tablespoons of the undiluted concentrate into each of 6 tall glasses. Spoon in vanilla ice cream. Fill to top with gingerale. Stir well. Yield: 6 servings.

ORANGE NOG

1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
4 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
Nutmeg
Reconstitute orange juice. Separate one of the eggs; reserve white. Add yolk and remaining whole eggs to orange juice; beat well. Pour into 4 tall glasses. Beat reserved white until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff. Top each glass with mixture; sprinkle with nutmeg. Yield: 4 servings.

ALL-GO BREAKFAST SAUCE

1 cup milk
1 cup orange juice
1 cup corn flakes
1 egg
2 tablespoons maple syrup or honey, optional
Combine all ingredients in blender. Blend until thoroughly mixed, about 1 minute. Serve immediately. Yield: 2 servings.

ORANGE SUNDAAE

Vanilla, chocolate or coffee ice cream
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
Put scoops of vanilla, chocolate or coffee ice cream in serving dishes. Spoon one or two tablespoons of undiluted orange concentrate over each serving. Yield: 6 servings.

RAINBOW FRUIT PLATTER

2 cups frozen grapefruit sections, defrosted
1/4 pound grapes
2 bananas, sliced lengthwise
2 red apples, cut in thin wedges (peel left on)
2 cups frozen melon balls, defrosted
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted

Arrange fruit on serving dish. Spoon undiluted orange juice concentrate over fruit. Other canned, frozen or fresh fruit in season may be used with the grapefruit sections. Yield: 6 servings.

ORANGE CHIFFON MOLD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in top of double boiler to soften. Add salt and egg yolks; mix well. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and gelatin dissolves, about 3 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add undiluted orange concentrate. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in gelatin mixture; fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with orange sections and additional whipped cream if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE PORK CHOPS

1 tablespoon shortening
1 small onion, sliced
6 1-inch thick pork chops
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1 1/2 cups reconstituted frozen orange juice
Melt shortening in skillet; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Remove from skillet. Dredge pork chops in flour mixed with salt. Brown chops on both sides in skillet, turning once,

A Little Taste For Everyone

It's a matter of Taste.

by FRAN HECKART

Choosing a wine is a matter of taste. Ron Cigelnik of Gold Eagle Discount Liquors, 1721 Golf Road, Mount Prospect, aided many wine connoisseurs and many more that weren't pick out their favorite at a recent wine tasting party in the Clubhouse of Alpine Apartments.

Eleven different imported and California wines, along with a mystery wine later identified as Sipo, a Yugoslavian import, were sampled by those who were just curious and others more well versed in vintage.

"Number two is my choice," said one young man. "Stay away from number 11 . . . it tastes just like cough syrup." Comments became more colorful as the party progressed. The wines were more often referred to by number since few in the milling crowd were fluent in Portuguese, French or the other European languages.

Undurraga Pinot, Chile's best red wine, is probably better known as number eight. Chateau Rousseau: There are thousands of "petit Chateaux" in France's Bordeaux, from Chateau Lafite, on down. This "petit" has many of the qualities of its royal neighbors, but not the price. Each of the different wines were listed with a brief description following, as an additional guide for the wine tasters.

This is the first of a series of wine tasting parties Cigelnik hopes to host. "Wine is definitely becoming more popular," said Cigelnik when interviewed, "particularly the more expensive wines." The bottles of wine sampled ranged in price from $1.49 to $2.99. Just to make sure everyone "had a little taste," Cigelnik had 792 bottles on hand.

Petit Rose, Mirassou, a wine Cigelnik discovered on a recent trip to California's vineyard, was shown for the first time in this area at the party. The wine producers made a mistake. They tasted the wine and decided to make more. But there was only one problem . . . it took two years to discover what happened the first time.

Cheese and crackers were available for the true testers who nibbled in between every sip. This is so one wine does not influence the tastes of the next wine.

Six down and five more to sample.

Waist Watcher Shrimp Salad

It is not often one slim-down dish offers so much for so few calories, but it is all here — protein, vegetables, starch, great flavor, and servings so generous they can take a long, beautiful time to eat!

Shrimp and rice are at the heart of it. Shrimp, of course, are all lean and low-calorie (about 150 to the 4½-ounce can), but they contribute the high quality protein needed to hold back hunger between meals. In modest quantities, rice adds only its wallop of fuel and energy. As the saying goes, it is not the starch that fattens but what is spooned over it. And a trick way of cooking the rice gives the whole salad a very satisfying but deceptively rich flavor.

WAIST WATCHER SHRIMP SALAD

1 can (4½ ounces) shrimp
1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
1 garlic clove, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon salad oil
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup vinegar
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2/3 cup uncooked rice
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup sliced scallions or sweet onion
2 cups shredded crisp lettuce
Soy sauce (optional)

Have shrimp and beans chilled in the can. Drain both, reserving the bean liquid. Crush garlic in a large salad bowl. Add oil, mustard, sugar, vinegar, shrimp, and beans. Toss well; refrigerate. Heat bean liquid; add bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved. In a saucepan combine liquid with enough water to make 2 cups. Add rice. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly, uncovered, about 8 minutes or until rice stands above the water line. Reduce heat to lowest point; cover closely and steam 12-14 minutes. Spread rice in a shallow pan to cool, using a fork to separate the grains. Refrigerate 10 minutes or until needed. At serving time, add rice to shrimp and bean mixture; toss together with celery, onion, lettuce. Serve with soy sauce. 4 servings.

What's Thawing For Dinner?

A Simple Memorial Day Brunch

by CHARLOTTE ERICKSON

A simple way of entertaining on Memorial Day is serving a brunch. Have the guests arrive just before noon to catch the mid-day sun.

The brunch can be easily prepared so there's little work for the hostess. Start out with Orange Juice Au Sherbet. If you are having a large group, a fresh fruit bowl would be appropriate. Pumpkin Muffins can be prepared a week or more in advance and simply reheated before serving. A platter of sausages and cooked bacon, along with a platter of scrambled eggs make a nice addition.

ORANGE JUICE AU SHERBET

1 pint orange sherbet
1 small can frozen orange juice

Make orange juice according to directions on the can. Put a small scoop of orange sherbet into six juice glasses and fill with reconstituted orange juice. Serves 6.

Note: When preparing frozen orange juice (use blender) add 2 cans of water and 1 can of vodka.

PUMPKIN MUFFINS

1½ cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ cup vegetable oil
½ cup milk
½ cup canned pumpkin
2 eggs
½ cup light seeded raisins
Sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Measure and add all the dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add vegetable oil and eggs and mix, then gradually add milk. When mixture is well blended add pumpkin and mix thoroughly. Add raisins and fill paper lined muffin tins ¾ full. Sprinkle sugar on top and bake 15 to 18 minutes. Let muffins cool for 5 minutes. Remove from pan and serve.

To serve: Serve muffins with butter or whipped butter and honey. Yields about 14 muffins.

To freeze: Muffins should be completely cooled. Set them on a cookie sheet and freeze. When muffins are frozen, place them in freezer bags, seal, label, date, and return to the freezer. To serve: Place in a 350-degree oven for 5 minutes and serve immediately.

CHICKEN LIVERS EN BROCHETTE

10 chicken livers
4 slices bacon
1 cup rice
4 tablespoons butter
¾ cup chopped frozen onions
2 cups beef bouillon salt and pepper
snipped parsley

Arrange chicken livers on a shallow broiling pan. Broil under high heat for a few minutes. Turn and broil again for another 2 minutes. Set aside to cool. Meanwhile, immerse bacon slices in boiling water for several minutes. Drain and cut bacon slices into thirds. Cover each piece of chicken liver with bacon and thread onto skewer. If chicken livers are unusually large cut in half. Set aside.

Add rice to butter in a large skillet and continue stirring until butter is melted. Add onions and saute until rice is moderately brown. Add bouillon and continue cooking until rice is done.

Just before serving time place skewered chicken livers under broiler or on barbecue for several minutes. Turn and repeat. When bacon is done remove from oven or barbecue.

Spread rice mixture evenly on a large serving platter. Remove meat from skewers onto rice mixture or place skewered meat on top. Salt and pepper to taste. Trim with snipped parsley and serve immediately.

Two-three chicken livers per serving are sufficient when served as an appetizer or brunch.

Mostly For Men

by Charles E. Flynn

by CHARLES E. FLYNN

Fresh strawberries now are virtually a year-around crop with Mexican farmers pouring more than 70 million pounds into United States thus far in 1971 to bolster off-season supplies from Florida and California. A few Louisiana berries trickled into the markets late in April and May.

I'm still partial, however, to what I term local berries from patches in Tennessee, Missouri, Southern Illinois and Indiana in late May and early June and the wonderful Michigan crop which peaks a little farther into summer.

Because strawberries are highly perishable, it's not advisable to purchase large quantities unless you plan to freeze or can them. In general, buy what you can use in a day or two. Check them over and remove any which are spoiled then store unwashed in a refrigerator using shallow trays since their own weight will bruise them.

When ready to use, wash gently and quickly in cold water, then lift out with the hands and allow to dry on paper toweling before removing stems and preparing as per your choice.

Simplest way to serve chilled strawberries is either whole or sliced with sweet cream and powdered sugar. Another popular dish is to serve berries whole with stems attached in a bowl accompanied by separate bowls of brown sugar and sour cream, dipping individual berries into the sour cream then coating with brown sugar.

STRAWBERRIES LENOX is an exceptionally fine dessert. To serve 4 you'll need 2 cups selected, stemmed strawberries. Combine ¼ cup orange juice, ¼ cup powdered sugar, and 4 tablespoons curacao. Mix well. Arrange strawberries in 4 sherbet glasses, pour over sauce and chill in refrigerator. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream and serve.

Strawberries lend admirably to tasty sauces. This one combines berries with fresh rhubarb which should be plentiful now. Wash, trim and dice 2 cups fresh rhubarb. Put in a sauce pan along with ¼ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons water (no more). Cover and cook about 5 minutes or until rhubarb is tender. Allow to cool. Meantime prepare 2 cups sliced fresh strawberries and fold in just before serving. Enough for 4-6 sauce dishes.

A sauce which is excellent over ice cream or cake is made this way. Wash, drain and hull 1 pint strawberries. Cut the rind of half an orange and dice. Place strawberries, orange rind, ½ cup water, 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 1/3 cup sugar (or to taste) in a blender. Turn to high speed for 15 to 20 seconds.

Pour ingredients into a sauce pan and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture come to a boil, clears and thickens. This may be served warm or cold over ice cream or cake.

Roast Lamb Canterbury

Succulent Roast Lamb For First Class Menus

Succulent roast lamb — the favorite food of New Zealanders and Australians — is featured on American Airlines' flights from Chicago to the South Pacific.

A loin of spring lamb, boned to perfection, is stuffed with bright red pimento and green spinach, made all the more tasty with herbs and spices.

It is an elegant dish to set before family or friends. It may be made with a boned loin of lamb, as the airline does it, or with a boned leg of lamb, one of the more economical cuts of meat in today's markets. Once the lamb is boned, it is spread flat and covered with pimentos. Then a layer of chopped spinach is added, and after a sprinkling of spices, the roast is tied for easy roasting and carving. When it is served, its rim of tender, juicy meat encloses the bright red and green surprise stuffing.

ROAST LAMB CANTERBURY

Leg of lamb or loin of lamb, boned (about 4 pounds after boning)
1 jar pimentos (7 ounces), drained
1 package frozen chopped spinach, boiled and drained

¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
Salt and pepper
1 carrot finely chopped
1 stalk of celery finely chopped
1 small onion finely chopped
Rosemary to taste

To prepare lamb for roasting: pre-heat oven to 325 degrees, open lamb flat on work counter so that meat may be stuffed and tied. Onto meat, lay drained pimentos, slit open so that they will lie flat. Drain spinach. Spoon on top of pimentos, making sure spinach covers pimento layer. Sprinkle on nutmeg, garlic salt, salt and pepper to taste. Roll roast together tightly. Tie with sturdy string, so that stuffing is secure. Place chopped carrots, celery and onions in bottom of shallow roasting pan. Place roast on top of vegetables. Sprinkle with rosemary. Roast in oven for 2 hours or until meat thermometer inserted in center of roast registers 175 degrees (medium) or 182 degrees (well done). Strain gravy from pan and serve with roast. Serves 8-10 people.

Mrs. Thomas D. Kajohn, Jr.

Flank Steak For Stroganoff

by LOIS SEILER

You can fool your family into thinking you've been fussing for hours when you serve Beef Stroganoff for dinner. Ordinarily Stroganoff does require extra effort to prepare, but Mrs. Thomas D. Kajohn, Jr. of Buffalo Grove has a simple method that cuts the time and work in half.

Jeri Kajohn uses flank steak for her Stroganoff, browning it with onions and simmering it in consomme. Mushrooms are added, and sour cream is blended in. The dish can be prepared in about 30 minutes.

Jeri serves the stroganoff over rice or noodles and accompanies it with a tossed salad.

For dessert she suggests Peach Cobbler, made by a recipe she acquired from her mother-in-law some 15 years ago. Jeri slices fresh peaches into a pan and sprinkles them with sugar, cinnamon and flour. An easily-made cake batter is dropped by spoonful over the top. After it is baked, the cobbler is served warm with cream.

Several years ago her butcher advised Jeri of an interesting method for preparing a leg of lamb. It quickly became one of her specialties for entertaining guests.

The butcher removes the bone from the leg of lamb and in its place inserts a whole pork tenderloin. The roast is tied with string.

Jeri rubs the roast with half a lemon or orange to cut the strong lamb flavor and bakes it wrapped in foil. Black coffee and rum is used to baste near the end of the cooking time.

"EVEN PEOPLE who don't ordinarily like lamb enjoy it prepared this way," Jeri remarked. She recommends serving it with mint jelly, potatoes, a vegetable and salad.

This good cook loves to try new recipes, and credits her family with being her inspiration. Her husband, Tom, and children, Chuck, 14, Sharon, 12, and Tommy, 3, relish good food and appreciate her culinary endeavors.

But cooking is only one of Jeri's many interests. For over three years she has attended a weekly ceramics class, she knits and crochets, and sews everything from clothes to curtains and slipcovers.

The Kajohn family have been residents of Buffalo Grove for 12 years. They live at 241 Rosewood Ave.

BEEF STROGANOFF

1½ pounds flank steak
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup onions, chopped or sliced
¼ cup butter or oil
1 can (10½ ounces) consomme
1 pound fresh mushrooms or 1 8-ounce can, sliced
½ pint sour cream or Sour Supreme

Cut flank steak on the diagonal in thin strips and then into bite-size pieces. Dredge meat in flour and seasonings. Brown in butter or oil with onion. Cover and simmer five minutes.

Add soup and mushrooms. Cover and cook until mushrooms are tender, about five minutes. Uncover and cook until meat is tender, about 20 minutes. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Serve over Cooked rice or noodles. Serves 4 to 6.

PEACH COBBLER

Fruit mixture:
3 cups fresh peaches, peeled and sliced

2/3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Place the peaches in an 8-inch round cake pan. Sprinkle with sugar, flour and cinnamon. Prepare the following batter:

1 cup flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup vegetable shortening
3 tablespoons milk
1 egg

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening as you would for pie dough. Add milk and egg and mix with a fork. A little more milk may be added if dough is too stiff.

Drop by spoonful over fruit mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with Half and Half poured over individual servings. Serves 8 to 10.

LEG OF LAMB

Have butcher remove bone from a leg of lamb. In place of the bone, insert a whole pork tenderloin. Wrap up with string.

One half hour before putting in oven, rub roast with half of a lemon or orange, squeezing out juice as you rub. Sprinkle with garlic powder, salt and pepper. Let set for half hour.

Wrap in foil and bake in slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees, until meat thermometer registers rare or until a half hour before roast is done, figuring 35 minutes per pound.

Open foil and baste with ½ cup black coffee and 1 jigger of rum. (Rum is optional.) Baste frequently the last half hour of roasting time. Serves 8 to 10.

A gravy can be made by combining 2 tablespoons cornstarch with ½ cup cold water and stirring into the pan liquids. Cook until gravy is thick and smooth.

BEEF STROGANOFF can be simple-to-make. Jeri Kajohn's recipe requires only 30 minutes preparation time. She simply browns flank steak, simmers it in consomme, and adds mushrooms and sour cream. The stroganoff can be served over rice or noodles.

Call (312) 394-2400 Before I joined the Payroll Savings Plan, all I could save was string.  When it comes to saving money, most of us can use all the help we can get. Joining the Payroll Savings Plan is one easy way to force yourself to save. When you sign up, an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's automatic. Everything is done for you. And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds — for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2% payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds. Stick with the plan and before you know it you'll have a bankroll waiting. That's when you'll find you can do a lot more with money than you can with string.  Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity. *The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. *The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. *The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement.

How Kidney Stones Develop and Grow

3 Big Factors Are Involved

Kidney stones have been around a long time — thousands of years, in fact. The earliest medical writings accurately describe the symptoms of kidney colic, and archaeologists have found kidney stones in the remains of Egyptians dating back to 5000 B.C.

Curiously enough, the ancient stones are of precisely the same composition as those which appear today. So — does this mean we must just grin and bear it, as the Egyptians presumably did?

No. Although there are still a good many mysteries about these strange rock-like objects, a good deal can be done for those they afflict. Here's a comprehensive review.

Q—Is a kidney stone really a stone?

A—Definitely, yes. It is composed of several substances, singly or in combination, including uric acid, and the urates, phosphates and oxalates of calcium and magnesium. It is a hard concretion much like a stone in nature.

Q—How does it start?

A—As a collection of tiny crystals in the urine secreted by the kidney. Ordinarily, these salts remain in solution, but when some abnormal relationship develops, they no longer remain dissolved. They come out of solution as a precipitate of microscopic crystals, and formation of the stone begins.

The stone grows slowly as more salts are precipitated onto its surface, in much the way a ball of wool grows larger as more strands are wound around it. A protein material acts as a cement, firmly gluing the tiny particles together into a larger and larger mass.

Q—What makes this happen?

A—The exact cause is not known, but three factors play important roles.

The first of these is an altered or faulty metabolism — that is, the process by which the body burns and utilizes food. When the metabolism is abnormal, we have the foundation for stone formation, for example when the body cannot properly handle certain substances called purines, found in certain foods.

Another important factor is obstruction to the normal outflow of urine. If there is a block anywhere along the urinary drainage system, the urine backs up behind it with resultant stagnation and precipitation of salts. Such an obstruction may be due to faulty kidney position or a narrowing of the outlet from the kidney.

The third factor is kidney infection, or pyelitis, which frequently develops when the outflow of urine is obstructed. The infection causes the urine to become alkaline, and this, in turn, increases the precipitation of urinary salts. On the other hand, high acidity of the urine favors the precipitation of uric acid. The complexity of this situation has long hampered research into the means of preventing the formation and growth of stones.

Q—How large do kidney stones get?

A—They vary in size from that of a pinpoint to that of a baseball, and may weigh up to several pounds.

Q—Is kidney stone formation more frequent in some areas of the world?

A—Yes. There are several so-called "stone areas," for example South China and India. In the United States, kidney stone formation is more frequent in Florida, Southern California and the Great Lakes regions.

Q—Do animals suffer from kidney stones?

A—Yes, they do. Stones are found in the urinary tracts of horses and pigs. They have also been found in cats, cows and sheep, and even wild animals, for example the elephant, bear and monkey.

Q—What is "kidney colic?"

A—This develops when the stone enters the ureter, which is the channel leading from the kidney to the bladder. There is sudden severe, knife-like pain in the loin and radiating down and around to the lower part of the abdomen or thigh. It can be so intense that the physician finds it necessary to inject morphine or other narcotic to relieve it.

The pain comes because the ureter is a narrow tube, with an inside diameter no bigger than a matchstick. Therefore, if a stone about the size of a pea enters the ureter it cannot readily descend. It produces the severe pain, can tear the delicate lining of the ureter and thus can cause blood to appear in the urine. If the stone passes into the bladder, there is dramatic relief. However, if it remains in the ureter, the knife-like pain is apt to recur at intervals for days or weeks.

Q—Is there any relationship between gallstones and kidney stones?

A—None whatsoever. They are chemically different. One never finds uric acid-gallstones or cholesterol kidney stones. A kidney stone can never form from a gallstone, and vice versa. Two sets of body organs are involved: gallstones form in the gallbladder and are related to liver problems, while kidney stones form in the kidneys or urinary bladder.

It is possible for a patient to have both gallstones and kidney stones with, perhaps, some fault of metabolism involved in both cases.

Q—How can I tell whether I have a stone?

A—It will make its presence felt in several different ways. There may be an indefinite feeling of weight or discomfort on the right or left side of the loin — the area just under the last rib, about two inches from the midline of the back. There also may be tenderness in the same region, but none of this discomfort is severe enough to be called pain. The urine may contain blood, or pus if infection is present. There may be slight fever, frequent urination, or bladder discomfort.

Q—Can you tell whether the stone will be expelled or not?

A—The size and shape of the stone will determine this. An X-ray will show these two characteristics as well as the position of the stone. Often, in addition to a simple X-ray, the physician will inject a special dye in order to outline the ureter itself as well as the stone.

Q—Once the kidney stone has passed or has been removed, can another form?

A—Yes. Since our knowledge of the origin of the stones is incomplete, our ability to prevent their reformation is impaired. Each case of kidney stones must be handled individually. The physician may prescribe certain medication to overcome kidney infection, or he may recommend a specific diet. General measures may be taken in the effort to prevent reformation of stones. These include taking large amounts of water — about 8 to 10 glasses a day — eating a well-balanced diet that includes meats, vegetables and vitamins, and avoiding restricted diets limited to only one type of food. In addition, colds and other infections must be treated promptly, and constipation must be avoided.

Q—Does X-ray fail to see some stones?

A—Yes. Unfortunately, as many as 25 per cent of all stones do not contain enough calcium to be seen by X-ray, giving the physician a greater problem in both diagnosis and treatment.

Q—What is a "silent stone?"

A—This is one which has produced no pain or other symptoms but has continued to grow to a large size, damaging the kidney wherein it lies.

Q—What is a cystoscope, and how is it used in treating kidney stones?

A—This is a tube-like instrument which can be likened to a periscope, with extra advantages because the doctor can perform manipulative procedures through it. For example, a fine tube called a urethral catheter can be passed up through the bladder into the ureter via the cystoscope. There the catheter can be stretched or dilated so that the ureter itself is dilated. Many small stones will pass spontaneously through the enlarged passage. In fact, approximately 75 per cent of all stones may be "fished out" in this fashion, without the need for surgery.

Q—Do most kidney stones appear in middle age?

A—Yes. Most cases are found in the 30-50 age group, although children and the elderly do not always escape.

Q—Do race and sex make a difference?

A—Yes. The Negro is almost entirely free of the problem. It affects more men than women. And in men, stones are frequently found in the bladder, while this is rare in women.

Q—What happens if a stone is too big to pass down the ureter or to be "fished out?"

A—Then surgery is indicated. Fortunately, with modern-day use of new drugs and with the perfection of operative techniques, surgery in the vast majority of cases is both safe and successful. The site of the incision depends on the location of the stone, in the kidney or the ureter. Sometimes it is not possible to remove only the stone, since the kidney may have been so badly damaged that it, too, must be taken out. But the patient should be reassured by the fact that he can live just as long as a person with two kidneys. When one is removed, the remaining one easily shoulders the burdens and performs the work of both.

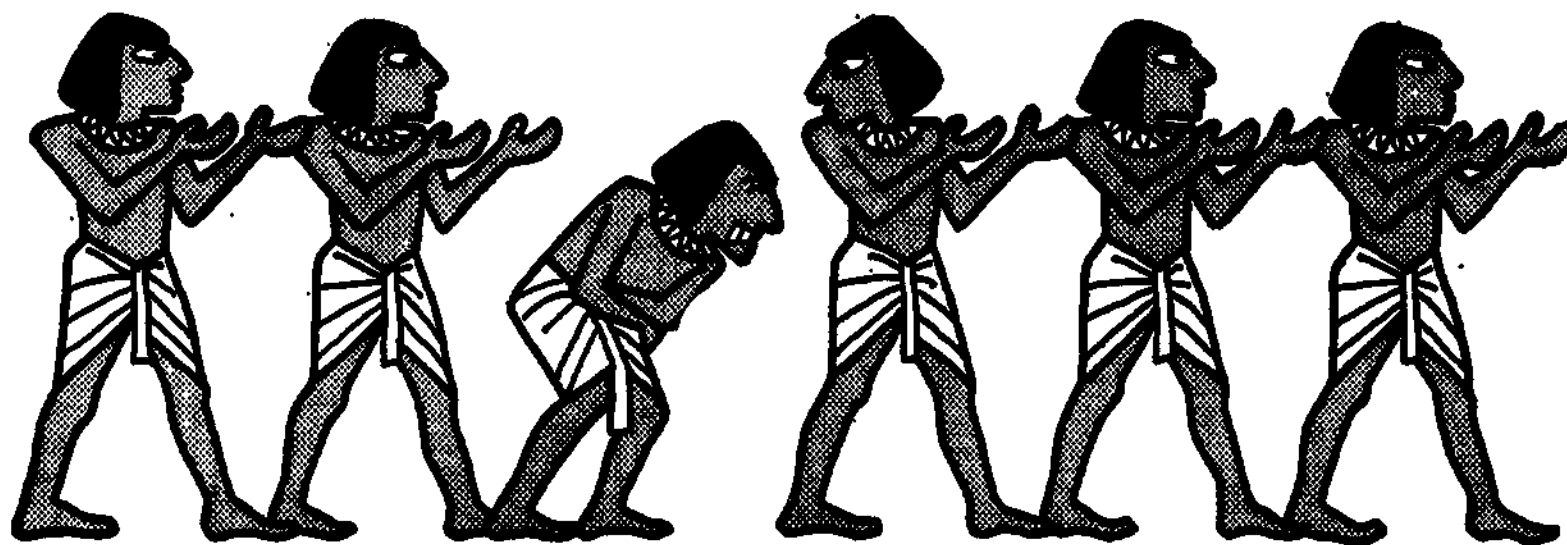

Q—Is there a medicine which can dissolve kidney stones?

A—No. There are no medicines known to science which can do this. Neither medicines given by mouth nor those given by injection can make stones disappear.

Q—Does heredity play a significant role?

A—This hasn't been proven. However, occasionally several members of a family will develop stones. Only in a rare form, called cystine stone, is there a specific heredity tendency.

Baker Moves To Retain Powers Of Appointment

by JERRY THOMAS

Hanover Park Village Pres. Richard Baker admits he is "confused" about his board of trustees adoption of an ordinance taking away his appointive powers and stated he will "go to the courts if necessary to retain them."

Residents April 20 approved the managerial form of government and on May 20 the board of trustees adopted an ordinance establishing this type of government and giving the manager full appointive powers. The ordinance was first proposed May 6 by Trustee Thomas Evert, and was drawn up for him by Atty. Norman Samelson. At that same session Village Atty. William Davies proposed an ordinance, however Davies leaves appointive powers to the president.

"Adoption of Samelson's ordinance came as a surprise," said Baker. Both ordinances have been in the hands of a third attorney, Lou Ancel, reputed to be a municipal law expert.

"Both attorneys state their ordinances are according to state statute and I convinced the board Ancel's interpretation should be sought," said Baker. Ancel said he has just received the ordinances and the board's request. Ancel assigned the ordinances to a staff member for analysis and will have his recommendation ready in a few days.

Ancel, informed that the board adopted Samelson ordinance said he did not understand the development but would still deliver "his best opinion as requested by the village."

BAKER SAID THE board did not decide at the last session to disregard their motion to seek an opinion from Ancel.

"We can always rescind the ordinance and we do not know what Ancel will suggest," said Baker.

Attorneys Davies and Samelson both quoted state statute to support their ordinances. Davies claims his ordinance is brief, designated the adoption of a village manager and gives the manager only those appointive powers state statutes allow. Since Hanover Park is not an aldermanic form of government it does not have to give the manager full appointive power, Davies said. He urged the board to work in committee before outlining the powers and duties of a manager.

A board of trustees can limit the manager's powers as long as they stay within state statute, he added.

Samelson is also firm in his interpretation. The statutes say a managerial government approved by referendum automatically vests a manager with full appointive powers, said Samelson.

THE TRUSTEES, as legislators of the village, must decide whose ordinance they will adopt, said Samelson. "They can also limit the manager's powers if they so decide, however the ordinance I proposed was in my opinion one the state statute calls for," he added.

A poll of neighboring villages shows varying opinions and interpretation of the statute.

L. A. Hanson, village manager in Arlington Heights for 13 years, does not appoint the village attorney but appoints everyone else.

Hanson believes that to be effective, a manager must be a true administrator, leaving legislation to the board of trustees. "Without the appointive powers, I would be ineffective and a glorified office boy," he stated.

"I may have the power of appointment but I must also satisfy the board of trustees and president and my administration must be without reproach. If not I get fired," said Hanson.

STREAMWOOD ALSO established the managerial form of government by referendum. Davies wrote the ordinance that outlined the manager's power and duties in that community.

Streamwood Mgr. John Petrie appoints department heads, but the president and board appoint the treasurer, attorney and engineer. Petrie's recommendation is asked, and he is considered the administrative head of the village.

Mount Prospect also has a referendum approved managerial form of government. The acting village manager, according to ordinance, appoints all department heads. However, since 1968 when the referendum was approved, only one appointment, that of a deputy clerk, has been made by the acting manager.

Shortly before the referendum the consulting engineer, attorney and treasurer were appointed by the board of trustees and president. These same appointments are still in effect. The Mount Prospect deputy clerk said no reappointments have been made since then.

In Hoffman Estates the board adopted the manager form of government several years ago, has no manager but does have an administrative assistant. All appointive powers are still in the village president's hands.

Davies said within a 30 mile radius of Hanover Park varying degrees of power have been given village managers substantiating his interpretation that the duties of a manager may be established by the board of trustees and president "as long as the statute is followed."

FIRST FLOOD, then salt. Mrs. Charles Holmes stands in her yard, which was "completely destroyed" by the two plagues, flowing from the village parking lot behind her.

Largest Salt Deposit In Town Yard Flooding To Be Discussed

by NANCY COWGER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes live in the midst of what may be the largest salt deposit in the Village of Schaumburg.

The deposit is not a natural one. It was left in their yard at 1232 W. Somerset Ln. by runoff water from the village parking lot. The salt, used to thaw ice in the lot last winter, did its job well. It freed the water to find its lowest level, the Holmes' back yard.

The flood this spring is nothing new to Mr. and Mrs. Holmes. It happens each year. But 1971 is the first year the village used salt in its lot. The flood brought the salt with it, and as water evaporated, a residue remained.

When the village park district's board members meet tonight, village engineers and village board members are to discuss the matter with them, and try to find a solution to the situation. It may not be easy. Both boards agree the Holmes' are not responsible for their problem. They differ on how much of the responsibility lies with the village, and how much falls to the park district.

THE PARK DISTRICT is prepared to do something to correct the situation in the future. But Mr. and Mrs. Holmes still are left with a serious problem.

Coated white, the Holmes' yard is full of dead grass, trees, shrubs and flower plants. Holmes has receipts showing $400 worth of plantings have been killed by the salt, or by the annual spring flood. And it is a flood. A picture taken of the daughter standing in the yard last year shows water nearly up to her knees.

The $400 hurts, but it is not the worst result of the salt problem. Nick Ivy, a representative of Nelson Realtors who examined Holmes' property within the last two weeks, said the salt had knocked $6,000 off the value of the home and lot. Similar homes in similar lots are selling for around $29,000 or $29,500, he said. "That home wouldn't sell for any more than $23,500 in the condition it is," said Ivy.

The loss in value need not be permanent, said Ivy, but correcting the situation could cost between $1,000 and $1,500.

THE HOLMESES would have to remove all topsoil affected by the salt, said Ivy, because the salt will have seeped deep in the soil. The lot would need resodding, he said. "The entire parcel would have to be taken care of," he commented, because "the entire premises, the lawn and all vegetation, is completely destroyed."

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes moved to Schaumburg in Sept. 1966. It was a comparatively dry year, and at that season the flooding was not evident, they said. In 1967, they learned about the water flow. The water was deep, and while grass did not grow well, some harder weed varieties did, leading some of his friends to nickname the place the "kelp bed," or suggest he plant rice.

He and other residents of the block, who also experienced the problem, complained to the village. That spring a four-inch drain tile (clay pipe) was laid in a trench running from near the lot to Braintree Drive, at the east side of a vacant field just east of Great Hall.

Everything was fine that summer, said Holmes, and stayed that way until the park district put a baseball diamond in the field in 1969.

WHEN THE BACKSTOP was installed the drain tile was broken, and became inoperable.

Holmes said he has discussed his problem with two board members, James Guthrie and Raymond Kessell, during the past six months. He said he attended two meetings of village board members and precinct captains, explaining his problem. He received replies like "there are no drainage problems in Schaumburg," or "everyone has a drainage problem and we'll just have to live with it," he said.

Holmes does not want to "live with it," but does not want to make trouble with the village board or the park board. He does not want to jeopardize a softball field for Schaumburg's young people, nor does he want notoriety, and is hesitant to discuss some aspects of his problem.

But he does want to see the tile fixed, and believes he should not suffer heavy financial loss from a situation over which he's had no control.

Paul Derda, park district superintendent, said he and the park board recognize that the park district has some responsibility in the matter. The district will not only repair the tile, but will replace it with one double the size, paying about $1,500 to do the job.

DERDA CONTENDS the tile never was adequate, and the village should have curbed around the catch basin, which it did not do. But the park district did not create the situation, he said. "The problem of runoff from the parking lot has been existing here for several years." The park district does not even own the field, and did not spread the salt that left the Holmes' lot a wasteland.

Independence Day Unit Presents Plaque

The Village of Hoffman Estates was presented a plaque of appreciation this week by the village's Independence Day Committee (IDC), which each year plans a parade and Fourth of July activities.

The plaque cited the village and its officials for "the generous and meaningful help," offered the committee each year.

"I know after every parade, it's said there'll be a bigger one next year. I'm sure the event will be bigger this year," said Mayor Frederick Downey, accepting the award.

"The Independence Day Committee group is to be commended for the event, a benefit to Hoffman Estates and surrounding communities," he added.

Last year's celebration drew an estimated 30,000 persons. The parade and special events will be held this year on July 5, said John Smith, IDC president.

A Big First For Schaumburg Fire Department

by NANCY COWGER

Victoria Lynn Stallone may become the youngest female in history to be named an honorary fireman.

Vickie Lynn, born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stallone of 1425 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, already has received a bouquet of flowers in recognition from the Schaumburg Fire Department.

The honors rise because Vickie Lynn is the first baby delivered by a Schaumburg fireman. She was born at home, with assistance from firefighters Bob Keats and Gerald Clarke and police officer Charles Barr.

"It's a great feeling to bring something into the world," Keats said. As a member of an ambulance crew, he said, much of his work involves auto accidents and illness, and delivering the baby was a thrilling honor.

He and Clarke have attended seminars on emergency birth at St. Alexius Hospital, said Keats, so they knew what had to be done. They were not nervous until the birth was over, and the impact of what had happened hit them.

Keats and the other firemen have been talking it over, he said, and they would like to present Vickie Lynn with a plaque, making her an honorary member of the department.

Mrs. Stallone, who now is at St. Alexius, was pleased with the flowers, and would be with the plaque, but nothing could compare with her pleasure at seeing the firemen arrive, she said. "I was just so happy the fire department was there. They were just great," she said.

Vickie Lynn was just two days early, and Mrs. Stallone said she did not realize she was in real labor until minutes before the birth. Her husband called the fire department, and the ambulance came in record time, she said.

The new baby, 19 1/2 inches long, weighed in at six pounds, 15 ounces. She has dark hair. The Stallones have an older son, Michael, 6, who was taken to a neighbor's house when things began to happen. Stallone is a truck driver. The family has lived in Schaumburg 4 1/2 years.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $50,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:

	HIGH	LOW
Atlanta	76	55
Boston	79	60
Houston	82	73
Los Angeles	78	61
Miami Beach	82	78
New York	90	67
Phoenix	97	66
San Francisco	58	51
Tampa	88	70
Washington, D.C.	79	59

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

SETTING THE TABLE for dinner is no small task, when 200 people are expected. Bob Stampf of Schaumburg, a student at James B. Conant High School works in the Brandywine Restaurant in Elk Grove where this year's "Employer-Employee Banquet" is being held Thursday. As part of the schools vocational program he works as a bus boy but Thursday gets to be a guest — after he sets the table.

Tonight Is Bus Boy's Night Out

by JERRY THOMAS

"You are cordially invited to attend the Employer-Employee Banquet," say the engraved invitations to tonight's dinner planned by students in the cooperative vocational education program at Conant High School in Hoffman Estates.

In small letters in the left hand corner the invitation says "R.S.V.P.," for one student, Bob Stampf, of Schaumburg, the French "responde, silvous plait" is the most important part of the invitation. Stampf needs to know exactly how many bosses and workers will attend this annual occasion that brings together the students and their employees.

Why? Because it's his job to set the table for dinner.

Stampf works in the Brandywine Restaurant where this year's dinner for over 200 is being held.

His job is just one of many that students from Conant have found themselves working at as part of their training for various types of employment.

"I'm a bus boy at Brandywine," said Stampf when asked what he does. Stampf will be a guest tonight but as the Elk Grove Restaurant prepares for the banquet he is one of the workers.

It is Stampf's responsibility to place 200 table-settings, arrange the speakers table and podium if needed and see to it that microphones and any additional equipment necessary is working and in place.

Sue Martino banquet manager for Brandywine said Stampf has worked with her for about a month and shows a real interest in his job.

"Bus boys don't just fill a water glass, you know," she said.

All the preparations for a sit-down dinner for 200 are his responsibility. He begins with an empty room and sets up tables and chairs; linens, silverware and dishes must all be in place and spotless.

"Thursday night Bob and I can relax and be guests but if he were working the banquet room it would be his responsibility to stay with the party, satisfying every need and request until the dinner is over.

"He's not done then, that's when he'd clear and clean the room for the next banquet," said Miss Martino.

Christopher Ferro, distributive education coordinator at Conant High School said the dinner is the school's and student's way of thanking employers in the community who have contributed by supporting the school's vocational program. Students like Bob, interested in the food and restaurant business, got a rare opportunity to learn the business, by actual work, said Ferro.

In addition to classroom training there is no better way to learn than by work, staff members believe.

Stampf agrees, "I like to work with people, and am interested in the management level of this type of business. I've learned a lot here."

"I hope to someday manage a large motel," he added.

"It is important to know every phase of any service operation and I know today that bus boys do a lot more than I thought they did. Every job in a service establishment contributes to the general picture," Stampf said.

During the banquet outstanding students will be honored for their accomplishments this past year.

"Maybe I won't get an honor award but I have been getting paid while I've been learning my job and that's a pretty satisfying feeling," said Stampf.

"It will be different sitting down with my boss Miss Martino and watching another bus boy take over Thursday," said Stampf. Miss Martino reports she too is looking forward "to just watching someone else take over."

Hospital Site Affected

Delay Action On Development Plan

Action approving J. Emil Anderson & Sons Planned Unit Development (PUD), which could provide Schaumburg with a potential hospital site, was delayed until June 22 by village trustees.

In the next few weeks, at the suggestion of Trustee Jack Larsen, a meeting of the village's entire hospital committee will be scheduled.

Administrators of 13 Northwest suburban hospitals plus members of Hoffman Estates ad hoc hospital planning committee will also be invited to attend the discussion.

Following three public hearings held since February, members of the zoning board of appeals voted (four-to-three) in favor of recommending village board approval of the PUD on a 57-acre Schaumburg Road site which would be developed as a hospital and medical complex plus accompanying residential buildings.

In the residential sector of the complex, a total of 567 townhouses and apartments, which according to the developer will house hospital personnel, would be constructed.

SHOULD THE hospital committee be unable to foster support for a hospital, the developer has agreed to other public use of the site which might include a park, police station or other facility with strict exception to a public works garage.

An additional five acres will be set aside, but not donated, for future hospital expansion should that be found necessary.

A list of recommendations, set out by the zoning board, which includes a $92,300 donation to Dist. 54, installation of a well on the 20-acre site, installation of a retention pond on the same site, was, however, deemed acceptable to his client by Johnson.

In answer to a suggestion made by Mayor Robert O. Atcher, Johnson said he believes his clients will also consider deeding over the land donation to the village rather than the hospital committee.

Deeding the land to the village is preferable because comments have been made that Harold Anderson, of the development firm, Paul Brandel, the land owner, and Ward Weaver, chairman of the hospital committee are all involved in the Schaumburg State Bank.

ANDERSON AND Brandel are bank directors, while Weaver is president of the bank.

Trustee Herb Aigner attempted, without success, to explore possible avenues of financing being considered for the project with particular reference to Federal Housing Authority (FHA) Title 236.

Asked specifically by Aigner, Tuesday night, if the developer would be willing to state specifically that federal subsidy

Jack Pahl Will Resign On Monday

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board.

Trustee Charles Zetek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week. He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office. He laughed when he made the latter comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL WAS elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glab when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection in 1969 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Timbercrest Homeowners Continue Opposition

A group of Timbercrest Homeowners Association members oppose construction of a hospital on a Schaumburg Road site and are continuing their fight against the proposal and an accompanying Planned Unit Development (PUD).

Mrs. Carol Johnson told Schaumburg village board members Tuesday night that her group not only opposes the 20-acre site proposed for donation by J. Emil Anderson & Sons, developers, but also the PUD as two separate units.

Although village officials and others involved have insisted that before any work leading to an eventual hospital can be done they must have a site, Mrs. Johnson said her investigation has proved otherwise.

"I talked with people in Northbrook today where Mr. Anderson and Paul Brandel (owner of the land) also propose a hospital and learned that that zoning board of appeals has not yet acted but that papers have been applied for from the Hospital Planning Council for Metropolitan Chicago," she said.

MRS. JOHNSON said she has also learned the state would be willing to research the idea and work with the proposed hospital's committee and interested doctors to help with a feasibility study "all of which can be accomplished before any action has been taken by the zoning board of appeals or the village board."

is not planned, Johnson said he could not say "because of being subjected to possible criminal prosecution."

The developer has continued to maintain that he is not certain of financing methods to be employed. When further pinned to the point this week by Schaumburg Atty. Jack M. Siegel, Johnson said

Rodney Johnson, an attorney for the developer, said the Northbrook project has been in planning for three years.

Johnson said the recommended site has been given "more or less" approval and is included in a PUD approved in 1961 by Northbrook trustees.

"We are now before the board for variations that are necessary in the zoning ordinance but it is true that work can be done before obtaining ownership of a site although groups responsible must see plans and projections all of which are costly," Johnson explained.

Mayor Robert O. Atcher noted that "this is generally done with donated money and it is hard to get this type of thing."

BOB MEADE, another Timbercrest resident, expressed concern about the number of children which will generate from the proposed PUD estimated at 259 by the developer.

Although Meade said he is cognizant of the $92,300 donation being made to Dist. 54 by the developer, he is concerned about possible overcrowding of schools and eventual double shifting.

"As a citizen, I want an answer about what the school board plans to do because, as I see it, this donation would only just about cover teachers' salaries for these children for one year," Meade said.

Trustee Jack Larsen suggested that the resident approach Dist. 54 for an answer. Meade said he attempted that method "and didn't get my hand up fast enough at the school board meeting."

Mrs. Willard Murphy, a resident of the Weathersfield subdivision, provided the board with a soil analysis which revealed findings far different from those presented by the developer concerning buildability of the 20-acre site proposed for donation.

According to Trustee Herb Aigner, a neighbor of Mrs. Murphy's who asked her to present the material to the village board, "the study and its accompanying map does not coincide or compare with the developer's information and appears to contain more unbuildable land than reported."

MRS. MURPHY said area girl scouts need a day camp and said "what's left of Sarah's Grove (original name of land in the area of the 20-acre site) must be preserved" to maintain an environmentally healthy community.

She also cited areas in the eastern section of the village that should also be preserved as nature areas due to the present population strains.

"If I can't stand here and argue for beauty . . . then this is a lopsided village," she said, though agreeing with the mayor's recent prediction that three hospitals will be necessary in the area in years to come.

has assured me that there will be no Title 236 housing involved."

Johnson agreed that the planned meeting is an acceptable idea but said he hoped the entire group would not "become mired into an investigation which could last six or so months."

John O'Dell Has Resigned Post In School Dist.

John O'Dell, assistant to the superintendent in High School Dist. 211, has resigned his position to become superintendent of Century Unit School District in Ulin Ill.

O'Dell, who has been a district administrator for two years will leave Dist. 211 June 15 and begin his new duties in Ulin July 1.

In his letter of resignation, O'Dell said his work in the district "has greatly enriched my background and brought me into contact with some extremely competent educators."

"Undoubtedly, the experiences gained in this district will enable me to meet the challenge of providing an effective education for youngsters," he added.

John O'Dell

O'Dell received a doctorate degree in school administration from Indiana University in January, 1970.

Before coming to Dist. 211 in 1969, he had a research assistantship on school finance at Indiana. He has been an assistant principal and high school science teacher.

O'Dell's resignation will be considered tonight by the Dist. 211 board of education.

Panel Eyes Ice Cream Vendor Issue

Ice cream vendors parking near schools and cars parking in apartment complex fire lanes were subjects of concern at the Hoffman Estates judiciary committee meeting, Tuesday.

Police Chief John O'Connell will be asked to individually survey each school in Hoffman Estates and post no parking signs a safe distance from buildings to keep ice cream vendors away, said Trustee Edward Hennessy, judiciary committee chairman.

The individual postings, requiring village board approval, is an alternative to a proposal that a 500 foot radius be set around schools where the vending of foods would be forbidden. O'Connell made the 500 foot recommendation to the village board this week.

Hennessy said each school building represents a special problem and should be handled as such. The action to regulate food vendors near schools comes after a petition was submitted by District 54 parents. The petition claimed ice cream vendors are creating a hazard to children when large groups gather around their trucks near schools.

Any ordinance adopted will not be effective before the end of this school year because of publication requirements, village officials advise.

In an attempt to end parking in fire lanes at apartment buildings, the judiciary committee will recommend the village adopt a policy of writing tickets.

Aware of legal advice that tickets are unenforceable on private property, Hennessy said, "if a guy gets a ticket he'll pay it or it will be dismissed in court."

"In the meantime we'll try to negotiate to get some legal clarification of our rights. As it stands now it's just a necessity," he added.

"If there's a fire, there'll be hell to pay," Hennessy said about cars blocking fire lanes at apartment buildings.

"It's time to take the bull by the horns," he added.

Apartment dwellers will be given notice of intent at least a week in advance of the date the ticket writing begins, he added.

The village's inability to enforce tickets issued on private roads in Hoffman Estates has held up approval for a quadruminium development at the Barrington Square development, Higgins and Barrington Road.

A model quadruminium has been constructed but development of 256 units at the development has not begun because village board approval has been withheld.

K&B officials said this week they'll work through a lobby in Springfield to alter the "no tickets of private property" statute.

An alternative for K&B would be to dedicate private streets and turn arounds to the village. Costs the village would assume by accepting responsibility the streets maintenance is being investigated this week.

Attorney Asks Nefeld Bond Be Set

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 28, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin; Joseph LaPlaca, a 48-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

Set Bicycle Registration Program For Next Month

A registration program for bicycles will be initiated next month by the Village of Wheeling.

The new program, which will help village police recover stolen bicycles and provide safety checks for bicycles in the village, will be free for all local residents.

The village board has directed that an ordinance requiring all bicycles to be registered be prepared by the village attorney. The board is expected to approve the new ordinance at its June 7 meeting.

Police reported that between 180 and 200 bicycles were stolen in the village in the last three months.

Wheeling Police Sgt. Gene Wolf told the board's fire and police committee on Monday that bicycles stolen in Wheeling and abandoned in neighboring communities are "seldom if ever recovered."

He said that bicycles stolen and abandoned within the village are only returned to the owner if they are turned over to the police department and the owner claims them at the village public works garage.

POLICE CURRENTLY cannot usually get an accurate description of a stolen bicycle and the serial numbers necessary to file information on the theft with other law enforcement agencies.

"We could spend as many as 200 man-hours tracing the ownership of a single bicycle and still not find the owner," Wolf said.

The new program would insure the proper return of a bicycle recovered by any police agency, Wolf told the board.

He said the programs would cost the village approximately $1,000 to start.

The policeman provided the board with statistics showing that 180 to 200 bicycles were stolen within the last three months in the village. Each bicycle is valued at between $40 to $90, they said.

Wolf said that the police department would enforce the registration law by calling the parents of a child found riding a bicycle without a registration sticker.

He said a program such as the one in Palatine where police impound unregistered bicycles until a registration sticker is applied for "is a good way to make kids hate you."

CITING CRIME statistics which indicate that a child who has his bicycle stolen may be led to steal one himself, Wolf said "if we can make fast recoveries on stolen bicycles we can prevent that second theft."

The village would provide a free sticker each year to the owner of a registered bicycle, Wolf said.

He proposed that bicycle registration be held on a Saturday in two locations in the village such as the public works department garage in the village municipal building and Wheeling High School's parking lot.

Wolf estimated that there are 6,900 bicycles in Wheeling which will have to be registered.

Board members authorized the purchase of the stickers for the program in advance of the ordinance passage.

They also decided that when the day for registration is decided police will announce the registration program in local neighborhoods with public address systems.

The registration form will certify whether a bicycle is suitable for night riding. A front light visible for 500 feet and a rear red reflector visible for 500 feet will be required to ride a bicycle after dark.

TO BE CONSIDERED safe, a bicycle's brakes must be able to cause the braked wheel to skid on dry pavement.

A bell or other device audible for 100 feet will also be required. Sirens or whistles will be prohibited.

The new law will make it illegal to alter the bicycle frame numbers. Bicycles may be ridden on sidewalks in the village except in business districts, according to the proposed law.

The law will also stipulate that only one person is permitted on a bicycle at a time and that it will be illegal to be pulled on a bicycle or wagon behind a motor vehicle.

Village police hope to use scout organizations, adult groups, bicycle enthusiasts and women's organizations to help on registration day.

The registration form will include the name, address and phone number of the bicycle owner, the type of bicycle and descriptions of the tires, brakes, rims, wheels, fenders, colors, and trim.

Rezoning Request Withdrawn

A rezoning request for five apartment buildings on the south side of Manchester Drive behind Mister B's Restaurant in Wheeling was withdrawn Tuesday by the developers of the property.

The petition for the change was withdrawn to allow a new petition which would ask not only rezoning of the land from single family home (R-1) zoning to multi-family (R-4 zoning) but also, a variation in the setback requirements normally required by village ordinances.

The new petition including the setback variation was made necessary by village requirements that Manchester Drive be dedicated as a 60-foot-wide right-of-way with the street itself 44 feet wide.

Manchester Drive is currently less than half that width.

Village Engineer Thomas Moody has recommended that the developers of the apartment project be required to dedicate half of the necessary right of way for the road.

Subdivision of the property into individual lots by the village plan commission will also be necessary before the project can be built.

At Tuesday's meeting three residents asked the zoning board that parking not be placed in front of the apartment buildings because of additional traffic problems that will result on Manchester Drive. The developers said that the parking could be placed in another location on the lots.

Also at Tuesday's continuation of the zoning hearing on the property a letter from Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Orlovski was read. They asked the village to consider drainage problems in the area in relation to the proposed development.

The plan for the development calls for five buildings with six apartments in each building. Half of the units would have one bedroom and the other half would have two bedrooms.

shake while Joy Kuhn prepares an ice cream cone. The owners of the restaurant donated the day's profit of $600 to the band.

Board Appropriates Funds For Animal Warden

Funds for an animal control warden for the village of Wheeling will be included in the budget for this year, village board members decided this week.

The new program, which may be expanded into a shared program with the Village of Buffalo Grove, will include hiring a man for the 40-hour-a-week job as animal warden, converting the old village ambulance to a vehicle with animal cages, and purchasing equipment to use in capturing animals.

The new position is designed to relieve village police of the problems relating to animal complaints.

At a meeting Monday with the village board's police and fire committee, Police Chief M. O. Horcher said that a total of eight per cent of Wheeling's police services relate to animals.

THE NEW PROGRAM will cost an estimated $8,500 for its first year, village board members learned.

Board members hope that enforcement of dog licensing laws by the new animal control warden will help provide a portion of the funds needed to maintain the program.

Horcher told the board that currently the number of animal complaints plus enforcement of the dog licensing ordinance could keep a man busy full-time.

Police Lt. Robert Llewellyn said that while other neighboring suburbs such as Glenview and Northbrook originally shared a dog catcher, the villages are now going to hire separate men for each community because of the increase in the number of animal complaints.

While the new warden would be assigned to a 40 hour week he would be on call for emergencies on a basis of overtime pay or compensatory time off, Horcher said.

WHEELING POLICEMEN have been involved in handling cases with dogs, cats, skunks, raccoons, rooster, rats, horses, deer, foxes, mice, rabbits, muskrats, chipmunks, squirrels, hamsters, rattlesnakes and even a bear.

Requirements for the warden job will include a high school diploma, being a citizen of the U.S., age 21 or older, a valid drivers license, and the ability to handle large animals such as dogs or horses.

The warden will be an employee under the police department as a community service employee.

He will not be authorized to carry sidearms or have any powers of arrest other than citizen arrest. He will be able to issue citations for ordinance violations and will probably have a single-shot shotgun for use in dealing with wild animals, police said.

THE POSITION will begin at a starting salary of $6,948 on range nine of the village's pay scale.

Village board members also discussed having the warden check door-to-door in the village for dog licenses and give talks to local school children and organizations.

A uniform allowance will also be provided for the warden.

Favor Hiring Of Animal Catcher

Buffalo Grove Police Chief Harold Smith said yesterday he is in favor of hiring a full-time animal catcher to work in Buffalo Grove and Wheeling.

M. O. Horcher, Wheeling police chief, has proposed such a plan to Wheeling village trustees and they voted to place it in the budget for next year.

"We have been talking about this for a year and a half," Smith said. "I can't justify hiring one man on a full-time basis just for Buffalo Grove."

Smith said he hasn't presented the proposal to the Buffalo Grove Village Board because he is waiting for Wheeling to approve it first.

Also, according to Smith, all of the details of the Wheeling plan have not been worked out yet.

"It's still got some bugs in it," he said. "We must have a place to put them (the animals) — a clean shelter away from a residential area and we have to work out who is going to pay for the impounding costs."

Smith said under the plan the dog catcher would work in Buffalo Grove two days a week and Wheeling three days a week. The next week, he would work in Buffalo Grove three days a week and in Wheeling two days a week.

SMITH SAID the man would be empowered to pick up loose and stray animals, but he would not "be a full-fledged policeman."

Smith said his department handles about the same number of animal calls that Wheeling does. The Wheeling figures show that one out of 12 complaints concerns animals.

Buffalo Grove trustees discussed a proposal to hire an animal catcher under an arrangement similar to the one in operation in Round Lake Beach.

Under this plan, the dog catcher would be paid 50 cents for each animal plus one half of the fine, if the owner can be found.

The trustees referred the plan to the legislative committee for further study.

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong called the stray dog situation in Buffalo Grove a "serious problem" and pointed out "it is illegal to let a dog out without a leash."

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $80,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:

	HIGH	LOW
Atlanta	76	55
Boston	79	60
Houston	82	73
Los Angeles	78	61
Miami Beach	82	78
New York	90	67
Phoenix	97	66
San Francisco	58	51
Tampa	88	70
Washington, D.C.	79	59

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Attorney Asks Bond For Nefeld

Says Client Is Innocent

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 28, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin; Joseph LaPlaca, a 48-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

THOMAS SAID HE will ask for Nefeld's bond "because there is not enough evidence against my client and the presumption of guilt is not great enough — he is innocent."

R. Jack Michelletto, attorney for Silas and LaPlaca, said he will make the same request for his clients. Barnes is still without legal representation, however.

"If anything, Nefeld has been involved in this case by circumstance," Thomas said, referring to Nefeld's association with LaPlaca and Silas.

He said that on the surface "there appears to be a case" against Nefeld because he was involved in the horse business and police have linked Jayne's murder to the horse business.

Nefeld recently put a down payment on a small Chicago Heights stable according to Thomas after selling his home in Markham.

"No matter how it looks, he was not involved in the murder," Thomas reiterated.

He said Nefeld's involvement in the horse business fostered his association with Silas, for whom Nefeld was a bodyguard according to Palatine police.

Police have further linked Nefeld with the murder due to his association with two other suspects who worked in a Markham restaurant where Nefeld frequently dined.

One of those suspects, Melvin Adams turned state's witness Friday and gave authorities the information they needed to make Saturday's arrests.

Police first questioned Adams when a second car seen at the murder scene was traced to him.

Vickie Lynn Schaumburg Fire Department's Baby

by NANCY COWGER

Victoria Lynn Stallone may become the youngest female in history to be named an honorary fireman.

Vickie Lynn, born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stallone of 1425 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, already has received a bouquet of flowers in recognition from the Schaumburg Fire Department.

The honors rise because Vickie Lynn is the first baby delivered by a Schaumburg fireman. She was born at home, with assistance from firefighters Bob Keats and Gerald Clarke and police officer Charles Barr.

"It's a great feeling to bring something into the world," Keats said. As a member of an ambulance crew, he said, much of his work involves auto accidents and illness, and delivering the baby was a thrilling honor.

He and Clarke have attended seminars on emergency birth at St. Alexius Hospital, said Keats, so they knew what had to be done. They were not nervous until the birth was over, and the impact of what had happened hit them.

Keats and the other firemen have been talking it over, he said, and they would like to present Vickie Lynn with a plaque, making her an honorary member of the department.

Mrs. Stallone, who now is at St.

Alexius, was pleased with the flowers, and would be with the plaque, but nothing could compare with her pleasure at seeing the firemen arrive, she said. "I was just so happy the fire department was there. They were just great," she said.

Vickie Lynn was just two days early, and Mrs. Stallone said she did not realize she was in real labor until minutes before the birth. Her husband called the fire department, and the ambulance came in record time, she said.

The new baby, 19½ inches long, weighed in at six pounds, 15 ounces. She has dark hair. The Stallones have an older son, Michael, 6, who was taken to a neighbor's house when things began to happen. Stallone is a truck driver. The family has lived in Schaumburg 4½ years.

TURNING BUFFALO CREEK and the Wheeling Drainage Ditch into a "green belt" of walkways, and cycling paths through the Wheeling area is planned this year by the Wheeling Park District Board. The park board proposal is a revitalizing of a plan which was studied in the village in 1965.

NSSEO Here For The Aid Of Children

by WANDALYN RICE

Some children always seem to have more trouble than others.

They may be unruly and unable to get along with other children, unable to share or take turns, unable to accept any kind of organized group.

Or they may be the quietest in the class — more than shy, withdrawn and always left out.

The problems may go unnoticed at first, because every child seems at times to be unable to get along with anyone, or seems shy.

But, for a certain number of children, the adjustment to social situations is more difficult, either because of chemical imbalances that make a child overactive or because of the way a child reacts to emotional and social stress.

If a child with behavior disturbances lives in one of the eight Northwest Suburban elementary school districts, he may be referred to a special program for help.

WHEN A CHILD with a severe behavior problem is referred, the staff of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) and the staff of the school referring the child decide what kind of help can do the most good. Sonja Clary, coordinator for NSSEO, explained.

For some children, a few hours a week with a psychologist from NSSEO may be the answer, but other need an environment outside of regular school where they can get special attention, she said.

For those children NSSEO has special classes where they can overcome their behavior problems and then eventually return to their school.

This year four such classes with a total of 30 children are run by NSSEO and housed in the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Next year, the program will be housed in Dwyer School in Arlington Heights, provided rental of the building from Arlington Heights Dist. 25 is approved by the ten-district cooperative.

Dwyer School is an eight-classroom building on a common lot with Westgate School Dist. 25 arranged to rent the building to NSSEO as part of a series of budget cuts following the defeat in March of a tax rate referendum.

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT about Dwyer, Mrs. Clary said, districts have been calling NSSEO with even increasing numbers of children who may fit in the program.

Next year, the program in Dwyer will have six to eight classes, she said. By law, there can be no more than eight students in the class for each teacher and teacher's aide.

Children in the program were originally grouped by age this year, but as the teachers got to know the students, they were grouped by behavior, explained Caroline Stone, one of the teachers, so that "we can provide the best possible learning situation for each child."

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Stone said, she did not try to teach academics very much, but instead worked on getting the children used to functioning in a group.

"At the beginning of the year they were constantly demanding the attention of myself and the aide," she said, "but now they are much better."

AT FIRST, Mrs. Stone concentrated on games and other group activities and then gradually worked into academic subjects.

All the children are of normal or higher intelligence, but they often lag behind academically, she said. In her class there are now children who are working on reading readiness and others who are reading up to the sixth grade level.

In addition, the children have gone on field trips, and taken part in activities like ice-skating and bowling and "anything we can think of that will be a social activity and give them some confidence," Mrs. Stone said.

Each child in the program works with a psychologist as often as necessary, usually several times a week, and members of the child's family also become involved, Mrs. Clary said.

"One of the most important factors in dealing with the children is working with the parents. We need to deal with the total day for the child, not just the time he is in school," she said.

The parents can thus be helped in their relationship with the child and can alert the teachers to behavior that crops up at home, she explained.

THE CHILDREN are gradually put back into regular school situations on a part-time basis as they improve, Mrs. Clary said, and the goal is to return each child to regular classes in about two years.

"If we made the right decision in putting them in the program, we feel we ought to be able to have made progress in two years," she said.

This year is the second for the program and some children are being integrated into regular classes, she said. If, after two years, a child is not ready to return to regular classes, "We have to decide whether we feel he has improved," she said.

Children may be sent back to regular classes part time and remain in the program, she added.

A few children may, after several years in the program, have to go into more intensive kinds of therapy situations in which they can have 24-hour-a-day supervision in order to overcome their problems.

"Some of them are so much older when they are referred that even if we find the problem, it's hard to correct," she said. "You get to the point where you can't always turn everything back."

BUT FOR MOST of the children, the future is much brighter. A number of them in the program this year will be returned to the schools where they came from and will need no more contact with the program, Mrs. Clary said.

And the facilities at Dwyer will also help the staff do a better job. Since the program started, it has been moved each year. It was housed in the Diagnostic Learning Center, at the corner of Belmont and Miner Street in Arlington Heights and then was moved this year to the church.

John Wightman, executive director of NSSEO, remembers one boy who was asked in confirmation class what school he went to and, since he was attending the classes in the church, could only answer, "I don't know what school I'm

Students Will Take Control Of School

Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School students will take over the job of running their school from teachers, the principal, the assistant principal, counselors and the police liaison officer on Friday.

The students, who will have their new positions for only one day, will teach classes, deal with student discipline cases, counsel other students, and grade papers as part of the project.

Sponsored by the Holmes Student Council, the "takeover" is designed to help students at the school understand the procedures and routines of running a school, what a teacher does, and to better understand the education process.

Students who will act as teachers or administrators for the day will be chosen based on letters they have written to the teacher they want to replace explaining why they want the post.

Each teacher will spend the day with the student he has chosen as his replacement to help the student.

Setback Ruling Is Referred To Village Attorney

A variation request for setback requirements on the Fassbender property at 11 S. Milwaukee Ave. in Wheeling has been referred to the village attorney for preparation as an ordinance.

The property, which was owned by the late Arthur Fassbender Sr., is on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road.

The village has been working for several years to have the 125-year-old building in the site demolished.

Shortly before Fassbender's recent death he had been seeking a setback variation so that if he tore down the new building a new office building in line with other buildings on the block could be built in its place.

The ordinance the village board ordered prepared would grant that setback variation to the new owners of the property.

Village board action on the ordinance will determine if the setback is granted.

Change Meeting Night

The Wheeling Library Board has changed its monthly meeting date to the third Tuesday of each month. The meeting had been on the first Tuesday.

The next regular meeting will be June 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the library, 850 Jenkins Ct., Wheeling.

Rezoning To Allow Remodeling Approved

Rezoning to allow remodeling of the Henry's Drive-In restaurant, 34 N. Elmhurst Rd. in Wheeling, was approved this week by the Wheeling Village Board.

The board voted to grant the rezoning to allow a table area to be added to the restaurant. Village Atty. Paul Hamer said because the property was subdivided before village ordinances were enacted requiring plan commission approval for subdivisions, no new subdivision of the land could be required.

The village board's unanimous vote was based on the recommendations of the Wheeling Zoning Board of appeals.

Pahl Resigns As Elk Grove Head

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board. Trustee Charles Zetek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week.

He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office. He laughed when he made the latter comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL was elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glab when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection in 1969 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Pahl was the chairman of the plan commission when he was appointed by Village Pres. James Gibson to replace Hartshorn.

SINCE BECOMING active in governmental affairs Pahl has been involved with many inter-governmental and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Northwest Municipal Conference and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Pahl and Blue Island Mayor Richard Withers in 1967 both played instrumental roles in establishing the council of governments, formed to deal with common governmental problems.

Pahl has been active with the Illinois Municipal League's revenue sharing committee and is currently on the executive board of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities.

He has served on the National League of Cities Committee on Inter-Governmental Relations and was appointed by former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner to the Commission on Urban Area Government. He also has served as steering committee chairman for the Northwest Region of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. Pahl also is associated with the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Cook County Committee on criminal justice.

A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, he gained his initial municipal experience as an administrative aid from 1955 to 1958 to Chicago Ald. Jack Spertling in the 30th ward.

Officials Considering Disannexation Of Trace

Rolling Meadows officials are considering disannexation of Meadow Trace apartments from the city, if $40,000 in back taxes, owed the city for more than three years, is not paid soon.

Mayor Roland Meyer asked City Atty. Donald Rose to begin the legal action against the apartment complex on Algonquin Road near Rte. 53. "Why should we service them, if they aren't going to pay their share of our taxes," Meyer told city council Tuesday night.

The disannexation announcement came after a detailed report submitted by City Treasurer Robert Cole showing $41,478.95 or 62 per cent of the total tax bill during 1967, 1968 and 1969, is unpaid.

"We get nowhere in the assessor's office and the only way to rid ourselves of this is to disannex the property," Meyer continued. Payment of the back taxes has been held up because of objections filed by owners of Meadow Trace with the Cook County assessor's office challenging the assessed valuation of the property during the three-year period.

UNTIL DECISIONS are reached on the objection, tax monies are not released by the county for distribution to local taxing bodies. Objections to the assessed valuation can continue for more than three years, officials said. Owners of Meadow Trace have filed objections to the assessed valuations for the past four years.

ROLLING MEADOWS officials also are displeased with the drop in assessed valuation of the Meadow Trace apartments between 1968 and 1969 which almost cut in half the tax levy to the apartment complex.

The 1968 assessed valuation of Meadow Trace was about $6½ million, but in 1969 the valuation dropped to near $4 million. The tax levy also dropped from $26,087.18 to $15,211.04.

Rose said he has not fully studied the possibilities of disannexation, but said he considered a referendum necessary before the apartments could be removed from the city.

Asked if the city would continue to provide service to the apartments, Meyer said he felt water charges would be at least one-half higher.

Public Works Department Applies For Federal Grant

The Lake County Department of Public Works has applied for a $500,000 federal grant to help pay for an enlarged sewerage treatment plant and interceptor sewer system which would service the Lake County section of Buffalo Grove.

The project would involve enlarging the Lake County sewerage treatment plant in the Pecora subdivision near the Des Plaines River and running an interceptor line west to Buffalo Grove.

The total cost of the project is over $1 million.

Buffalo Grove Trustee Randall Rathjen, who studied the proposal along with a representative of the village engineering firm, said he found no objections to it.

IN HIS REPORT to the village board Monday night, Rathjen said, "the completed project would have a capacity of two million gallons daily, thus allowing the phasing out of four package plants now in operation." One of the plants that would be taken out of operation is the plant in Lake County Buffalo Grove, according to Rathjen.

Rathjen said Lake County officials indicated some of the funds would be used to pay off the outstanding bonds used to finance the construction of the plant in Buffalo Grove. Lake County officials are hoping to have the grant approved by September of this year and have the expanded plant in operation by the fall of 1973. Rathjen also said that if the plant is taken out of operation for the treatment of sewerage, it still might be used for the treatment of storm water.

The village park district wants to use the land around the plant for a park with swimming pool, but according to the village engineers some of the land might be used for a water control site.

THE EXPANSION of the treatment plant is related to a bill pending before the state legislature which would create six subregional waste water districts. The districts would operate the way the Metropolitan Sanitary District operates in Cook County.

The bill has been approved by the House Environmental Committee and is scheduled for a second reading in the House this week. The bill was introduced by Lake County Rep. John Henry Kleine, R-Lake Forest. Kleine is also chairman of the House Environmental Committee.

Rezoning Request Withdrawn

A rezoning request for five apartment buildings on the south side of Manchester Drive behind Mister B's Restaurant in Wheeling was withdrawn Tuesday by the developers of the property.

The petition for the change was withdrawn to allow a new petition which would ask not only rezoning of the land from single family home (R-1) zoning to multi-family (R-4 zoning) but also, a variation in the setback requirements normally required by village ordinances.

The new petition including the setback variation was made necessary by village requirements that Manchester Drive be dedicated as a 80-foot-wide right-of-way with the street itself 44 feet wide.

Manchester Drive is currently less than half that width.

Village Engineer Thomas Moody has recommended that the developers of the apartment project be required to dedicate half of the necessary right of way for the road.

Subdivision of the property into individual lots by the village plan commission will also be necessary before the project can be built.

At Tuesday's meeting three residents asked the zoning board that parking not be placed in front of the apartment buildings because of additional traffic problems that will result on Manchester Drive. The developers said that the parking could be placed in another location on the lots.

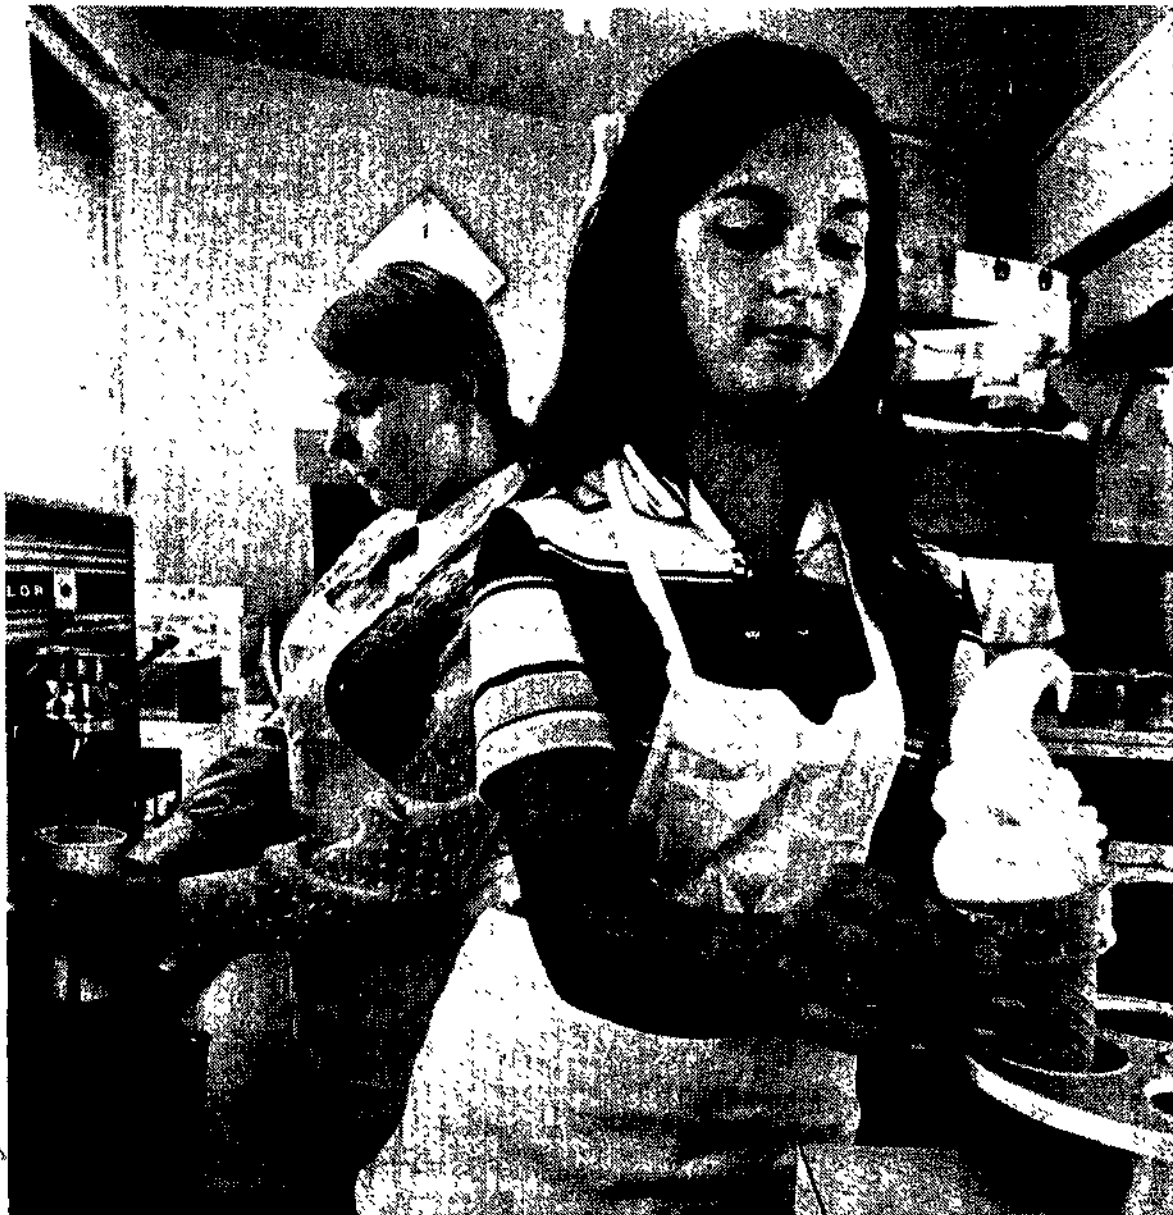

Also at Tuesday's continuation of the zoning hearing on the property a letter from Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Orlowski was read. They asked the village to consider drainage problems in the area in relation to the proposed development.

The plan for the development calls for five buildings with six apartments in each building. Half of the units would have one bedroom and the other half would have two bedrooms.

Jayceettes Name New Officers

The Jayceettes, the women's auxiliary of the Buffalo Grove Jaycees, elected new officers for the coming year at their meeting last week.

The new officers are: president, Sue Van Patten; vice president, Chris DeTomasi; treasurer, Bev Hanson; secretary, Helen Uskali; and regional representative Cathy Lenahan.

shake while Joy Kuhn prepares an ice cream cone. The owners of the restaurant donated the day's profit of $600 to the band.

Eye Tests Will Be Given In Area

A free vision screening program will be held Sunday June 6 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the North Suburban YMCA on the corner of Techny and Pfingsten Roads in Northbrook.

The screening for adults and children over the age of three, includes checks for near and far vision, visual fields, depth and color perception, eye disease and muscle balance.

The program is sponsored by the Northbrook Lions Club and Rotary Club.

Police Chief Favors Full-Time Animal Catcher

Buffalo Grove Police Chief Harold Smith said yesterday he is in favor of hiring a full-time animal catcher to work in Buffalo Grove and Wheeling.

M. O. Horcher, Wheeling police chief, has proposed such a plan to Wheeling village trustees and they voted to place it in the budget for next year.

"We have been talking about this for a year and a half," Smith said. "I can't justify hiring one man on a full-time basis just for Buffalo Grove."

Smith said he hasn't presented the proposal to the Buffalo Grove Village Board because he is waiting for Wheeling to approve it first.

Also, according to Smith, all of the details of the Wheeling plan have not been worked out yet.

"It's still got some bugs in it," he said. "We must have a place to put them (the animals) — a clean shelter away from a residential area and we have to work out who is going to pay for the impounding costs."

Smith said under the plan the dog catcher would work in Buffalo Grove two days a week and Wheeling three days a week. The next week, he would work in Buffalo Grove three days a week and in Wheeling two days a week.

SMITH SAID the man would be empowered to pick up loose and stray animals, but he would not "be a full-fledged policeman."

Smith said his department handles about the same number of animal calls that Wheeling does. The Wheeling figures show that one out of 12 complaints concerns animals.

Buffalo Grove trustees discussed a proposal to hire an animal catcher under an arrangement similar to the one in operation in Round Lake Beach.

Under this plan, the dog catcher would be paid 50 cents for each animal plus one half of the fine, if the owner can be found.

The trustees referred the plan to the legislative committee for further study.

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong called the stray dog situation in Buffalo Grove a "serious problem" and pointed out "it is illegal to let a dog out without a leash."

Correction

The Herald incorrectly stated the sprinkling regulations in yesterday's edition. The correct regulations follow.

Residents living in houses with odd-numbered addresses can water their lawns on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. Residents on the even-numbered side of the street can water their lawns on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday. No one is allowed to water on Fridays.

The police department is enforcing the sprinkling regulations.

Village Board Appropriates Funds For Animal Control Warden

Funds for an animal control warden for the village of Wheeling will be included in the budget for this year, village board members decided this week.

The new program, which may be expanded into a shared program with the Village of Buffalo Grove, will include hiring a man for the 40-hour-a-week job as animal warden, converting the old village ambulance to a vehicle with animal cages, and purchasing equipment to use in capturing animals.

The new position is designed to relieve village police of the problems relating to animal complaints.

At a meeting Monday with the village board's police and fire committee, Police Chief M. O. Horcher said that a total of eight per cent of Wheeling's police services relate to animals.

THE NEW PROGRAM will cost an estimated $6,500 for its first year, village board members learned.

Board members hope that enforcement of dog licensing laws by the new animal control warden will help provide a portion of the funds needed to maintain the program.

Horcher told the board that currently the number of animal complaints plus enforcement of the dog licensing ordinance could keep a man busy full-time.

Police Lt. Robert Llewellyn said that while other neighboring suburbs such as Glenview and Northbrook originally shared a dog catcher, the villages are now going to hire separate men for each community because of the increase in the number of animal complaints.

While the new warden would be assigned to a 40 hour week he would be on call for emergencies on a basis of overtime pay or compensatory time off, Horcher said.

WHEELING POLICEMEN have been involved in handling cases with dogs, cats, skunks, raccoons, rooster, rats, horses, deer, foxes, mice, rabbits, muskrats, chipmunks, squirrels, hamsters, rattlesnakes and even a bear.

Requirements for the warden job will include a high school diploma, being a citizen of the U.S., age 21 or older, a valid drivers license, and the ability to handle large animals such as dogs or horses.

The warden will be an employee under the police department as a community service employee.

He will not be authorized to carry sidearms or have any powers of arrest other than citizen arrest. He will be able to issue citations for ordinance violations and will probably have a single-shot shotgun for use in dealing with wild animals, police said.

THE POSITION will begin at a starting salary of $6,948 on range nine of the village's pay scale.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $20,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.65. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

NSSEO Here For The Aid Of Children

by WANDALYN RICE

Some children always seem to have more trouble than others.

They may be unruly and unable to get along with other children, unable to share or take turns, unable to accept any kind of organized group.

Or they may be the quietest in the class — more than shy, withdrawn and always left out.

The problems may go unnoticed at first, because every child seems at times to be unable to get along with anyone, or seems shy.

But, for a certain number of children, the adjustment to social situations is more difficult, either because of chemical imbalances that make a child overactive or because of the way a child reacts to emotional and social stress.

If a child with behavior disturbances lives in one of the eight Northwest Suburban elementary school districts, he may be referred to a special program for help.

WHEN A CHILD with a severe behavior problem is referred, the staff of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) and the staff of the school referring the child decide what kind of help can do the most good, Sonja Clary, coordinator for NSSEO, explained.

For some children, a few hours a week with a psychologist from NSSEO may be the answer, but other need an environment outside of regular school where they can get special attention, she said.

For those children NSSEO has special classes where they can overcome their behavior problems and then eventually return to their school.

This year four such classes with a total of 30 children are run by NSSEO and housed in the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Next year, the program will be housed in Dwyer School in Arlington Heights, provided rental of the building from Arlington Heights Dist. 25 is approved by the ten-district cooperative.

Dwyer School is an eight-classroom building on a common lot with Westgate School. Dist. 25 arranged to rent the building to NSSEO as part of a series of budget cuts following the defeat in March of a tax rate referendum.

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT about Dwyer, Mrs. Clary said, districts have been calling NSSEO with even increasing numbers of children who may fit in the program.

Next year, the program in Dwyer will have six to eight classes, she said. By law, there can be no more than eight students in the class for each teacher and teacher's aide.

Children in the program were originally grouped by age this year, but as the teachers got to know the students, they were grouped by behavior, explained Caroline Stone, one of the teachers, so that "we can provide the best possible learning situation for each child."

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Stone said, she did not try to teach academics very much, but instead worked on getting the children used to functioning in a group.

"At the beginning of the year they were constantly demanding the attention of myself and the aide," she said, "but now they are much better."

AT FIRST, Mrs. Stone concentrated on games and other group activities and then gradually worked into academic subjects.

All the children are of normal or higher intelligence, but they often lag behind academically, she said. In her class there are now children who are working on reading readiness and others who are reading up to the sixth grade level.

In addition, the children have gone on field trips, and taken part in activities like ice-skating and bowling and "anything we can think of that will be a social activity and give them some confidence," Mrs. Stone said.

Each child in the program works with a psychologist as often as necessary, usually several times a week, and members of the child's family also become involved, Mrs. Clary said.

"One of the most important factors in dealing with the children is working with the parents. We need to deal with the total day for the child, not just the time he is in school," she said.

The parents can thus be helped in their relationship with the child and can alert the teachers to behavior that crops up at home, she explained.

THE CHILDREN are gradually put back into regular school situations on a part-time basis as they improve, Mrs. Clary said, and the goal is to return each child to regular classes in about two years.

"If we made the right decision in putting them in the program, we feel we ought to be able to have made progress in two years," she said.

This year is the second for the program and some children are being integrated into regular classes, she said. If, after two years, a child is not ready to return to regular classes, "We have to decide whether we feel he has improved," she said.

Children may be sent back to regular classes part time and remain in the program, she added.

A few children may, after several years in the program, have to go into more intensive kinds of therapy situations in which they can have 24-hour-a-day supervision in order to overcome their problems.

"Some of them are so much older when they are referred that even if we find the problem, it's hard to correct," she said. "You get to the point where you can't always turn everything back."

BUT FOR MOST of the children, the future is much brighter. A number of them in the program this year will be returned to the schools where they came from and will need no more contact with the program, Mrs. Clary said.

And the facilities at Dwyer will also help the staff do a better job. Since the program started, it has been moved each year. It was housed in the Diagnostic Learning Center, at the corner of Belmont and Miner Street in Arlington Heights and then was moved this year to the church.

John Wightman, executive director of NSSEO, remembers one boy who was asked in confirmation class what school he went to and, since he was attending the classes in the church, could only answer, "I don't know what school I'm

Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School students will take over the job of running their school from teachers, the principal, the assistant principal, counselors and the police liaison officer on Friday.

The students, who will have their new positions for only one day, will teach classes, deal with student discipline cases, counsel other students, and grade papers as part of the project.

Sponsored by the Holmes Student Council, the "takeover" is designed to help students at the school understand the procedures and routines of running a school, what a teacher does, and to better understand the education process.

Students who will act as teachers or administrators for the day will be chosen based on letters they have written to the teacher they want to replace explaining why they want the post.

Each teacher will spend the day with the student he has chosen as his replacement to help the student.

Attorney Asks Bond For Nefeld

Says Client Is Innocent

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 28, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin; Joseph LaPlaca, a 48-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

THOMAS SAID HE will ask for Nefeld's bond "because there is not enough evidence against my client and the presumption of guilt is not great enough — he is innocent."

R. Jack Michelletto, attorney for Silas and LaPlaca, said he will make the same request for his clients. Barnes is still without legal representation, however.

"If anything, Nefeld has been involved in this case by circumstance," Thomas said, referring to Nefeld's association with LaPlaca and Silas.

He said that on the surface "there appears to be a case" against Nefeld because he was involved in the horse business and police have linked Jayne's murder to the horse business.

Nefeld recently put a down payment on a small Chicago Heights stable according to Thomas after selling his home in Markham.

"No matter how it looks, he was not involved in the murder," Thomas reiterated.

He said Nefeld's involvement in the horse business fostered his association with Silas, for whom Nefeld was a bod-ygward according to Palatine police.

Police have further linked Nefeld with the murder due to his association with two other suspects who worked in a Markham restaurant where Nefeld frequently dined.

One of those suspects, Melvin Adams turned state's witness Friday and gave authorities the information they needed to make Saturday's arrests.

Police first questioned Adams when a second car seen at the murder scene was traced to him.

Vickie Lynn Schaumburg Fire Department's Baby

by NANCY COWGER

Victoria Lynn Stallone may become the youngest female in history to be named an honorary fireman.

Vickie Lynn, born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stallone of 1425 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, already has received a bouquet of flowers in recognition from the Schaumburg Fire Department.

The honors rise because Vickie Lynn is the first baby delivered by a Schaumburg fireman. She was born at home, with assistance from firefighters Bob Keats and Gerald Clarke and police officer Charles Barr.

"It's a great feeling to bring something into the world," Keats said. As a member of an ambulance crew, he said, much of his work involves auto accidents and illness, and delivering the baby was a thrilling honor.

He and Clarke have attended seminars on emergency birth at St. Alexius Hospital, said Keats, so they knew what had to be done. They were not nervous until the birth was over, and the impact of what had happened hit them.

Keats and the other firemen have been talking it over, he said, and they would like to present Vickie Lynn with a plaque, making her an honorary member of the department.

Mrs. Stallone, who now is at St.

Alexius, was pleased with the flowers, and would be with the plaque, but nothing could compare with her pleasure at seeing the firemen arrive, she said. "I was just so happy the fire department was there. They were just great," she said.

Vickie Lynn was just two days early, and Mrs. Stallone said she did not realize she was in real labor until minutes before the birth. Her husband called the fire department, and the ambulance came in record time, she said.

The new baby, 19½ inches long, weighed in at six pounds, 15 ounces. She has dark hair. The Stallones have an older son, Michael, 6, who was taken to a neighbor's house when things began to happen. Stallone is a truck driver. The family has lived in Schaumburg 4½ years.

Setback Ruling Is Referred To Village Attorney

A variation request for setback requirements on the Fassbender property at 11 S. Milwaukee Ave. in Wheeling has been referred to the village attorney for preparation as an ordinance.

The property, which was owned by the late Arthur Fassbender Sr., is on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road.

The village has been working for several years to have the 125-year-old building in the site demolished.

Shortly before Fassbender's recent death he had been seeking a setback variation so that if he tore down the new building a new office building in line with other buildings on the block could be built in its place.

The ordinance the village board ordered prepared would grant that setback variation to the new owners of the property.

Village board action on the ordinance will determine if the setback is granted.

Parent-Dist. Information Gap Told

Greater communication between parents and Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 personnel concerning curriculum and school policies is needed in Dist. 15, according to members of the Palatine Township League of Women Voters.

In a position statement issued by the league following the first half of a Dist. 15 school survey study, members said the school district's publication, "Grapevine," should include "more pertinent information and the school board should encourage wider use of news releases."

League members said they had "expressed considerable concern at the district's record of communicating curriculum changes and pilot studies." Mrs. Nancy Kriebie, chairman of the league study committee, suggested that the "Grapevine" be used to provide parents with more detailed information in these areas.

"What we want is more descriptive and up to date information about the schools," Mrs. Kriebie said.

THE LEAGUE statement also supported regularly informing parents of their children's achievement and aptitude test scores, with the exception of IQ's. Such scores are currently available for parental knowledge only upon request.

"Most districts send them out automatically to parents," Mrs. Kriebie said. "We'd like to see that done here too."

Greater uniformity in procedures between the various Dist. 15 schools was also suggested by the league.

"Individual principals seem to have been permitted great leeway in communication with parents," Mrs. Kriebie said, which has caused variations between school buildings in parent-teacher rapport.

Mrs. Kriebie cited instances in several Dist. 15 schools where a continuous progress instructional program for primary students is being used. However, she said such a program is not being used in all schools, and this decision has been left up to each principal.

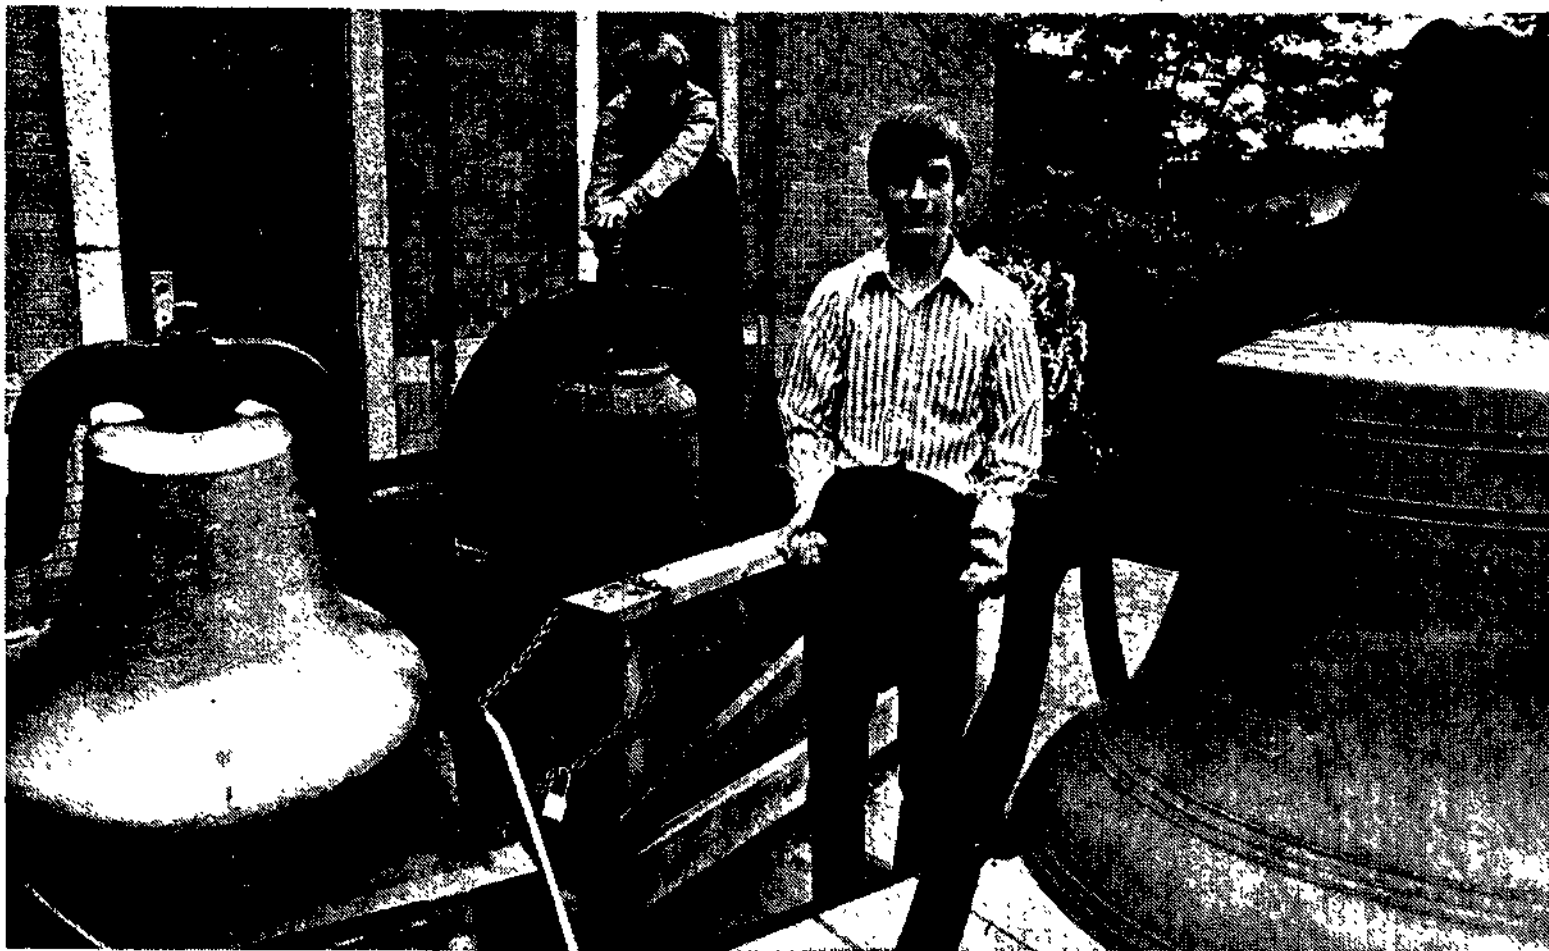

"A definite policy should be set up district wide outlining such programs," she said, so that less curriculum decision-making is left up to principals.

THE LEAGUE also supported the adoption of an official written school board policy manual, including the board's current priorities and objectives, "as soon as is feasible." The policy should be subject to periodic review.

The Dist. 15 board plans to adopt such a policy manual at the next board meeting June 7.

The statement issued by the league is the result of a survey of the schools begun by the league in July 1970. Information for their study has been received from board members and principals and "they have been extremely cooperative," Mrs. Kriebie said.

The league recently began the second phase of the study, which will investigate school programming, curriculum and staffing. A target date for completion of this study is early 1972.

PALATINE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS Doug Patterson, front, and Steve Starke prepare to move four bells into Cutting Hall for tonight's spring band concert. The bells, loaned from local people and organizations are, from left: a lawn ornament bell, a church bell, a boat bell and a fire station bell. The bells will be used tonight by the symphonic band during the final moments of a medley of tunes from the hit Broadway play "1776."

Bells Will Be Ringing

Band To Present Medley From '1776'

Bells will ring through Palatine High School's Cutting Hall tonight during the symphonic band and a cappella choir's spring concert.

After more than a month of searching, Palatine's symphonic band has come up with four bells to use during the closing moments of a medley of tunes from the Broadway musical "1776" during the performance.

According to Thomas Trimborn, the band's director, the bells are of varied types and come from different places. A church bell was borrowed from Palatine's Immanuel Lutheran Church while the Palatine Fire Department donated a fire bell. Local residents donated a lawn ornament bell and a boat bell.

Trimborn said the bells will give the music the sound of "freedom ringing" that it had when "1776" was performed on Broadway.

Besides a medley of tunes from "1776," the symphonic band will perform other patriotic and classical pieces at the concert, which begins tonight at 8 p.m. Among them are Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," Charles Carter's "Overture for Winds" and Antonio Vivaldi's "Piccolo Concerto in C Major."

A number of religious songs will be performed at the concert by the a cappella choir. Among them are a medley of tunes from Vivaldi's "Gloria," Antonio Lotti's "Crucifixus" and two songs from the rock opera "Jesus Christ: Superstar."

The choir will also perform this year's Oscar-winning song "For All We Know."

Conducting the band at the concert will be Trimborn. David Reiser will conduct the choir. Accompanying the choir will be Terry Smudde and Dick Gallagher.

Tickets are still available for tonight's concert and may be bought at the door. Adult tickets cost $1 while student's admission is 50 cents.

Park District Board Taking Steps To Halt Vandalism

After watching vandals destroy electrical equipment at three local parks for months, the Palatine Park District board of commissioners voted Tuesday to adopt new anti-vandalism tactics.

Instead of sealing off the equipment with metal boxes and larger locks, the board will now remove some of the temptations.

At Maple Park, where electricity is currently shut off due to three major vandal attacks in a month, the board is looking into means to move the constantly destroyed power and meter box indoors.

Board members feel this move will cost less than a fence around the box and a transformer outside the Maple Park fieldhouse. While a fence is estimated to cost $169, board members feel a new vandalism target would develop from the fence.

When moved inside, a closet will be built around the power and meter box.

When out of sight, the box should remain untouched, the board said.

OVER AT ASHWOOD and Birchwood parks, vandals have been breaking through switch box locks to turn on park lights. As a result, the lights always seem to be on during the day, running up

Tickets Available For Hoxie Circus

Tickets for the Hoxie Brothers Circus on Tuesday sponsored by the Palatine Township Youth Organization, PTYO, now are available at the Palatine Herald office, 19 N. Bothwell.

Because the youth group only is able to sell tickets when school is not in session, the Herald office will serve as a sales office during regular office hours.

Advance tickets cost $1 for children at the 4 p.m. performance and $1.50 for the district electric bills.

Park commissioner Weldon Degner noted that the switch box break-in at Birchwood seemed to be a serious case of vandalism, pointing to evidence that a crowbar was used.

However, the rest of the board held the opinion that the break-ins occurred because park workers were not turning on the lights soon enough. They also said 10 p.m. was too early to switch off the lights, causing other break-ins.

The board voted to install timers that would switch the lights on at sunset and moved to consider changing the switch-off time of the lights to 11 p.m.

Hopefully, the timers and later switch-off time will eliminate the need to break into a switch box to turn on lights for a night game of tennis, the board said.

Board members will vote on the 11 p.m. time at the next board meeting on June 8.

However, the board also voted to lock the Ashwood and Birchwood switch boxes more securely than ever before. Although the means of locking were not revealed, the board agreed that if the vandalism continued, even with the timers, the next step will be to station guards at each park.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $30,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $40 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:

	HIGH	LOW
Atlanta	76	55
Boston	79	60
Houston	82	73
Los Angeles	78	61
Miami Beach	82	78
New York	90	67
Phoenix	97	66
San Francisco	58	51
Tampa	88	70
Washington, D.C.	79	59

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Congregation Lauds Minister

by MARGE FERROLI

For someone who usually has his finger right on the pulse of things happening in Rolling Meadows, it was the best kept secret in town.

Some 300 residents pulled off quite a surprise Sunday on the Rev. William H. Herman, pastor of the Rolling Meadows Community Church. Between the Sunday church services, members of his church rolled in a brand new golf cart, bag, clubs, balls and tees to mark his 25th anniversary as an ordained minister.

Besides the clubs, Rev. Herman was presented with a large plaque inscribed with the one verse which he says he considers describes his life philosophy: "Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a workman who has no need to be ashamed, rightly handling the word of truth."

Perhaps more than offering any gifts to Rev. Herman, his parishioners showed their gratitude to him for his 12 years of work with the Community Church by their open recognition of him as an individual who cares about them and their city.

Rev. Herman is probably one of the best public relations agents the city of Rolling Meadows has. "I sell the city wherever I go," he says, proud of the accomplishments of the city and his church in the few years of their existence.

"Rolling Meadows is a young community and its residents are not afraid to try something new," he said.

Comparisons can be drawn between the growth of the city and the growth of the Community Church, with Rev. Herman playing an instrumental role in the development of each.

He feels a strong involvement with the "communityness" of a city the size of Rolling Meadows. His main goal to leave his former churches on the East coast came from a desire to work in a community atmosphere.

Youth seems to be the one area that he has devoted most of his time to in the city. He was one of the originators of the Police Juvenile Advisory Committee started in 1961, which served to work out problems with youths rather than put the youths through normal police channels.

"We got off to a good start with the committee," Rev. Herman recalled. "Now we've finally achieved what we started out to do 10 years ago with the formation of the Rolling Meadows Youth Referral Committee."

Construction of the church sanctuary, one of the more beautiful sanctuaries in the area, is a feat Rev. Herman considers to be "one of my most satisfying experiences."

Cooperation in getting plans together for construction for the sanctuary was so good that he said he never experienced the usual large number of headaches associated with major construction projects.

"I almost hated to see it end when the sanctuary was completed," Rev. Herman said.

Perhaps the one characteristic of the man who heads the Community Church that pleases so many people is his ability to deal with each individual freely, as though that person is the most important person Rev. Herman has ever met. His lighthearted manner can often contribute to the success of church and city projects.

"If religion is to be no smiles, than it simply is not going to be as meaningful," he says, which appropriately explains his approach to most situations.

THE REV. WILLIAM HERMAN of the Rolling Meadows Community Church is all smiles as he displays a personally inscribed plaque his parishioners presented to him Sunday to mark his 25th anniversary as an ordained minister. He says he has found an appropriate wall of honor in his office to hang his plaque.

For some time, a group of Scotland Yard detectives have been amusing themselves by trying to solve an imaginary murder of a cabinet minister. However, the crime becomes very real for them in J. T. In a new novel by Noel B. Gerson, Lester Corbett is an American entertainment institution. He is the indisputable master of the world on his TV program. However, when he begins to reveal crime in high places, somebody tries to end his rule in "Talk Show."

Pahl Resigns As Elk Grove Head

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board.

Trustee Charles Zettek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week.

He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office. He laughed when he made the latter comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL WAS elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glad when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president

James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection in 1969 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Pahl was the chairman of the plan commission when he was appointed by Village Pres. James Gibson to replace Hartshorn.

SINCE BECOMING active in governmental affairs Pahl has been involved with many inter-governmental and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Northwest Municipal Conference and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Pahl and Blue Island Mayor Richard Withers in 1967 both played instrumental roles in establishing the council of governments, formed to deal with common governmental problems.

Pahl has been active with the Illinois Municipal League's revenue sharing committee and is currently on the executive board of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities.

He has served on the National League of Cities Committee on Inter-Governmental Relations and was appointed by former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner to the Commission on Urban Area Government.

He also has served as steering committee chairman for the Northwest Region of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. Pahl also is associated with the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Cook County Committee on criminal justice.

A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, he gained his initial municipal experience as an administrative aid from 1955 to 1958 to Chicago Ald. Jack Sperling in the 50th ward.

VIP Groups To Ask For Consideration Of Projects

Two Very Important Parents (VIP) groups in High School Dist. 211 will ask the board of education tonight to consider approval of special projects.

The Palatine High School organization is asking the board to consider installing an all-weather track at Ost Field.

Schaumburg High School VIP's are asking permission to put up a lighted billboard sign in the school parking lot.

Palatine is the only Dist. 211 school without an all-weather track. The VIP's are asking the board to consider installation of the track through funds in next year's budget.

The board will also consider a policy on tuition and transportation costs for high school students taking courses at Harper College in Palatine. An administration committee studying joint classes with the college is recommending the district not provide transportation from the high schools to the college and not pay tuition for students taking courses for high school credit at Harper.

Discussion of a proposed salary plan for district administrators will also be on tonight's agenda. Under the proposed plan, salary increases for administrators would include experience and performance as criteria as well as formal training and longevity.

To implement the new plan, the board would establish a salary fund for administration from which all administrative salaries would be paid. The superintendent, with final approval from the board, would establish individual administrator's salaries within the funded amount.

The board will also hear reports on staff assignment changes for teachers in industrial education and fine arts and budget development for the 1971-72 school year.

The Dist. 211 board of education will meet at 8 tonight in the G. A. McElroy Administration Center, 1750 S. Roselle Rd., in Palatine.

Driver Charged In Auto-Truck Crash

Rolling Meadows police have arrested a Brookfield man on four charges in connection with an accident on Algonquin Road near Magnolia 1:20 p.m. yesterday.

Bernard Motsch, 41, Brookfield was charged with failure to yield, driving while under the influence of alcohol, transporting open liquor, and driving while his license was suspended. Police said his auto collided with a truck driven by Bobbie Frazier of Elk Grove Village.

Both Frazier and Motsch received minor injuries and were treated and released at Northwest Community Hospital.

tendent of Century Unit School District in Ullin, Ill.

O'Dell, who has been a district administrator for two years, will leave Dist. 211 June 15 and begin his new duties in Ullin July 1.

In his letter of resignation, O'Dell said his work in the district "has greatly enriched my background and brought me into contact with some extremely competent educators."

"Undoubtedly, the experiences gained in this district will enable me to meet the challenge of providing an effective education for youngsters," he added.

O'Dell received a doctorate degree in school administration from Indiana University in January, 1970.

Before coming to Dist. 211 in 1969, he had a research assistantship on school finance at Indiana. He has been an assistant principal and high school science teacher.

O'Dell's resignation will be considered tonight by the Dist. 211 board of education.

Barbecuing Law Here Postponed

A "barbecuing ordinance" to ban outdoor cooking on the patios of apartment buildings was postponed by city council this week.

Ald. Frederick Jacobson, who introduced the ordinance for passage last week, said the ordinance was "going to be taken back for committee study."

The ordinance and judiciary committee termed outdoor cooking at the apartment complex a "fire hazard and a danger for the large groups of people living there," but will now reevaluate the ordinance.

Apartment complex managers in Rolling Meadows voiced displeasure at the proposed ordinance and said it may "drive people away." A similar ordinance was left in committee last year and never voted upon by city council.

Vickie Lynn Schaumburg Fire Department's Baby

by NANCY COWGER

Victoria Lynn Stallone may become the youngest female in history to be named an honorary fireman.

Vickie Lynn, born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stallone of 1425 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, already has received a bouquet of flowers in recognition from the Schaumburg Fire Department.

The honors rise because Vickie Lynn is the first baby delivered by a Schaumburg fireman. She was born at home, with assistance from firefighters Bob Keats and Gerald Clarke and police officer Charles Barr.

"It's a great feeling to bring something into the world," Keats said. As a member of an ambulance crew, he said, much of his work involves auto accidents and illness, and delivering the baby was a thrilling honor.

He and Clarke have attended seminars on emergency birth at St. Alexius Hospital, said Keats, so they knew what had to be done. They were not nervous until the birth was over, and the impact of what had happened hit them.

Keats and the other firemen have been talking it over, he said, and they would like to present Vickie Lynn with a plaque, making her an honorary member of the department.

Mrs. Stallone, who now is at St. Alexius, was pleased with the flowers, and would be with the plaque, but nothing could compare with her pleasure at seeing the firemen arrive, she said. "I was just so happy the fire department was there. They were just great," she said.

Vickie Lynn was just two days early, and Mrs. Stallone said she did not realize she was in real labor until minutes before the birth. Her husband called the fire department, and the ambulance came in record time, she said.

The new baby, 19½ inches long, weighed in at six pounds, 15 ounces. She has dark hair. The Stallones have an older son, Michael, 6, who was taken to a neighbor's house when things began to happen. Stallone is a truck driver. The family has lived in Schaumburg 4½ years.

... AND BY THE POWER invested in me by you-know-who. I now pronounce you man and wife," states the minister, played by Jim Miceli, left, in a scene from "Little Murders." In this play, being presented tonight and tomorrow by the Fremd High School Thespian Society the minister attempts to marry Alfred, played by Bill Langbauer right, and Patsy played by Margaret Muligano, not pictured, without mentioning God once.

'Little Murders' On Stage

Tonight, the first production of Fremd High School's Thespian Society, "Little Murders," will debut for a two night run. To be held in the Fremd cafeteria at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow, this production promises to be different from any other student play ever presented at the school.

Unlike other plays, "Little Murders" will be performed "in the round." The stage will be set in the center of the cafeteria with only 16 rows of seats surrounding it.

Only students will be connected with this play's production. There will be no faculty supervision, with members of the society doing all the directing, producing and acting.

The society's play will be set in the present and will deal with current problems.

"Little Murders" is Jules Fieffer's black comedy satirizing life in the big city. Authored in 1966, the play did not seem very funny when originally produced.

HOWEVER, AS FIEFFER has stated, big city life has caught up with the way he depicted it and the play has become a highly humorous look at New York.

The play deals, generally, with the things that make New York "Fun City" — like smog and Central Park muggings. The central characters in Fieffer's satire are Alfred Chamberlain and Patsy Newquist, who are extremely opposite in their dispositions.

Alfred, portrayed by Bill Langbauer of the Fremd Thespians, is a bland character hiding from reality. By reacting with no emotion to the things around him, he avoids the suffering of New York life.

Patsy, played by Margaret Muligano, is a cheerful person. She is aggressive and optimistic and falls in love with Alfred. During the play, she tries to convert Alfred over to her way of viewing the world.

After they become engaged to be married, Patsy takes Alfred to meet her parents, played by Laurie Langbauer and Don Schnurpfel. At Patsy's home, Alfred also has to contend with her weird brother, portrayed by John Ladwig.

AT THE MARRIAGE ceremony, the minister, played by Thespian Jim Miceli, joins Patsy and Alfred in the bonds of matrimony while trying not to mention God.

After the marriage, "Little Murders" arrives at a surprise conclusion.

Tickets for "Little Murders" will be on sale at the door tonight and tomorrow. All seats will cost $1.

NSSEO Here For The Aid Of Children

by WANDALYN RICE

Some children always seem to have more trouble than others.

They may be unruly and unable to get along with other children, unable to share or take turns, unable to accept any kind of organized group.

Or they may be the quietest in the class — more than shy, withdrawn and always left out.

The problems may go unnoticed at first, because every child seems at times to be unable to get along with anyone, or seems shy.

But, for a certain number of children, the adjustment to social situations is more difficult, either because of chemical imbalances that make a child overactive or because of the way a child reacts to emotional and social stress.

If a child with behavior disturbances lives in one of the eight Northwest Suburban elementary school districts, he may be referred to a special program for help.

WHEN A CHILD with a severe behavior problem is referred, the staff of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) and the staff of the school referring the child decide what kind of help can do the most good, Sonja Clary, coordinator for NSSEO, explained.

For some children, a few hours a week with a psychologist from NSSEO may be the answer, but other need an environment outside of regular school where they can get special attention, she said.

For those children NSSEO has special classes where they can overcome their behavior problems and then eventually return to their school.

This year four such classes with a total of 30 children are run by NSSEO and housed in the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Next year, the program will be housed in Dwyer School in Arlington Heights, provided rental of the building from Arlington Heights Dist. 25 is approved by the ten-district cooperative.

Dwyer School is an eight-classroom building on a common lot with Westgate School, Dist. 25 arranged to rent the building to NSSEO as part of a series of budget cuts following the defeat in March of a tax rate referendum.

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT about Dwyer, Mrs. Clary said, districts have been calling NSSEO with even increasing numbers of children who may fit in the program.

Next year, the program in Dwyer will have six to eight classes, she said. By law, there can be no more than eight students in the class for each teacher and teacher's aide.

Children in the program were originally grouped by age this year, but as the teachers got to know the students, they were grouped by behavior, explained Caroline Stone, one of the teachers, so that "we can provide the best possible learning situation for each child."

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Stone said, she did not try to teach academics very much, but instead worked on getting the children used to functioning in a group.

"At the beginning of the year they were constantly demanding the attention of myself and the aide," she said, "but now they are much better."

AT FIRST, Mrs. Stone concentrated on games and other group activities and then gradually worked into academic subjects.

All the children are of normal or higher intelligence, but they often lag behind academically, she said. In her class there are now children who are working on reading readiness and others who are reading up to the sixth grade level.

In addition, the children have gone on field trips, and taken part in activities like ice-skating and bowling and "anything we can think of that will be a social activity and give them some confidence," Mrs. Stone said.

Each child in the program works with a psychologist as often as necessary, usually several times a week, and members of the child's family also become involved, Mrs. Clary said.

"One of the most important factors in dealing with the children is working with the parents. We need to deal with the total day for the child, not just the time he is in school," she said.

The parents can thus be helped in their relationship with the child and can alert the teachers to behavior that crops up at home, she explained.

THE CHILDREN are gradually put back into regular school situations on a part-time basis as they improve, Mrs. Clary said, and the goal is to return each child to regular classes in about two years.

"If we made the right decision in putting them in the program, we feel we ought to be able to have made progress in two years," she said.

This year is the second for the program and some children are being integrated into regular classes, she said. If, after two years, a child is not ready to return to regular classes, "We have to decide whether we feel he has improved," she said.

Children may be sent back to regular classes part time and remain in the program, she added.

Officials Ponder Disannexation Of Meadow Trace

Rolling Meadows officials are considering disannexation of Meadow Trace apartments from the city, if $40,000 in back taxes, owed the city for more than three years, is not paid soon.

Mayor Roland Meyer asked City Atty. Donald Rose to begin the legal action against the apartment complex on Algonquin Road near Rte. 53. "Why should we service them, if they aren't going to pay their share of our taxes," Meyer told city council Tuesday night.

The disannexation announcement came after a detailed report submitted by City Treasurer Robert Cole showing $41,478.95 or 62 per cent of the total tax bill during 1967, 1968 and 1969, is unpaid.

"We get nowhere in the assessor's office and the only way to rid ourselves of this is to disannex the property," Meyer continued. Payment of the back taxes has been held up because of objections filed by owners of Meadow Trace with the Cook County assessor's office challenging the assessed valuation of the property during the three-year period.

UNTIL DECISIONS are reached on the objection, tax monies are not released by the county for distribution to local taxing bodies. Objections to the assessed valuation can continue for more than three years, officials said. Owners of Meadow Trace have filed objections to the assessed valuations for the past four years.

ROLLING MEADOWS officials also are displeased with the drop in assessed valuation of the Meadow Trace apartments between 1968 and 1969 which almost cut in half the tax levy to the apartment complex.

The 1968 assessed valuation of Meadow Trace was about $6½ million, but in 1969 the valuation dropped to near $4 million. The tax levy also dropped from $26,067.18 to $15,211.04.

Rose said he has not fully studied the possibilities of disannexation, but said he considered a referendum necessary before the apartments could be removed from the city.

Asked if the city would continue to provide service to the apartments, Meyer said he felt water charges would be at least one-half higher.

ALTHOUGH THE CITY has not been financially hurt by tax returns, other taxing bodies have been forced to borrow money, because of the delinquent Meadow Trace taxes.

Last year, the Rolling Meadows library, which operates under the city budget, was forced to transfer money from the general operational fund of the budget to the bond fund to meet financial commitments.

SEVERAL SCHOOL districts have issued tax warrants because of the slow money turns. The park board in January transferred $25,000 from the building development fund to the general fund in order to pay current bills, and Dean Halterud, park district director, said the slow returns hurt the park's financial situation. Of late park district tax returns in 1969, the Meadow Trace share was 75 per cent.

A breakdown of the unpaid taxes to the city over the past three years shows $21,938.09 owed from 1968; $12,188.77 from 1967 and $7,352.09 in 1969.

In early 1971, more than $500,000 in taxes from 1967 to 1969 was still owed to the city, School Dists. 211 and 54 and the Rolling Meadows Park District.

"We're just tired of the whole thing now," Meyer said and the city is ready to take the legal action if possible.

Kassuba Development Co., present owners of Meadow Trace have not been the lone owners responsible for late payment of taxes. Sam Pancotta, previous owner of the complex delayed payment of taxes during the years of his ownership prior to 1968.

REMAINS OF THE Meadow Trace apartment building destroyed by fire more than three months ago, is being demolished today. City officials had threatened a law suit against Kassuba Development Co., owners of the apartment building on Arbor Drive, if the building was not demolished. City Atty. Donald Rose said he is holding up proceeding with the suit until the building is leveled, at which time the suit will be withdrawn. The Jan.

23 fire left 23 families homeless and caused structural damage to the building. It required demolition, because it was a health hazard, according to city officials.

Council Passes Door-To Door Sale Ordinance

The Rolling Meadows City Council unanimously passed two ordinances limiting door-to-door sales in the city.

City officials approved a solicitor's ordinance, requiring door-to-door salesmen soliciting for goods to register with the city clerk. A check will be made by the chief of police to determine the reputation of the salesman. If the city clerk approves the request, the solicitor will be allowed to sell in Rolling Meadows.

The ordinance also provides a safeguard for residents not wishing salesman at their homes. Residents may obtain a sign stating "no solicitors invited" and any person trying to gain admittance to those homes to sell a product will be subject to a $500 fine.

Further restrictions include a ban on soliciting on Sundays and only during the hours from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on all other days.

The second ordinance, which is similar to the solicitor's ordinance, limits persons classified as peddlers.

The peddler's ordinance provides the same limitations to persons "making the sale on the spot."

Although both ordinances encountered questioning from aldermen, the vote was unanimous, and the ordinance was called "a comprehensive protection to residents of the city."

City officials said the new ordinance will not be a limitation on boy scouts or other organizations which hold drives each year, but will discourage persons who would not be considered desirable in the city.

Attorney Asks Bond Be Set For Nefeld

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 28, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin; Joseph LaPlaca, a 48-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

THOMAS SAID HE will ask for Nefeld's bond "because there is not enough evidence against my client and the presumption of guilt is not great enough — he is innocent."

R. Jack Michelletto, attorney for Silas and LaPlaca, said he will make the same request for his clients. Barnes is still without legal representation, however.

"If anything, Nefeld has been involved in this case by circumstance," Thomas said, referring to Nefeld's association with LaPlaca and Silas.

He said that on the surface "there appears to be a case" against Nefeld because he was involved in the horse business and police have linked Jayne's murder to the horse business.

Nefeld recently put a down payment on a small Chicago Heights stable according to Thomas after selling his home in Markham.

"No matter how it looks, he was not involved in the murder," Thomas reiterated.

He said Nefeld's involvement in the horse business fostered his association with Silas, for whom Nefeld was a bodyguard according to Palatine police.

Police have further linked Nefeld with the murder due to his association with two other suspects who worked in a Markham restaurant where Nefeld frequently dined.

One of those suspects, Melvin Adams turned state's witness Friday and gave authorities the information they needed to make Saturday's arrests.

Police first questioned Adams when a second car seen at the murder scene was traced to him.

Accident Victim Reported Good

Jeffrey Super, 6, who was seriously injured in an auto accident in Rolling Meadows more than a week ago, is reported in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital.

Super was riding his bicycle on Central Road when he was struck by a car. He received head injuries and had been treated in the intensive care ward of the hospital until this weekend, when he was transferred into another ward.

Hospital spokesmen said he is responding well to treatment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Super, 4000 Eagle Ln. in Rolling Meadows.

Cracker Barrel

SUNDAY OFFERINGS AT THE Rolling Meadows Community Church seem to have become more meaningful in recent weeks, at least to the Rev. William Herman, pastor of the church. Some of the more playful ushers have slipped golf tees and even a bag of snipped hair into the offering basket. Rev. Herman said he would enjoy the tees but really needs the hair.

AT THE AWARD ceremony for new police lieutenant Vern Wandersee, pictures were flashing all over city hall. In the midst of the celebration, Mayor Roland Meyer shouted: "Get that camera over here so I can kiss Vern's wife."

ALD. THOMAS SCANLAN was so engrossed with a conversation with Ald. William Ahrens during the roll call vote on an ordinance Tuesday night, he answered "here" instead of yes. The crowd broke out in laughter. When the noise died down, the roll call began again. This time Ald. Merrill Wuerch said, what else but, "here."

Policeman Promoted

Vernon E. Wandersee, 39, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant on the Rolling Meadows police department.

Wandersee is an 11 year veteran of the Rolling Meadows Police Department, having joined as a patrolman in 1964. He was promoted to sergeant in 1966.

His selection was made by the city board of police commissioners and was certified by city council this week.

The department structure now shows a chief, captain, lieutenant, three sergeants and 20 patrolmen.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochial, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $90,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "salve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.35. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Will Serve 1,300 Homes

Sewer Interceptor To Start July 1

Construction of a Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) interceptor sewer along Wheeling and Camp McDonald roads in Prospect Heights is complete.

The interceptor connects sanitary sewers in the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District (OTSD) to MSD sewage treatment plants. Richard Schuld, OTSD superintendent, announced that all of the OTSD sewers west of Wheeling Road will be in operation by July 1.

The entire OTSD system will cost approximately $1.1 million and serve approximately 1,300 homes in Prospect Heights. Construction of the new system is divided into two phases. Phase One encompasses approximately 750 homes south of Willow Road, and Phase Two encompasses 450 homes north of Willow Road.

Portions of Phase One were completed last year.

However, they could not be used until the MSD line was completed. MSD contracted with OTSD to begin the interceptor in December, 1969, and complete it in November, 1970.

CONSTRUCTION of the MSD interceptor is six months behind schedule. Joseph Pivnicka, an MSD engineer, said the district will assess its contractor, the J-Dee Construction Co., for damages in its last payment to the company. The company will be held liable for each day following the scheduled completion date. At a rate of $520 per day, the damages would total approximately $90,000.

Pivnicka attributed the delay to several factors, including problems at the construction site. In addition, the company originally hired by MSD to construct the interceptor, the F. H. May Co., declared bankruptcy in the midst of the project. The insurance company that bonded the May Co. supplied the J-Dee Construction Co. as a replacement.

One of the biggest problems caused by the construction delay was toilet backups at the Dwight Eisenhower School on Camp McDonald Road. The school opened two years ago with a temporary sewer system designed to last about one year. The system was temporarily hooked up to lines in Arlington Heights.

The backups occurred this year, past the time the MSD interceptor was scheduled to be completed. According to Dist. 23 Supt. Edward Grodsky, "portions of the temporary pipe were deteriorating, and the pump was malfunctioning."

IN ANTICIPATION of opening all of the sewers in Phase One on July 1, the OTSD is now collecting tap fees. The fees are $250 per home. Schuld reported that contractors are now constructing home lines to the OTSD lines.

"We will soon begin restoring land in Phase One," said Schuld. "And we should start digging in Phase Two during the latter part of the summer."

The OTSD will begin construction of the last part of Phase One next week. "We still have to install sewers along a stretch of Wheeling Road, south of Old Willow Road. We held up on this part until MSD had completed their construction along Wheeling Road," said Schuld.

MSD contractors are now restoring the same area that the OTSD contractors have to dig up next week. "I asked MSD to wait on the restoration work until we were finished, but they went ahead," said Schuld. The restoration work includes spreading black dirt and planting grass seed.

Pivnicka said the contractors were bound by contract to restore the area as soon as the construction was completed.

Earn Degrees

Three Mount Prospect residents and one Prospect Heights resident were among the more than 1,200 students at Northern Illinois University at De Kalb who received degrees recently.

The three from Mount Prospect are James Victor Herod of 214 N. Pine, Alan Roy Travis of 214 Mount Prospect Rd., and Nicholas R. Vandyke of 22 S. Edward St.

Also receiving a degree was Frederic J. Pagenkopf of 108 Keystone Ave.

"QUACKERS" THE DUCK thinks he's a kid, and has been going to school for the last six weeks. "Quackers" stays with a class in Windsor School in Arlington Heights and goes home sometimes with classmates. The 6-week old duck also gets in line to go to recess with the students and even visits the principal in his office.

Donation Of School Site Is Discussed

School Dist. 23 officials met with Miller Builders yesterday to discuss donation of 5.8 acres in Arlington Heights for a school site.

The 5.8 acres is located near a planned extension of the Northgate subdivision, south of Huntz Road and east of Windsor Road. The proposed school will also serve a future extension of the Ivy Hill subdivision, located just south of Northgate.

The land was set aside for public use several years ago. However Miller Builders have not yet begun construction on the new homes.

According to Supt. Edward Grodsky, "the builders indicated they would go ahead with the underground construction and roads as soon as they received permission from the Village of Arlington Heights. They said they didn't expect to begin building homes until a year from now."

"This means children living in the new Northgate subdivision will not be entering the district until September of 1972," Grodsky said.

However the Ivy Hill subdivision will probably be completed before the Northgate subdivision. The Meister and Nieberg Co. has already begun building homes in the Ivy Hill area. Grodsky said children from the Ivy Hill subdivision may be attending the district's John Muir School as early as this September. "But we won't have a real problem until 1972."

A representative of Miller Builders has been invited to attend the June 7 meeting of the Dist. 23 School Board to discuss the new school site. The discussion will be partly devoted to drainage retention methods at the site.

Last year the district officials looked into securing more land for the school site. But at present the acreage has not been increased. The amount of acreage necessary for the new school depends on the building's design.

Currently the district does not have the money necessary to build a new school. In October and February the district asked voters to approve a special levy to repay a state loan for the construction. Voters defeated the proposal in both referendums.

The state loan would have cost the average taxpayer about $16 a year for 16 2/3 years. If the levy had been approved, construction of the new school could have begun as early as next August, according to Grodsky.

The district must be in the position to repay the state loan when it reaches the top of the Illinois School Building Commission's waiting list. If it is not, then the district will be put at the end of the list.

Tape Deck Stolen

A stereo tape unit and 10 stereo tapes worth $150 were reported stolen Tuesday from a car parked in the lot at Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect.

Police said the items were stolen from a car belonging to Kathleen Scheffers of Glenview sometime between 4:30 and 10 p.m. Entry was apparently gained by prying open the locked car doors.

Bradley: Mankind Has Great Opportunities

Never has mankind faced greater opportunities, according to a Chicago pastor, and yet, never has he been faced with a greater dilemma.

Dr. Preston Bradley, senior pastor of the 4,000-member Peoples Church in Chicago, said yesterday at the Mayor's Prayer Breakfast that, "Now, for the first time in the history of mankind he holds in his hand energy that he can use to advance civilization."

In alluding to nuclear power, he pointed out that it can be used for everything from a cure for cancer to new forms of transportation.

But, he cautioned mankind's increased knowledge has led to new responsibilities. "Never before have we been in such a critical period as today. The way we handle it will be the determining factor for the next 1,000 years."

Many of today's problems such as those involving tension between races and between nations are not new, Bradley told his audience of more than 50 business and civic leaders. But, he said,

Students Will Take Control Of School

Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School students will take over the job of running their school from teachers, the principal, the assistant principal, counselors and the police liaison officer on Friday.

The students, who will have their new positions for only one day, will teach classes, deal with student discipline cases, counsel other students, and grade papers as part of the project.

Sponsored by the Holmes Student Council, the "takeover" is designed to help students at the school understand the procedures and routines of running a school, what a teacher does, and to better understand the education process.

Students who will act as teachers or administrators for the day will be chosen based on letters they have written to the teacher they want to replace explaining why they want the post.

Each teacher will spend the day with the student he has chosen as his replacement to help the student.

"We have a new problem — a brand new one that man has never faced before."

"What is it? Well, we press a button and light a continent. We utter a whisper and it's heard around the world. For the first time civilization and its problems are in a world unit. For the first time in the history of civilization, this is one world."

AND IN THE MIDST of this, man has more power to shape his future than ever before. According to Bradley, all this means "the next 25 years are the most important in the history of man." For in those 25 years, he predicted, decisions will be made that will affect lives for the next thousand years.

"Man will have to decide what to do with the energy in his hands. The problem has become so acute that it will be decided within the next 25 years."

He warned that to face this, people "better get down to the fundamental power of Christ." He cautioned that this did not mean one all encompassing church, but rather, working together, "the techniques of the Master."

Summing up, he said, the question is "whether we wait for some maniac or fool to press a button and send us all quivering into space, or whether we want to build a civilization up to reflect ideas of the Galilean and last for a millennium."

"My hope, my prayer, is Man will find his way back again to dignity, greatness and peace."

The breakfast, the first of its kind for Mount Prospect, was sponsored by the village's Jaycees yesterday morning at the Mount Prospect Holiday Inn.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochial, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $90,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's. Temperatures from around the nation:

HIGH LOW
Atlanta	76 55
Boston	79 60
Houston	82 73
Los Angeles	78 61
Miami Beach	82 78
New York	90 67
Phoenix	97 66
San Francisco	58 51
Tampa	88 70
Washington, D.C.	79 59

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Teacher Council Resolution Supporting Referendum OK'd

A resolution supporting the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 referendum June 12 was passed Tuesday by the Dist. 59 Teachers Council Executive Board.

Before proposing the resolution Robert Beaupre, council president, said the teachers has discussed the referendum at length earlier and were going "to back the referendum 100 per cent."

The referendum is for a 21-cent tax increase in the education fund and a 6-cent increase in the building fund. If the referendum is approved it will provide just enough revenue to meet the proposed budget for the 1971-72 school year, according to school officials.

The additional revenue is needed to maintain the present education level in the district, officials have said.

The budget includes no new programs or expansion other than accommodations for an estimated 400 more students than the 11,605 in the district this year.

Church Sets Building Fund Goal Of $80,000

At least $80,000 is the goal of a current fund-raising campaign for an approximately $250,000 addition to the Cumberland Baptist Church in Mount Prospect.

The campaign began May 20 and will continue until next Wednesday. Church members will be asked to pledge sums that will be payable over a three-year period.

The fund-raising committee has set $80,000 as a "victory" goal. If the money is raised, the committee will be able to go ahead with plans to build next spring. However, the committee hopes to raise about $100,000, according to Derald Bramlett, co-chairman.

Plans for the new building include a sanctuary that will seat 500 and a lower auditorium that will seat 600 or can be divided into 20 Sunday school classrooms. Library facilities, a church office complex and a baptistry are also in the plans.

Bramlett said the addition would double the size of the present building, 1900 E. Central Rd. He said the addition is needed because of the overcrowding in the current facilities. Approximately 204 families in the Northwest suburbs belong to the church. About 240 students attend Sunday school.

The fund-raising campaign is under the director of George A. E. Salstrand, the director of the Church Capital Funds Ministry of the home missions department of the Baptist General Conference. He devotes full time to helping churches of the Baptist General Conference secure funds for expansion.

Carl Weber, of Park Ridge, is also co-chairman with Bramlett, a Deacon from Palatine. The church was organized in 1957.

The district has 20 schools in portions of Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

The budget includes pay increments for the 527 teachers and funds for an additional 24 teachers to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment. However, it does not include any cost of living increase for teachers, which is presently being negotiated by the teachers council with the board of education.

Beaupre said that despite the fact that the referendum included nothing for increased teachers salaries, the teachers felt it was necessary to have the referendum approved to provide a "quality education."

He said the teachers would not work actively to "put pressure on the public" to approve the tax increase.

The Teachers Council, in conjunction with the newly formed Educators for Political Action group, will be campaigning for the referendum by contacting educators living in the district and seeking their support. Beaupre estimated that there are about 1,000 educators living in the district. He said he feels the educational quality of the district affects more than the children in the schools and their parents.

He said, "I feel the referendum is important to everyone," saying that if it failed people would lose their jobs in the district and the property values in the area would go down.

The Teachers Council in the past has not passed any resolutions either supporting or opposing a district referendum.

Possible Expansion At Schools Being Investigated

Possible expansions or additions to current facilities at Fairview School in Mount Prospect are now being investigated by architects.

The committee, formed to study parents' requests for more facilities at the school, 300 N. Fairview Ave., Tuesday night instructed Guy Fishman, Dist. 57 architect, to develop building proposals. The committee, approved recently by the Dist. 57 school board, is composed of board members, Leo Floros, Edith Freund and George Foeter and parents and teachers from the school.

Fishman will be looking into possibilities of expansion of the multi-purpose room, currently used for physical education, and a nurses' office. He will also look into possible additions of a stage, a physical education office and storage area for equipment and a kitchen.

Possibilities include enlarging the multi-purpose room or turning it into a resource center library and adding a new gymnasium. However, no decisions were made, and the committee will wait for architect's proposals before it makes a recommendation to the school board.

Sam Donatucci, physical education teacher, told the committee that the primary need for a larger room "is educational." He said there is not enough room for students to "comfortably" work in groups.

Cyril Kozel, principal, said the small facilities also present a "safety factor." He said that because equipment is stored inside the multi-purpose room, it presents a potential danger to children who use the room for other reasons besides physical education.

"I agree with it all. I just wish I knew where the money is," said Mrs. Freund. "But we can't find that out until we know how much."

The committee was formed after Ed Henrich, Fairview PTA member, asked that a study be made.

Man Indicted For Bolyard Murder

A convicted sex murderer was indicted Tuesday for the February, 1970 rape and killing of a woman at a Des Plaines chemical plant.

The Cook County Grand Jury returned a three-count indictment charging Mark A. Smith, 22, formerly of Woodstock, Ill. with the sex slaying of Janice Bolyard, 22, a chemist at DeSoto Chemical, Inc., 1700 Mount Prospect Rd., Des Plaines.

Miss Bolyard, of 640 Hinman Ave., Evanston, was found murdered last February in a seldom-used pump room at the DeSoto plant. Police said she had been sexually assaulted.

Smith, a DeSoto employee at the time of the Feb. 27 slaying, is now serving consecutive 199 and 200-year sentences for the murders of two McHenry County women last year. He has also been convicted of killing an Arkansas woman in 1969, police said.

The indictment charges Smith with strangling Miss Bolyard with his hands and a pair of pantyhose. She was killed on a Friday afternoon but her body was not discovered until Saturday evening after a roommate reported her missing to Evanston police.

Des Plaines Police Det. William Kuta, who led the 14-month investigation of Miss Bolyard's murder, Tuesday said Smith had been under suspicion in the slaying since last May, when he came to trial for the McHenry County Murders.

Smith will be arraigned June 2 before Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Power. He is now imprisoned at Illinois State Penitentiary in Joliet.

Kuta and other Des Plaines' detectives questioned about 200 DeSoto employees in an effort to obtain clues after the slaying. Kuta said Tuesday that Smith, a laboratory technician, left the chemical firm about a month after the murder.

Although police had asked to be informed of any employee resignations at DeSoto, according to Chief Arthur Hintz, company officials did not report Smith's quitting.

HIS EMPLOYMENT AT DeSoto at the time of Miss Bolyard's murder was unknown to Des Plaines police until the McHenry trials, which had attracted the attention of detectives because of the similarity in the murders, Hintz said yesterday.

Smith pleaded guilty last May to the slayings of Jean Bianci, 27, on Jan. 27, 1970, and Jean Ann Lingenfelter, 17, on May 27. Both women were found strangled near Woodstock in McHenry County.

He was later extradited to Arkansas, where he was convicted of the Dec. 3, 1969 murder of Obie Fay Ash, a Mountain Home, Ark., housewife. Mrs. Ash was found stuffed in the back of her Volkswagen in a secluded area near a television repair shop where Smith was working, Kuta said.

Smith was sentenced to prison in Arkansas and will face imprisonment there if he is released in Illinois.

Kuta said the DeSoto murder occurred about 2:30 p.m. on Feb. 27 after which Smith returned to his job for the remainder of the afternoon. He said Smith and Miss Bolyard were not acquainted but declined to indicate how the woman was lured into the secluded pumping room.

Pahl Resigns As Elk Grove Head

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board.

Trustee Charles Zetek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl he made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week.

He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office.

He laughed when he made the latter

Jack Pahl

comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL WAS elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glab when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president

James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection, in 1969 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Pahl was the chairman of the plan commission when he was appointed by Village Pres. James Gibson to replace Hartshorn.

SINCE BECOMING active in governmental affairs Pahl has been involved with many inter-governmental and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Northwest Municipal Conference and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Pahl and Blue Island Mayor Richard Withers in 1967 both played instrumental roles in establishing the council of governments, formed to deal with common governmental problems.

Pahl has been active with the Illinois Municipal League's revenue sharing committee and is currently on the executive board of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities.

He has served on the National League of Cities Committee on Inter-Governmental Relations and was appointed by former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner to the Commission on Urban Area Government. He also has served as steering committee chairman for the Northwest Region of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. Pahl also is associated with the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Cook County Committee on criminal justice.

A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, he gained his initial municipal experience as an administrative aid from 1965 to 1968 to Chicago Ald. Jack Sperling in the 50th ward.

Report Sewer Blast

A sewer explosion Monday night surprised residents in the 700 block of William Street in Mount Prospect.

Police said they found smoke and fumes coming out of a man-hole covering of the sewer. Police said apparently a large firecracker or home-made bomb was set off inside the sewer.

The sewer was not damaged and no one was injured.

Must Be Down In Two Weeks

Circuit Court Orders Wrecking Of Tally Ho

The question of whether the Tally Ho apartment complex in Mount Prospect will ever be completed has ended with a circuit court order for their demolition.

The order means that the Brickman Midwest Corp., owner of the abandoned complex at Algonquin and Busse roads, must have the structures torn down within the next two months or the Village of Mount Prospect will have it done.

The court decision, handed down last week, ends a series of efforts by village officials to either have the complex completed or demolished. Those efforts began in 1965, two years after construction halted on the complex.

Mayor Robert Teichert of Mount Prospect said the court order "would stop any more trial on that issue."

COMPLETION OF the apartments was slated to begin last fall by the Brickman firm. At that time a building permit was issued by the village so the apartments could be finished.

Teichert said that some work had been done at the site but that it stopped shortly thereafter when Brickman began receiving offers to buy the land.

The village then resumed its efforts to have the complex disposed of. The case was reset twice in the current year, but a decision was handed down last week.

The permit issued to Brickman authorized the completion of four 3-story apartment buildings at the site. Plans called for a total of 56 apartment units or 14 per building.

The original plans called for the construction of seven 3-story buildings with 261 apartment units. However, the plans have been changed several times since then to conform with the village's code and zoning requirements.

According to Teichert the site was unincorporated land originally. It was later annexed to the village.

WORK ON THE COMPLEX stopped eight years ago when the mortgage holder, Marshall Savings and Loan Assn. of Chicago went bankrupt. The state then gained possession of the mortgage.

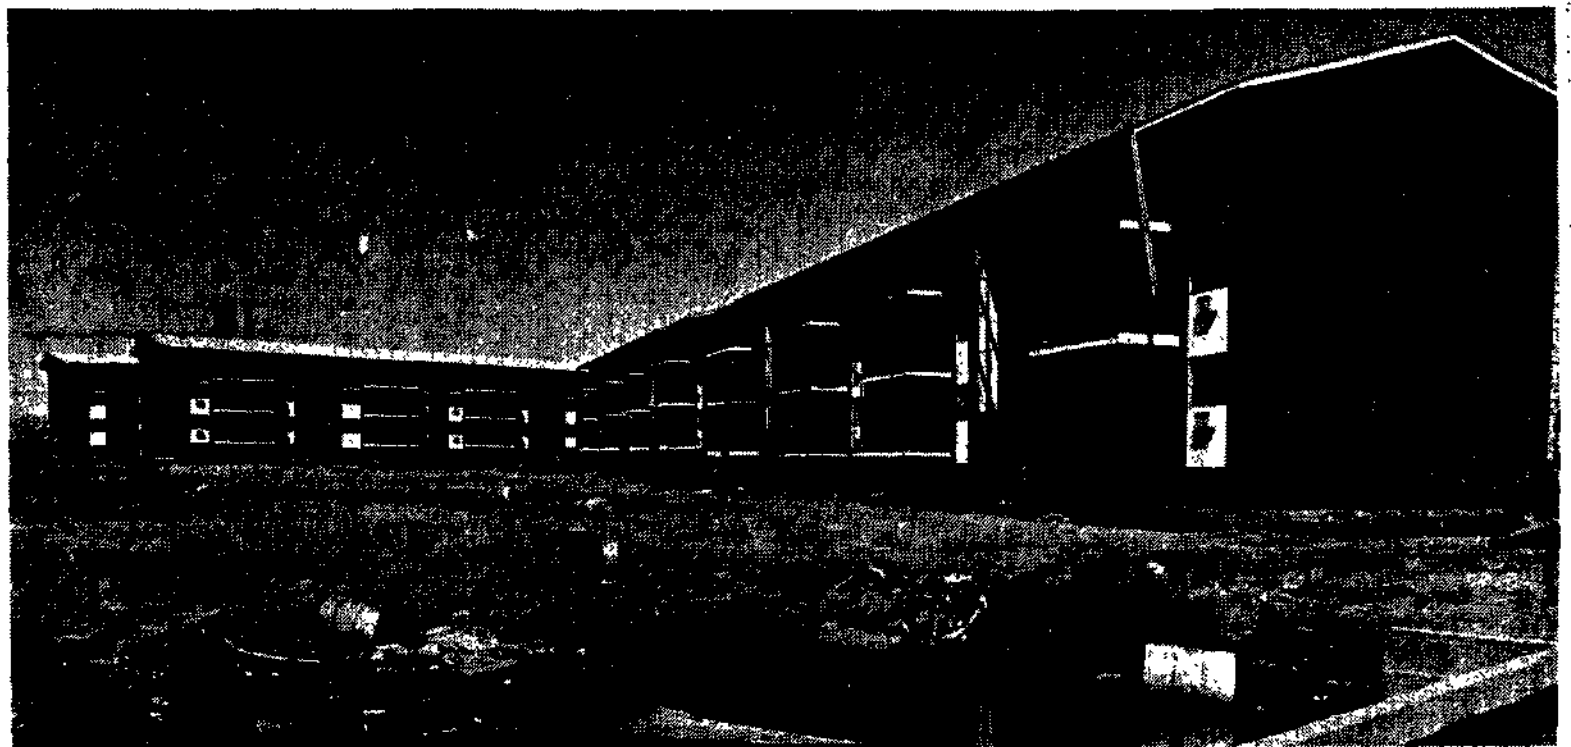

A series of legal complications, liens and other financial complications ensued. Two years later the village began its efforts to have the buildings demolished, charging they were a "health hazard, a public nuisance and an eyesore."

The complex was sold to the Brickman firm in 1967 for $412,000 at a court sale with the funds being apportioned among the lien and mortgage holders.

However, the village pressed its suit to have the buildings demolished, and the sale was held up for a time.

A circuit court judge dismissed the suit, and the sale was completed. Building permits for the completion of the buildings were issued in February, but were not picked up by anyone from the firm until August.

Also last year the Brickman firm sought village approval for a planned unit development on the remainder of the 13 acre site, located southwest of the Tally Ho portion. The plan commission turned down his request, however, because J. M. Brickman of the Brickman Corp. failed to appear before the commission to answer several questions pertaining to the development.

BUILDINGS AT THE Tally Ho apartment complex in Mount Prospect stand vacant and unfinished. The structures will be demolished under the terms of a court-order. Though the buildings are now 8 years old, no one has ever lived in them. The site is at Algonquin and Busse roads.

Golfhurst Residents Concerned

Board To Consider Property Rezoning

The Des Plaines Zoning Board of Appeals will consider a proposed rezoning of 26 acres of property on the west side of Mount Prospect Road next Tuesday.

The rezoning proposal, from single-family dwelling to commercial and multiple-family dwelling, has caused concern among residents of the Golfhurst Subdivision in Mount Prospect. The subdivision, consisting of approximately 120 homes bounded by Albert Street and Golf Road, is just west of the property.

Mount Prospect Mayor Robert Teichert has been invited to speak at a meeting tonight of the Golfhurst Civic Association to "advise the association" on what action they should take regarding the proposed rezoning, according to association president Trevor Hinchliffe. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Mount Prospect Community Center, 600 See-Gwan Ave.

Owners of the property will explain their development plans to residents tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the Cumberland Terrace Field House, 426 Warrington Rd., Des Plaines. Des Plaines Ald. Daniel Bonaguidi (7th) and John Seitz (7th) will be present at the meeting.

Al Sackowitz, one of the property owners, yesterday said the meeting has been called to explain the proposed development in advance of the zoning board hearing. He declined, however, to elaborate on the plans before the meeting and said the owners would not discuss them until that time. The Jo-Nor Investment Co. of Chicago are developers of the site.

THE SITE INCLUDES 2,200 feet of frontage on the west side of Mount Prospect Road. Commercial zoning has been asked for the portion of property south of Weller Creek and north of Golf Road. The property has a depth of 302 feet.

The remainder of the site, north of Weller Creek, would be used for apartments if Des Plaines officials approve the rezoning. The board will look at the plans at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday in the Des Plaines Municipal Building, City Council Chambers, 1412 Miner St. The zoning board eventually will make recommendations to the village board which will vote on the rezoning.

Teichert said yesterday he would attend tonight's meeting "to answer questions about the site and give them information, although I don't have that much."

The Golfhurst Civic Association Newsletter issued Tuesday hinted that the site may be developed for low-income housing. "There are no indications that this is more than a straightforward zoning request other than the kind municipalities get every year," Teichert said.

HINCHLIFFE SAID the proposed rezoning is "not to the association's liking. Single-family is far more likable than commercial. The association may also have objections to the proposed apartments depending upon the style and development."

He said the association may go to the hearing as a group to object "depending on the information we receive from the meetings. We are not planning to do anything drastic until that time."

Resident Is Hurt In Automobile Crash

A Mount Prospect girl was treated and released last Thursday at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights after the car she was driving apparently overturned.

Mount Prospect police said the car driven by Karen Iverson, 19, of 1703 Verde Dr., apparently collided with a car driven by Gerald Meese, 26, 1721 Verde Dr., at the corner of Busse Road and Estates Drive.

Police said Miss Iverson was apparently making a left turn when the car driven by Meese changed lanes to pass. Miss Iverson was charged with driving with a faulty turn signal and Meese was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Both will appear in court on June 30.

Tape Deck Stolen

A stereo tape unit and 10 stereo tapes worth $150 were reported stolen Tuesday from a car parked in the lot at Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect.

Police said the items were stolen from a car belonging to Kathleen Scheffers of Glenview sometime between 4:30 and 10 p.m. Entry was apparently gained by prying open the locked car doors.

Earn Degrees

Three Mount Prospect residents and one Prospect Heights resident were among the more than 1,200 students at Northern Illinois University at De Kalb who received degrees recently.

The three from Mount Prospect are James Victor Herod of 214 N. Pine, Alan Roy Travis of 214 Mount Prospect Rd., and Nickolas R. Vandyke of 22 S. Edward St.

Also receiving a degree was Frederic J. Pagenkopf of 108 Keystone Ave.

Bradley: Mankind Has Great Opportunities

Never has mankind faced greater opportunities, according to a Chicago pastor, and yet, never has he been faced with a greater dilemma.

Dr. Preston Bradley, senior pastor of the 4,000-member Peoples Church in Chicago, said yesterday at the Mayor's Prayer Breakfast that, "Now, for the first time in the history of mankind he holds in his hand energy that he can use to advance civilization."

In alluding to nuclear power, he pointed out that it can be used for everything from a cure for cancer to new forms of transportation.

But, he cautioned mankind's increased knowledge has led to new responsibilities. "Never before have we been in such a critical period as today. The way we handle it will be the determining factor for the next 1,000 years."

Many of today's problems such as those involving tension between races and between nations are not new, Bradley told his audience of more than 50 business and civic leaders. But, he said,

Students To Clean Creek Today

More than 150 John Hersey High School students will descend upon McDonald Creek today in Prospect Heights armed with rakes and hoes.

The students, all members of an ecology class, are responding to a call for help from the McDonald Creek Improvement Committee, a suborganization of the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District.

According to Charles Routson, chairman of the creek committee, "we plan to bus the kids to eight different points along the creek. We will work from the Country Gardens area north of Palatine Road to the Soo Line R.R. culvert south of Foundry Road."

The students will rake out twigs, rocks and other debris from the creek and haul it several yards from the creek banks. Tomorrow, trucks belonging to the Metropolitan Sanitary District will pick up the debris.

The creek committee will supply the students with work gloves and pop. They will be bused back to the school at about 3:30 p.m.

"We have a new problem — a brand new one that man has never faced before.

"What is it? Well, we press a button and light a continent. We utter a whisper and it's heard around the world. For the first time civilization and its problems are in a world unit. For the first time in the history of civilization, this is one world."

AND IN THE MIDST of this, man has more power to shape his future than ever before. According to Bradley, all this means "the next 25 years are the most important in the history of man." For in those 25 years, he predicted, decisions will be made that will affect lives for the next thousand years.

"Man will have to decide what to do with the energy in his hands. The problem has become so acute that it will be decided within the next 25 years."

He warned that to face this, people "better get down to the fundamental power of Christ." He cautioned that this did not mean one all encompassing church, but rather, working together, "the techniques of the Master."

Summing up, he said, the question is "whether we wait for some maniac or fool to press a button and send us all quivering into space, or whether we want to build a civilization up to reflect ideas of the Galilean and last for a millennium."

"My hope, my prayer, is Man will find his way back again to dignity, greatness and peace."

The breakfast, the first of its kind for Mount Prospect, was sponsored by the village's Jaycees yesterday morning at the Mount Prospect Holiday Inn.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $50,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 3.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $80 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

The Weather

Cloudy, cool and rainy weather will remain in Northern Illinois and much of the Midwest through today and tomorrow. Lows are expected in the mid 30's and highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Temperatures from around the nation:
HIGH LOW
Atlanta	76 55
Boston	79 60
Houston	82 73
Los Angeles	78 61
Miami Beach	82 78
New York	90 67
Phoenix	97 66
San Francisco	58 51

Washington, D.C.	79 59

The Market

The stock market, in forward gear during the morning Wednesday, closed mixed on moderate turnover by the end of the day.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Teacher Council Resolution Supporting Referendum OK'd

A resolution supporting the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 referendum June 12 was passed Tuesday by the Dist. 59 Teachers Council Executive Board.

Before proposing the resolution Robert Beaupre, council president, said the teachers have discussed the referendum at length earlier and were going "to back the referendum 100 per cent."

The referendum is for a 21-cent tax increase in the education fund and a 6-cent increase in the building fund. If the referendum is approved it will provide just enough revenue to meet the proposed budget for the 1971-72 school year, according to school officials.

The additional revenue is needed to maintain the present education level in the district, officials have said.

The budget includes no new programs or expansion other than accommodations for an estimated 400 more students than the 11,605 in the district this year.

Church Sets Building Fund Goal Of $80,000

At least $80,000 is the goal of a current fund-raising campaign for an approximately $250,000 addition to the Cumberland Baptist Church in Mount Prospect.

The campaign began May 20 and will continue until next Wednesday. Church members will be asked to pledge sums that will be payable over a three-year period.

The fund-raising committee has set $80,000 as a "victory" goal. If the money is raised, the committee will be able to go ahead with plans to build next spring. However, the committee hopes to raise about $100,000, according to Derald Bramlett, co-chairman.

Plans for the new building include a sanctuary that will seat 500 and a lower auditorium that will seat 600 or can be divided into 20 Sunday school classrooms. Library facilities, a church office complex and a baptistry are also in the plans.

Bramlett said the addition would double the size of the present building, 1600 E. Central Rd. He said the addition is needed because of the overcrowding in the current facilities. Approximately 204 families in the Northwest suburbs belong to the church. About 240 students attend Sunday school.

The fund-raising campaign is under the director of George A. E. Salstrand, the director of the Church Capital Funds Ministry of the home missions department of the Baptist General Conference. He devotes full time to helping churches of the Baptist General Conference secure funds for expansion.

Carl Weber, of Park Ridge, is also co-chairman with Bramlett, a Deacon from Palatine. The church was organized in 1957.

The district has 20 schools in portions of Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

The budget includes pay increments for the 527 teachers and funds for an additional 24 teachers to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment. However, it does not include any cost of living increase for teachers, which is presently being negotiated by the teachers council with the board of education.

Beaupre said that despite the fact that the referendum included nothing for increased teachers salaries, the teachers felt it was necessary to have the referendum approved to provide a "quality education."

He said the teachers would not work actively to "put pressure on the public" to approve the tax increase.

The Teachers Council, in conjunction with the newly formed Educators for Political Action group, will be campaigning for the referendum by contacting educators living in the district and seeking their support. Beaupre estimated that there are about 1,000 educators living in the district. He said he feels the educational quality of the district affects more than the children in the schools and their parents.

He said, "I feel the referendum is important to everyone," saying that if it failed people would lose their jobs in the district and the property values in the area would go down.

The Teachers Council in the past has not passed any resolutions either supporting or opposing a district referendum.

Possible Expansion At Schools Being Investigated

Possible expansions or additions to current facilities at Fairview School in Mount Prospect are now being investigated by architects.

The committee, formed to study parents' requests for more facilities at the school, 300 N. Fairview Ave., Tuesday night instructed Guy Fishman, Dist. 57 architect, to develop building proposals. The committee, approved recently by the Dist. 57 school board, is composed of board members, Leo Flores, Edith Freund and George Foster and parents and teachers from the school.

Fishman will be looking into possibilities of expansion of the multi-purpose room, currently used for physical education, and a nurses' office. He will also look into possible additions of a stage, a physical education office and storage area for equipment and a kitchen.

Possibilities include enlarging the multi-purpose room or turning it into a resource center library and adding a new gymnasium. However, no decisions were made, and the committee will wait for architect's proposals before it makes a recommendation to the school board.

Sam Donatucci, physical education teacher, told the committee that the primary need for a larger room "is educational." He said there is not enough room for students to "comfortably" work in groups.

Cyril Kozel, principal, said the small facilities also present a "safety factor." He said that because equipment is stored inside the multi-purpose room, it presents a potential danger to children who use the room for other reasons besides physical education.

"I agree with it all. I just wish I knew where the money is," said Mrs. Freund. "But we can't find that out until we know how much."

The committee was formed after Ed Henrich, Fairview PTA member, asked that a study be made.

More Than $100 Taken

Holdup Man Hits Boutique Here

by ROGER CAPETTINI

An unidentified man escaped with more than $100 early Tuesday night after he staged a strongarm robbery at an Arlington Heights boutique.

The robbery occurred at the Variations boutique, 4 E. Northwest Hwy. shortly after 6 p.m.

Jo Ann Mueller, 26, the only person working in the store at the time, told police the man forced her to lie on the floor in a back room and threatened to shoot her if she resisted.

Miss Mueller, manager of the family-owned business, described the robber as Caucasian; about 35 years old; 130 to 140 pounds; 5 feet 6 inches tall; of very fair complexion with light brown hair. She said he had sideburns to the bottom of the ear and was wearing a tan, belted trench coat and brown pants.

"He looked kind of fakey," she said. "Like he had some kind of powder on his face and his hair looked dyed."

Miss Mueller said the man first entered the store about 5:45 p.m., stood around for a few minutes and left. She said he repeated that process a few minutes later and then entered a third time about 6:15 p.m.

The man remained in the store, however, after all other customers left as the store was being closed.

"He told me he had a gun," Miss Mueller said, "and forced me into the back room and told me to lie down. He didn't seem to know what he was going to do, so I told him I'd give him all the money if he didn't hurt me."

She said she gave him all the money, including some of her own, from the cash register and her purse. She estimated the total amount stolen from $100 to $125.

The man, who displayed what appeared to be a gun in the pocket of his coat, then ordered her back onto the floor and told her to stay there for 20 minutes or he would shoot her.

"I started crying then and he told me, 'Don't be upset.' She added, 'I was so terrified I could hardly see.'"

Miss Mueller said when she heard the bells ring on the front door as the man left, she found herself locked out of the back of the store and went to a next door real estate agency for help.

As patrolmen from the Arlington Heights Police Department investigated at the scene, at least five plainclothes detectives combed the village business section and railroad station searching for the robber, but found no one fitting the description.

Miss Mueller, back in the store yesterday, said, "I thought I'd better come back right away or I'd never come back at all."

Panel To Eye Government Form Hinted

A new committee may be formed in Arlington Heights to study the village's present form of government and decide if it is best suited to the current and future needs of the community.

The recommendation to form the citizen committee is expected to come from the Village Board's Public Relations Committee which discussed the matter Tuesday night.

The board's committee, chaired by Trustee Dwight Walton, includes trustees Alice Harms and James T. Ryan.

Basically, the new group would study the question of "at-large" or "geographical" representation.

Although the makeup of the new group would be decided by Village Pres. Jack Walsh, the committee members said they would suggest appointments based on geographical representation and include both new and long-time village residents. Ryan said he felt there might be a need for the group to include one person from the village administration, a current board member and a past board member.

Walton said the recommendation will be made to the board at its next regular meeting, June 7. He said his committee will recommend the new group start work July 1 and report back in six months, with an option for an extension if needed.

Walton also said the recommendation will include a request that Jack Siegel, village attorney, submit to the group information on what forms of government are currently allowed in the state and what might be expected under the new state constitution.

Arlington Al Is Back In Hospital

Al Volz, discharged last Friday after nearly six weeks in Northwest Community Hospital, was readmitted yesterday afternoon.

Oldest resident of the Northwest suburbs, Volz, 100, was returned to the hospital because of "a few complications which could not properly be handled at the nursing home," his doctor said. He has made his residence at Magnus Farm since last November.

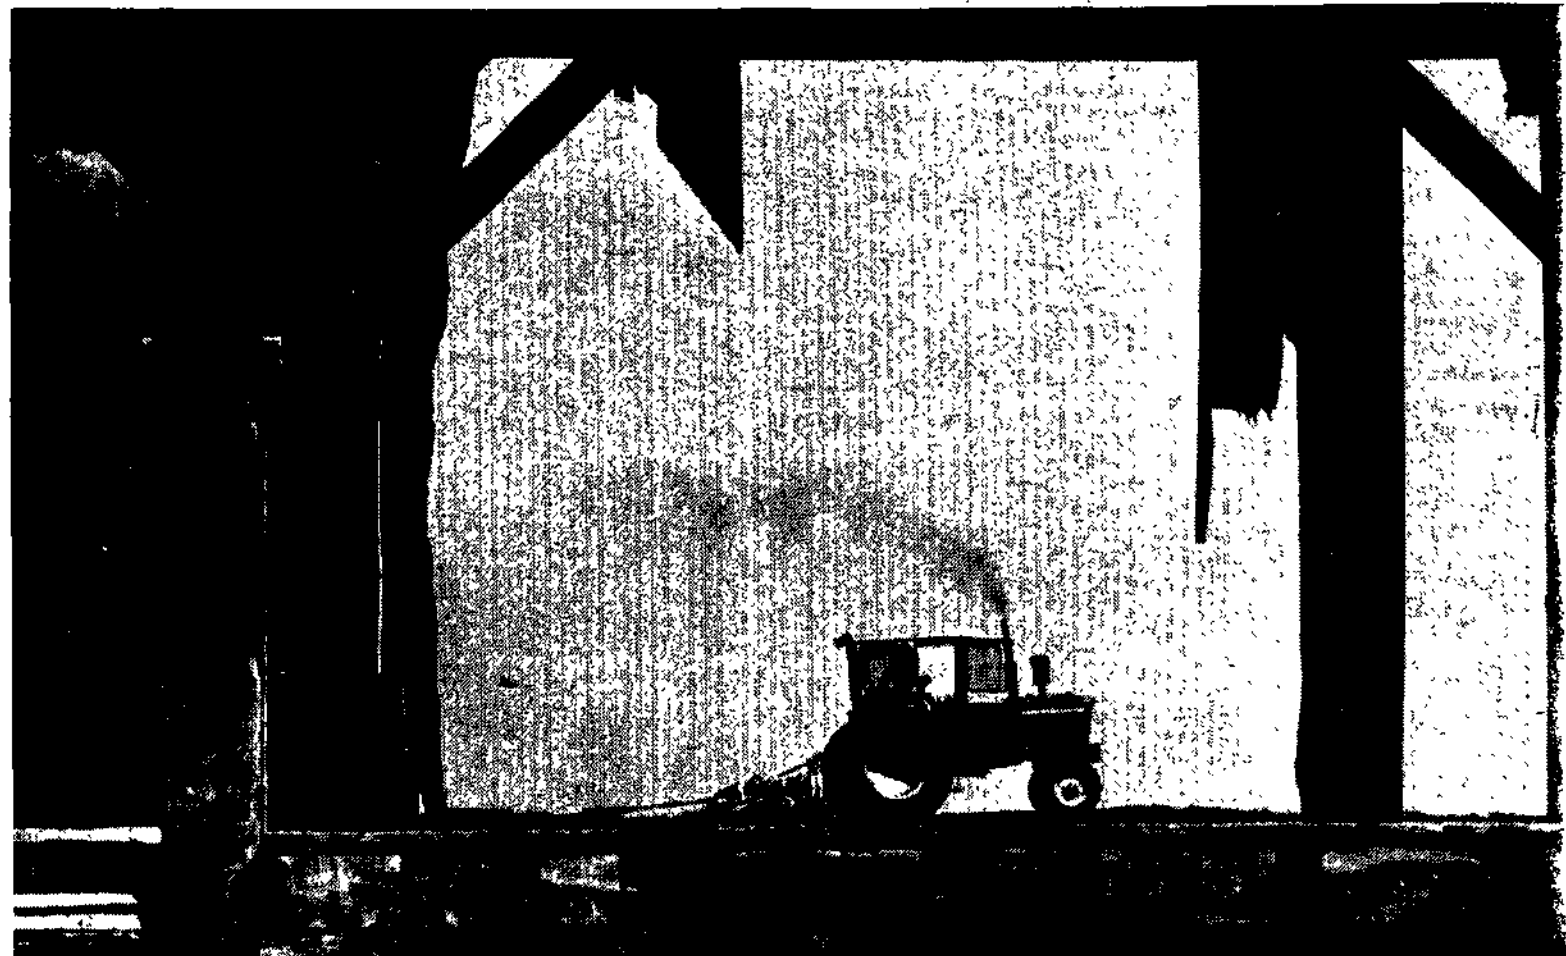

Volz was hospitalized April 9 with a heart condition which doctors said was due mostly to age. He celebrated his 100th birthday in the hospital on May 12.

NSSEO Here For The Aid Of Children

by WANDALYN RICE

Some children always seem to have more trouble than others.

They may be unruly and unable to get along with other children, unable to share or take turns, unable to accept any kind of organized group.

Or they may be the quietest in the class — more than shy, withdrawn and always left out.

The problems may go unnoticed at first, because every child seems at times to be unable to get along with anyone, or seems shy.

But, for a certain number of children, the adjustment to social situations is more difficult, either because of chemical imbalances that make a child overactive or because of the way a child reacts to emotional and social stress.

If a child with behavior disturbances lives in one of the eight Northwest Suburban elementary school districts, he may be referred to a special program for help.

WHEN A CHILD with a severe behavior problem is referred, the staff of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) and the staff of the school referring the child decide what kind of help can do the most good, Sonja Clary, coordinator for NSSEO, explained.

For some children, a few hours a week with a psychologist from NSSEO may be the answer, but other need an environment outside of regular school where they can get special attention, she said.

For those children NSSEO has special classes where they can overcome their behavior problems and then eventually return to their school.

This year four such classes with a total of 30 children are run by NSSEO and housed in the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Next year, the program will be housed in Dwyer School in Arlington Heights, provided rental of the building from Arlington Heights Dist. 25 is approved by the ten-district cooperative.

Dwyer School is an eight-classroom building on a common lot with Westgate School. Dist. 25 arranged to rent the building to NSSEO as part of a series of budget cuts following the defeat in March of a tax rate referendum.

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT about Dwyer, Mrs. Clary said, districts have been calling NSSEO with even increasing numbers of children who may fit in the program.

Next year, the program in Dwyer will have six to eight classes, she said. By law, there can be no more than eight students in the class for each teacher and teacher's aide.

Children in the program were originally grouped by age this year, but as the teachers got to know the students, they were grouped by behavior, explained Caroline Stone, one of the teachers, so that "we can provide the best possible learning situation for each child."

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Stone said, she did not try to teach academics very much, but instead worked on getting the children used to functioning in a group.

"At the beginning of the year they were constantly demanding the attention of myself and the aide," she said, "but now they are much better."

AT FIRST, Mrs. Stone concentrated on games and other group activities and then gradually worked into academic subjects.

All the children are of normal or higher intelligence, but they often lag behind academically, she said. In her class there are now children who are working on reading readiness and others who are reading up to the sixth grade level.

In addition, the children have gone on field trips, and taken part in activities like ice-skating and bowling and "anything we can think of that will be a social activity and give them some confidence," Mrs. Stone said.

Each child in the program works with a psychologist as often as necessary, usually several times a week, and members of the child's family also become involved, Mrs. Clary said.

"One of the most important factors in dealing with the children is working with the parents. We need to deal with the total day for the child, not just the time he is in school," she said.

The parents can thus be helped in their relationship with the child and can alert the teachers to behavior that crops up at home, she explained.

THE CHILDREN are gradually put back into regular school situations on a part-time basis as they improve, Mrs. Clary said, and the goal is to return each child to regular classes in about two years.

"If we made the right decision in putting them in the program, we feel we ought to be able to have made progress in two years," she said.

This year is the second for the program and some children are being integrated into regular classes, she said.

If, after two years, a child is not ready to return to regular classes, "We have to decide whether we feel he has improved," she said.

Children may be sent back to regular classes part time and remain in the program, she added.

A few children may, after several years in the program, have to go into more intensive kinds of therapy situations in which they can have 24-hour-a-day supervision in order to overcome their problems.

"Some of them are so much older when they are referred that even if we find the problem, it's hard to correct," she said. "You get to the point where you can't always turn everything back."

BUT FOR MOST of the children, the future is much brighter. A number of them in the program this year will be returned to the schools where they came from and will need no more contact with the program, Mrs. Clary said.

Next year, at Dwyer, Wightman added, the boy will have a school.

And the facilities at Dwyer will also help the staff do a better job. Since the program started, it has been moved each year. It was housed in the Diagnostic Learning Center, at the corner of Belmont and Miner Street in Arlington Heights and then was moved this year to the church.

John Wightman, executive director of NESSEO, remembers one boy who was asked in confirmation class what school he went to and, since he was attending the classes in the church, could only answer, "I don't know what school I'm from."

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

PLACING EXPLOSIVE on the roof of vacant house near Oakton street and Wildwood Road, Elk Grove Village.

Firefighters View Explosion

New Tool Is Demonstrated

Firemen from the suburban area watched two explosions rock Elk Grove Village last week during a demonstration of a new tool developed to make it easier to get inside a burning building.

The Jet-Axe, built by Explosive Technology of Fairfield, Calif., was used to blow a hole through a sheet of steel five eighths of an inch thick and the roof of a vacant house.

With more buildings being built without windows, especially those in industrial parks, quick access to a building in an emergency can become a problem, according to Allen Hulett, Elk Grove Village fire chief.

Firemen also need easy access to a building to locate the fire as well as for ventilation purposes, he said.

Though it makes a lot of noise and may be dangerous, it gets the job done, according to Hulett, who plans to have his department equipped with four of them.

The Jet-Axe can be used to blow a hole through a steel overhead door, a solid masonry door, or a roof in a matter of minutes.

A black powder charge in the circular Jet-Axe easily blasts a hole through a steel door, up to eight inches of planking, or a concrete wall.

The danger results from flying debris, similar to shrapnel, though not as deadly. A couple of firemen were stung last week during the demonstration when they were struck by fragments.

Seventy five firemen from the Northeast Illinois Fire Chiefs Association and the Metropolitan Fire Chiefs Association of Greater Chicago watched the demonstration.

EXPLOSION OF JET-AXE tips a 24-by-4-inch hole in the roof, sending fragments flying. Tool was designed to give firemen easy access to building.

Pahl Resigns As Elk Grove Head

Jack D. Pahl announced Tuesday that he plans to resign Monday as president of Elk Grove Village.

Pahl said his reasons were of a personal nature but later indicated he wanted to devote more time to his family and his insurance business.

The reaction to his announcement was one of shock and disbelief. Few persons other than the members of his family knew prior to Tuesday of the impending resignation.

Active in inter-governmental affairs in the Northwest suburbs for several years, Pahl said he had no plans to seek another public office.

The mayor of six years made the announcement in a brief statement late Tuesday at the close of the village board meeting.

VILLAGE BOARD members had been informed of his intentions earlier in the evening at a closed session of the board. Trustee Charles Zettek, the senior member of the board, said the announcement by Pahl came as "quite a shock."

Pahl made the decision Tuesday, after thinking about it for a week.

He said he wanted time to "revise his priorities" and added that he had no plans to run for another elective office. He laughed when he made the latter comment, noting that "no one will believe that."

Pahl, 48, said his family sees his resignation as an opportunity for him to spend more time with them.

"It's time I repay their kindness and consideration," he said. Pahl and his wife have eight children.

"I'm going back in the insurance business," he said. A State Farm Insurance agent in Chicago, he said his business has barely remained above the cost of living in the last two years.

PAHL WAS elected village president in 1965 by 40 votes over William Glab when five candidates including George Mullen, James Young, and then village president James Gibson, sought the position.

He sought reelection in 1968 and won again, defeating Robert Fleming and Trustee Eugene Keith.

Prior to being elected village president in 1965, Pahl served as a trustee for seven months, from September, 1962, to April, 1963, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hartshorn.

Pahl was the chairman of the plan commission when he was appointed by Village Pres. James Gibson to replace Hartshorn.

SINCE BECOMING active in governmental affairs Pahl has been involved with many inter-governmental and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Northwest Municipal Conference and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Pahl and Blue Island Mayor Richard Withers in 1967 both played instrumental roles in establishing the council of governments, formed to deal with common governmental problems.

Pahl has been active with the Illinois Municipal League's revenue sharing committee and is currently on the executive board of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities.

He has served on the National League of Cities Committee on Inter-Governmental Relations and was appointed by former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner to the Commission on Urban Area Government. He also has served as steering committee chairman for the Northwest Region of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. Pahl also is associated with the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Cook County Committee on criminal justice.

A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, he gained his initial municipal experience as an administrative aid from 1955 to 1958 to Chicago Ald. Jack Spiering in the 50th ward.

Teen Injured In 2-Car Crash

An 18-year-old Prospect Heights man was listed in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital yesterday after he was injured in a two-car collision Tuesday night in Arlington Heights.

A spokesman at the hospital said the man, Richard L. Schenk, of 509 Schoenbeck Rd., was admitted to the hospital with neck injuries.

Schenk was injured when the car in which he was a passenger collided with another auto on Palatine Road, just east of Rand Road.

Arlington Heights police said the car, driven by Mark Baskett, 17, of 209 S. Mitchell Ave., Arlington Heights was exiting a parking lot onto Palatine Road when it was struck in the side by an auto driven by Geraldine Boerup, 45, of 515 Burno St., Palatine.

Baskett was treated and released from the hospital. Mrs. Boerup was not injured.

Baskett was charged by Arlington Heights police with disobeying a right turn only sign and failure to yield the right of way. He is scheduled to appear in Arlington Heights court July 7.

Pawnee Pal Day Camp Openings Are Available

Children may still register for Pawnee Pal Day Camp and become miniature Indians this summer.

Openings are available in all three of the two-week sessions of the day camp, sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park District.

The day camp will be held in Busse Woods Forest Preserve, south of the Northwest Tollway in Elk Grove Township. The activities center around Indians and are aimed at youngsters 7 through 12 years old.

The fee for a two-week session is $30 including bus transportation, two cookouts, swimming, medical insurance and incidentals. The fee is payable when residents register.

Registrations for the day camp and other summer activities sponsored by the park district are taken in the basement of Olympic Park, 660 N. Ridge Ave., from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Camp Pawnee Pal is open to any resident of the park district and is limited to a total of 50 children for each session. The sessions will be June 28 through July 9, July 12 through July 23 and July 26 through Aug. 5.

BUSES CARRYING children to the day camp site will begin their rounds at 8:15 each morning. Camp activities are scheduled from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

On Mondays, campers will be swimming at Frontier Park, Kennicott Drive and Palatine Road. For these days, campers will have to bring a swim suit, towel and other necessary equipment. Following the swim, campers will have a noon cookout.

On the four remaining weekdays, campers will bring their own sack lunches.

A special family night will be held on the last Thursday of each session. Buses will pick up campers at 12:30 p.m. and children will remain at Busse Woods for the family night until 7:30 p.m. Parents will be invited to attend the evening's activities.

No physical examination is required for campers. However, park district staff members have "strongly urged" each child have a tetanus shot before attending camp.

Appointed To Air Academy

Robert A. McDonald, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. McDonald, 415 E. Grove St., has been appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point by Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th.

McDonald, a senior at Arlington High School, has been a member of the National Honor Society since his sophomore year. He has served two years on the Student Council and is a member of the Letterman's "A" Club and the Key Club. He served as lieutenant governor of Illinois and Eastern Iowa in the Key Club, member of the high school baseball.

An all-conference football player and a team, he plans to compete in both sports at West Point.

McDonald's brother, John, is an honors student in electrical engineering at Purdue University. His sister, Susan, is a fourth grader at Dryden School.

Teacher Council Resolution Supporting Referendum OKd

A resolution supporting the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 referendum June 12 was passed Tuesday by the Dist. 59 Teachers Council Executive Board.

Before proposing the resolution Robert Beaupre, council president, said the teachers have discussed the referendum at length earlier and were going "to back the referendum 100 per cent."

The referendum is for a 21-cent tax increase in the education fund and a 6-cent increase in the building fund. If the referendum is approved it will provide just enough revenue to meet the proposed budget for the 1971-72 school year, according to school officials.

The additional revenue is needed to maintain the present education level in the district, officials have said.

The budget includes no new programs or expansion other than accommodations for an estimated 400 more students than the 11,606 in the district this year.

The district has 20 schools in portions of Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

The budget includes pay increments for the 527 teachers and funds for an additional 24 teachers to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment. However, it does not include any cost of living increase for teachers, which is presently being negotiated by the teachers council with the board of education.

Beaupre said that despite the fact that the referendum included nothing for increased teachers salaries, the teachers felt it was necessary to have the referendum approved to provide a "quality education."

DIST. 59 SCHOOLS

Arlington Heights: Juliette Low.
Des Plaines: Brentwood, Devonshire, Albert Einstein and High Ridge Knolls.

Elk Grove Village: Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Clearmont, Daniel Cook, Grove, Mark Hopkins, Lively, Ridge, Rupley, Salt Creek and Grant Wood.

Mount Prospect: Dempster, Forest View, Robert Frost, Holmes and John Jay

He said the teachers would not work actively to "put pressure on the public" to approve the tax increase.

The Teachers Council, in conjunction with the newly formed Educators for Political Action group, will be campaigning for the referendum by contacting educators living in the district and seeking their support. Beaupre estimated that there are about 1,000 educators living in the district. He said he feels the educational quality of the district affects more than the children in the schools and their parents.

He said, "I feel the referendum is important to everyone," saying that if it failed people would lose their jobs in the district and the property values in the area would go down.

The Teachers Council in the past has not passed any resolutions either supporting or opposing a district referendum.

Man Indicted For Bolyard Murder

A convicted sex murderer was indicted Tuesday for the February, 1970 rape and killing of a woman at a Des Plaines chemical plant.

The Cook County Grand Jury returned a three-count indictment charging Mark A. Smith, 22, formerly of Woodstock, Ill. with the sex slaying of Janice Bolyard, 22, a chemist at DeSoto Chemical, Inc., 1700 Mount Prospect Rd., Des Plaines.

Miss Bolyard, of 640 Hunman Ave., Evanston, was found murdered last February in a seldom-used pump room at the DeSoto plant. Police said she had been sexually assaulted.

Smith, a DeSoto employee at the time of the Feb. 27 slaying, is now serving consecutive 199 and 200-year sentences for the murders of two McHenry County women last year. He has also been convicted of killing an Arkansas woman in 1969, police said.

The indictment charges Smith with strangling Miss Bolyard with his hands and a pair of panty hose. She was killed on a Friday afternoon but her body was not discovered until Saturday evening after a roommate reported her missing to Evanston police.

Des Plaines Police Det. William Kuta, who led the 14-month investigation of Miss Bolyard's murder, Tuesday said Smith had been under suspicion in the slaying since last May, when he came to trial for the McHenry County Murders.

Smith will be arraigned June 2 before Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Power. He is now imprisoned at Illinois State Penitentiary in Joliet.

Kuta and other Des Plaines' detectives

questioned about 200 DeSoto employees in an effort to obtain clues after the slaying. Kuta said Tuesday that Smith, a laboratory technician, left the chemical firm about a month after the murder.

Although police had asked to be informed of any employee resignations at DeSoto, according to Chief Arthur Hintz, company officials did not report Smith's quitting.

HIS EMPLOYMENT AT DeSoto at the time of Miss Bolyard's murder was unknown to Des Plaines police until the McHenry trials, which had attracted the attention of detectives because of the similarity in the murders, Hintz said yesterday.

Smith pleaded guilty last May to the slayings of Jean Bianci, 27, on Jan. 27, 1970, and Jean Ann Lingenfelter, 17, on May 27. Both women were found strangled near Woodstock in McHenry County.

He was later extradited to Arkansas, where he was convicted of the Dec. 3, 1969 murder of Obie Fay Ash, a Mountain Home, Ark., housewife. Mrs. Ash was found stuffed in the back of her Volkswagen in a secluded area near a television repair shop where Smith was working, Kuta said.

Smith was sentenced to prison in Arkansas and will face imprisonment there if he is released in Illinois.

Kuta said the DeSoto murder occurred about 2:30 p.m. on Feb. 27 after which Smith returned to his job for the remainder of the afternoon. He said Smith and Miss Bolyard were not acquainted but declined to indicate how the woman was lured into the secluded pumping room.

Attorney Asks Bond Be Set For Nefeld

An attorney for one of four defendants in the George Jayne murder case said yesterday he has eye witnesses who will testify that his client was not involved in the Oct. 28, 1970 slaying.

Andrew D. Thomas said his client, Edwin Nefeld, was seen by his wife and two waitresses in a Markham restaurant on the night the 47-year-old wealthy horseman was shot at his Inverness home.

"He was not involved in the murder and we can prove it," Thomas said.

Nefeld, 27, of 22341 Sherman Rd., Chicago Heights, is a former sergeant in charge of detectives for the Markham police. He resigned from that post last February after coming under the scrutiny of investigators.

He is one of four men charged with the murder of Jayne, who left letters to Edward L. S. Arkema, his attorney, saying that his life was in danger and naming his assailants.

Also charged with murder are Jayne's brother, Silas, the 63-year-old owner of Jayneville horse farm in Elgin; Joseph LaPlaca, a 49-year-old Elgin resident who played professional polo and served as Silas's handyman; and Julius Barnes, 37, a Chicago laborer.

All four men were arrested Saturday and are being held in Cook County Jail pending a bond hearing set for Friday.

THOMAS SAID HE will ask for Nefeld's bond "because there is not enough evidence against my client and the presumption of guilt is not great enough — he is innocent."

R. Jack Michelletto, attorney for Silas and LaPlaca, said he will make the same request for his clients. Barnes is still without legal representation, however.

"If anything, Nefeld has been involved in this case by circumstance," Thomas said, referring to Nefeld's association with LaPlaca and Silas.

He said that on the surface "there appears to be a case" against Nefeld because he was involved in the horse business and police have linked Jayne's murder to the horse business.

Nefeld recently put a down payment on a small Chicago Heights stable according to Thomas after selling his home in Markham.

"No matter how it looks, he was not involved in the murder," Thomas reiterated.

He said Nefeld's involvement in the horse business fostered his association with Silas, for whom Nefeld was a bodyguard according to Palatine police.

Police have further linked Nefeld with the murder due to his association with two other suspects who worked in a Markham restaurant where Nefeld frequently dined.

One of those suspects, Melvin Adams turned state's witness Friday and gave authorities the information they needed to make Saturday's arrests.

Police first questioned Adams when a second car seen at the murder scene was traced to him.

Donation Of School Site Is Discussed

School Dist. 23 officials met with Miller Builders yesterday to discuss donation of 5.8 acres in Arlington Heights for a school site.

The 5.8 acres is located near a planned extension of the Northgate subdivision, south of Huntz Road and east of Windsor Road. The proposed school will also serve a future extension of the Ivy Hill subdivision, located just south of Northgate.

The land was set aside for public use several years ago. However Miller Builders have not yet begun construction on the new homes.

According to Supt. Edward Grodsky, "the builders indicated they would go ahead with the underground construction and roads as soon as they received permission from the Village of Arlington Heights. They said they didn't expect to begin building homes until a year from now."

However the Ivy Hill subdivision will probably be completed before the Northgate subdivision. The Meister and Nieberg Co. has already begun building homes in the Ivy Hill area. Grodsky said children from the Ivy Hill subdivision may be attending the district's John Muir School as early as this September. "But we won't have a real problem until 1972."

Teachers' Board Urges Denial Of Wage Offer

The executive board of the Dist. 207 Teachers Association decided last night to urge teacher rejection of the Maine Township High School Board wage offer.

Members of the executive board voted unanimously to urge a faculty vote June 4 against the wage package proposed Monday night by the Dist. 207 board.

Association officials were not available for further comments at Herald press time.

The teacher negotiation team had not agreed to the total wage package, William Wuehrman, board president and chairman of the board's salary negotiation team, said Monday night before the board vote.

The wage package approved unanimously by the school board would raise starting teacher salaries by 2.5 per cent from $9,000 to $9,200, and teachers would receive raises ranging from $533 to $870, depending on experience and education.

THE WAGE OFFER would cost the district $453,892 more in 1971-72 than the $8,931,700 of the 1970-71 teacher salary budget, a 5 per cent increase.

The 1970-71 teacher salary budget was 7 per cent higher than the 1969-70 salary budget, and starting salaries for teachers with no experience and a bachelor's degree increased from $7,400 to $8,000.

The cost of teacher wages would have automatically increased by 2.7 per cent in 1971-72, because teachers advance one year up the wage scale. The board's wage package proposals boost the cost of teacher salaries to about 5 per cent more than the cost in 1970-71.

Dist. 207 is now running at a deficit of more than $3 million, and board members say the "financial crisis" will require a tax rate referendum this fall.

Before the board vote on the wage package, board members received a recommendation from the board's professional relations committee that the proposed package would "maintain the Dist. 207 salary policies in a favorable relationship to the increased cost of living over the past 12 months."

Pollution Unit Pledges Action

The Des Plaines City Council's new environmental control committee concluded its first meeting Tuesday night with a pledge for action on local pollution problems.

Ald. Robert Michaels (8th), committee chairman, said the city needs new laws to combat water and noise pollution and also promised to look into new anti-litter ordinances.

Michaels told an audience of about 25 residents and representatives from local groups that he will take "at least an aggressive, maybe even a radical stand" in acting on pollution problems. The city has been criticized for a lack of action on pollution in the past.

Michaels said government agencies can no longer afford to ignore pollution just because they aren't sure whether they have the legal jurisdiction to do anything about it.

"EVERYBODY'S looking back and saying we aren't doing anything because we don't have jurisdiction. Now we're saying to hell with that. Let's pass an ordinance and let them defend themselves in court. Let's start putting some heat on them," he said.

Michaels suggested trying to enforce the city's current air pollution ordinance against jets landing or taking off over the city from O'Hare Airport.

"We ought to ticket the pilots, just go ahead and ticket the pilots," he said at one point. "The guy's flying by, you get him on the Ringelmann chart, snap a picture and ticket him under our ordinance. (It's) Shakey, but why not do it and see what happens."

"The point is, take the initiative and see what happens," said Michaels, who is an attorney.

The Ringelmann chart is a method of measuring visible smoke pollutants used in setting limits imposed by the city's current air pollution ordinance.

The council's environmental control committee, formed after the April 20 city elections, combines the responsibilities of the former special aeronautics, special flood control and air and water pollution committees.

THE OTHER MEMBERS are Ald. Lois Czubaowski (5th) and Ald. Alan Abrams (8th).

Michaels told the gathering Tuesday night that city officials are considering formation of an environmental control commission that would work with his committee and the city administration.

In addition, he also agreed that setting up a citizens committee to work on environmental problems might be a good idea.

"This committee has got a tremendous burden and we are well aware of the problems," said Michaels whose committee will have to determine how to pinpoint pollution problems and methods of enforcement, he said.

"We intend to pass an ordinance on water pollution and the committee has agreed on that as almost a must, a matter of high priority," he said. Michaels also mentioned an anti-noise ordinance as something his committee will act on in the near future.

He said the Des Plaines River is a potential source of recreation and the city must take aggressive action to urge an end to river pollution.

"WE'VE BEEN WAITING for 75 years for the state to clean up the Des Plaines River and they're still toying with the idea that it might be a good thing," said Michaels. "No one else is doing anything, not effectively, so there's no reason why we should sit back."

Golfhurst Residents Concerned

Board To Consider Property Rezoning

The Des Plaines Zoning Board of Appeals will consider a proposed rezoning of 25 acres of property on the west side of Mount Prospect Road next Tuesday.

The rezoning proposal, from single-family dwelling to commercial and multiple-family dwelling, has caused concern among residents of the Golfhurst Subdivision in Mount Prospect. The subdivision, consisting of approximately 120 homes bounded by Albert Street and Golf Road, is just west of the property.

Mount Prospect Mayor Robert Teichert has been invited to speak at a meeting tonight of the Golfhurst Civic Association to "advise the association" on what action they should take regarding the proposed rezoning, according to association president Trevor Hinchliffe. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Mount Prospect Community Center, 600 See-Gwan Ave.

Owners of the property will explain their development plans to residents tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the Cumberland Terrace Field House, 426 Warrington Rd., Des Plaines. Des Plaines Ald. Daniel Bonaguidi (7th) and John Seitz (7th) will be present at the meeting.

At Sackowitz, one of the property owners, yesterday said the meeting has been called to explain the proposed development in advance of the zoning board hearing. He declined, however, to elaborate on the plans before the meeting and said the owners would not discuss them until that time. The Jo-Nor Investment Co. of Chicago are developers of the site.

THE SITE INCLUDES 2,200 feet of frontage on the west side of Mount Prospect Road. Commercial zoning has been asked for the portion of property south of Weller Creek and north of Golf Road. The property has a depth of 302 feet.

The remainder of the site, north of Weller Creek, would be used for apartments if Des Plaines officials approve the rezoning. The board will look at the plans at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday in the Des Plaines Municipal Building, City Council Chambers, 1412 Miner St. The zoning board eventually will make recommendations to the village board which will vote on the rezoning.

Teichert said yesterday he would attend tonight's meeting "to answer questions about the site and give them information, although I don't have that much."

The Golfhurst Civic Association Newsletter issued Tuesday hinted that the site may be developed for low-income housing. "There are no indications that this is more than a straightforward zoning request other than the kind municipalities get every year," Teichert said.

HINCHLIFFE SAID the proposed rezoning is "not to the association's liking. Single-family is far more likeable than commercial. The association may also have objections to the proposed apartments depending upon the style and development."

He said the association may go to the hearing as a group to object "depending on the information we receive from the meetings. We are not planning to do anything drastic until that time."

29th Annual Pet, Bike Parade Scheduled Monday

The 29th annual Kiwanis Pet and Bike Parade will step off Monday, Memorial Day, at 1 p.m. in downtown Des Plaines.

Entrants can register between noon and 1 p.m. on Ellinwood Street between Lee and Center streets. From there, the parade will proceed east on Ellinwood to Pearson Street, south to Thacker Street and west to the parking lot behind the Woolworth office building, 915 Lee.

The Des Plaines Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the annual event, is offering five cash prizes in each of seven categories. There will be free balloons, flags, soft drinks and ice cream for the participants, according to a Kiwanis spokesman.

The parade marchers include Boy Scout Troop 25 color guard, Mayor and Mrs. Herbert H. Behrer, the Colleens marching unit, fire trucks, antique cars and the Maine West High School Cadet Band.

Prizes will be $10, $8, $5, $4, and $3 in the following categories: most unusual entry, youngest entrant, best Memorial Day theme, best patriotic theme, best decorated bike, best decorated wagon and best decorated pet.

Senior Week To Start At Maine West High

Senior Week begins Friday at the Maine West High School, 1755 S. Wolf Rd., Des Plaines.

Graduating seniors will be excused from their home room and first and second period classes to attend special senior activities, according to school officials.

Other senior week activities include "Open Campus" day Wednesday. Seniors will be allowed to walk anywhere on school grounds during their non-class periods.

Thursday will be a senior dress up day. The Senior Prom will be held Friday night.

Vandals Damage City Police Car

Vandals smashed the windshield of a police squad car and dented another police car Tuesday night behind the Des Plaines police station, 1412 Miner St.

According to police reports, the damage was discovered shortly before 2 a.m.

This Morning In Brief

The State

The controversial $30 million state aid to non-public schools program has withstood an amendment barrage and now is on the verge of legislative passage. The bill carries almost as many "sponsors" as is needed for passage by the House and Senate. Rep. Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, a chief sponsor of parochialism, supported a requirement that non-public school teachers be certified according to state standards.

Persons coming into Illinois in order to get on the welfare roll would be denied relief payments but would get money to go back to their own states under legislation introduced in the state Senate yesterday.

Investigators looking into the loss of $90,000 from the federally funded Chicago Plan have said they want to question Chicago Alderman Fred Hubbard about a dozen forged checks made out to himself and drawn on the plan's account. Hubbard has been missing from his office and his present whereabouts are unknown.

The Nation

The Senate rejected a compromise draft bill Wednesday, clearing the decks for a vote on legislation designed to create an all volunteer army in one year. An amendment to extend the President's draft authority for 18 months was rejected 67 to 8.

The Nixon administration contended yesterday a Democratic backed plan to raise the minimum wage to $2 per hour this year would risk higher unemployment and continued inflation.

Sheriff's deputies in Yuba City, Calif. continued to discover mutilated bodies of 12 middle-aged men buried along the banks of the Feather River. Yesterday a Mexican-born farm labor contractor was arrested and charged with the killings.

President Nixon requested again yesterday that Congress provide $60 million for the arts and humanities "to enrich the quality of life throughout America."

The War

The military command in Saigon announced yesterday it had placed all Vietnamese drug stores off limits to American servicemen in an effort to "solve the drug problem that exists" among the men.

Shortly before the final bell, Dow Jones industrial average was off .84 at 905.85. Among the Big Board's most active stocks were American Hospital Supply, University Computing and Commercial Solvents.

Time And Patience Help Families

Time is the healer, they say. Time and patience and a little understanding. But sometimes the understanding and the patience must come from someone else, and for families in trouble that other person is often a social worker. In this, the second part of a series on the Community Counseling Center in Des Plaines, writer Brad Brekke talks to Mary Young, consultant and program coordinator of Chicago Welfare Services for the Salvation Army.

Miss Young and other social workers are disturbed at the imminent possibility that the Community Counseling Center in Des Plaines may soon close for lack of funds.

If it does close, this is what the Northwest suburbs will lose:

by BRAD BREKKE

Every family, at some time, needs help, counseling or someone to talk over their problems with.

It may be a friend. A neighbor. Or a doctor.

But in many cases, it is a social worker.

So says Mary A. Young, consultant and program coordinator of Chicago Welfare Services for the Salvation Army.

Family Service, a division of the Salvation Army, serves one main function: to help families in trouble. And that is why the Community Counseling Center was started in Des Plaines six years ago.

As a rule, most persons come to the center because they are dissatisfied with themselves, their families or their ability to cope with everyday problems.

Two of the greatest problems they help families with are marital and child-parent relationships.

Other are personality adjustments, adolescents, financial assistance, alcoholism, vocational guidance, health, unwed mothers and old age.

Miss Young says problems families face today aren't new ones, but seem to be more widespread and more intense.

A part of the reason for this is family life style in the suburbs.

THE SUICIDE RATE is high here. So is alcoholism. Tensions seem to fall heavily on housewives, in the middle-income brackets, who are isolated.

First, there seems to be an economic problem in families with several children, and this gives rise to other problems. There isn't enough money for a second car, so Mom has to stay home. She has no relief from housekeeping and child care and sometimes this causes her to become unglued, emotionally upset.

The husband commutes to work in the city and his day is long. He comes home bushed at night, and often so late he does not assume his responsibilities as a father. This he leaves to his wife. The result is added tension.

And every family has its breaking point.

Many families come from the city, seeking a solution in suburbia for their family problems. Some of these are marital tensions, unpaid bills, emotional and behavioral problems with children.

In many cases, however, instead of easing the situation, the move only intensifies it, makes it worse.

There's a lot of house and yard work, for one thing. The upkeep strains the pocketbook. And so it goes.

While the counseling center cannot solve all problems, Miss Young says it can relieve tension by aiding parents and helping them to cope and live with their everyday situations. In practical matters, it helps them budget, market, plan the household and care for their children.

Social workers won't tell a family what to do, but they will point out options, what they involve and let them decide what to do themselves.

OFTEN JUST having an outside person to speak with about family problems opens channels of communication between husband and wife, and helps them see more clearly what the problem is and what to do about it.

Here are a few examples of how counseling has helped:

1) Tommy was a school dropout. He was in trouble with the police because of stealing. Tommy was intelligent, but had trouble with his father, who criticized everything he did. The minister referred them to the counseling center. The case worker talked with the family and let them all express how they felt about the problem. In so doing, he guided the parents in understanding some of the things Tommy was rebelling against. The parents began to show more tolerance and respect for each other and Tommy was later able to get a job where he received vocational training.

2) An employer referred Jack M. to the center because he was in danger of losing his family, job and home because of drinking. He was in debt and his wife was emotionally ill. The case worker helped Jack make a plan for paying his debts. With psychiatric consultation, the case worker was able to give Jack some support necessary to help him overcome his drinking problem. As a result, the family did not break up and Jack was able to keep his job.

3) A mother brought in her pregnant teenage daughter. They were both angry and blamed each other for what happened. The counselor was able to get them to listen to each other. She helped the mother understand life was not over and both she and her daughter could have respect for each other. Later the girl was referred to the Salvation Army Booth Maternity Hospital.

HERE SHE WAS seen by the counselor and received some psychiatric help. It was agreed the baby would be placed for adoption. Here again distorted, unhappy lives were helped to adjust to reality and in all probability, further delinquent behavior was prevented.

In each case, one of the essential healers was time. Adjustments always take time. Counseling was carried on for months. The average is three to four months. Miss Young says in many cases, when counseling is terminated, the social worker will leave the door open, in the event a client may want to come back for brief consultation in the months or years ahead.

Another service the center offers is for housewives. It's called homemaker service and is available to homes in which a mother's illness threatens a breakup in the home.

A homemaker is placed there to maintain the home. In some cases, a homemaker may be used to show a mother how to care for a family. Usually the homemaker is there for an eight-hour day and the father or relative takes over at night.

The homemaker cares for the children, prepares their food and does light cleaning. She is paid for by the family, another agency or the Salvation Army.

"This is a lifesaver for women who are isolated and can't get away from their children for a day. But when used for these reasons, the woman usually will be undergoing counseling with us as well," said Miss Young.

HOME, BUT DOG Tired — In many troubled families, the budget is tight, there's no second car and mom is isolated at home. She gets no break from the drudgery of housework and child care. The husband commutes to work, arrives home late and is too tired at the end of a day to be a father. All this gives rise to family tension and problems, many of which can be worked out through counseling at the center in Des Plaines

Action At Board Hint Conduct Code

Proposed changes in the Harper College student conduct code may come up for action at tonight's meeting of the Harper board.

The board's bi-weekly meeting will be held at 8 p.m. today in the college's administrative offices, located at Algonquin and Roselle roads in Palatine.

At the last meeting, James Harvey, vice president for student affairs, announced the Student Senate had approved the document, which had been drawn up by a committee composed of students, administrators, faculty and board members.

PAT LEWIS, vice president of the Faculty Senate, reported the document had been circulated to Faculty Senate members, but that no action had been taken on it at this time.

The document includes a list of violations of federal, state and local laws which call for college disciplinary action. It also lists procedures for disciplinary proceeding against students. If approved, it would replace a somewhat similar 1970-71 code.

In other action, the board is scheduled to hear a report on the progress of salary negotiations for the 1971-72 school year.

One week ago the board urged its own three-person committee, headed by Jessalyn Nicklas, to meet again with the faculty to work towards an agreement. The faculty and Faculty Senate had rejected an earlier proposal from the board committee.

The board will also act on the hiring of several new faculty members, including John R. Eliasak as football coach for the 1971-72 school year.

Among the plans for expansion and new programs at the Maine Township Health Clinic, 1032 Lee St., came the news Tuesday of expansion of the Dr. Edward Baranowski family.

A 6 pound 5 ounce baby girl was born to Dr. and Mrs. Baranowski. He is the new director of the clinic. The couple, who live in Palatine, have another little girl, Arden, who is 3.

Before his appointment as director late last year, Baranowski was acting clinical director of the Pike County Mental Health Center, chief psychologist at the Quincy Mental Health Center in Quincy, Ill., and a consultant to a family counseling service and school for emotionally disturbed boys.

In his present capacity, he has helped set up a program for Des Plaines police youth officers and is now creating a 24-hour a day emergency phone service.

JUNE LANDMEIER of the Des Plaines Park District is some "taking it easy" after spending several days at Lutheran General Hospital. June was admitted to the hospital after experiencing chest pains last Friday and was discharged Tuesday.

Monday she'll be back at work. June heads the Golden Agers program, for Des Plaines senior citizens, and does a terrific job. The over-60 crowd is kept very busy due to June's efforts.

Charge Youth With Resisting Arrest

An 18-year-old Des Plaines youth was arrested last week after he allegedly scuffled with two policemen while being questioned at his home.

Des Plaines police said Richard Banks, 18, of 1028 Webster Lane, was charged with resisting arrest last Thursday evening after he struck Patrolmen Robert Schultz and became involved in scuffle with Schultz and Patrolman Robert Neil.

Police said the two officers were questioning Banks about a theft of $1.61 worth of sod from the K-Mart store, 1155 Oakton St. The youth was also charged with theft after police allegedly found sod in the trunk of a car at the Webster Lane address.

He will appear on the charges June 25 in Des Plaines Court.

South Students To Clean Up Army Site

Students from South School in Des Plaines will conduct a cleanup campaign at the site of an old army barracks on Mannheim Road, south of Higgins Road.

The clean-up will be held this Saturday from 10 a.m. and will include the clean-up of old junk cars left in the field.

The students will carry signs to call attention to the clean-up campaign.

The parade begins at 1 p.m. Entrants will be registered between noon and 1 p.m. on Ellinwood between Lee and Center streets. Free balloons, flags and food will be given to the participants.

Cash prizes will be given to the most unusual entry, the youngest entrant, best Memorial Day theme, best decorated bike, best decorated wagon and best decorated pet.

I WAS SPECIAL guest at a junior high variety show last weekend, thanks to my friend Al. Al teaches English at the school and choreographed one of the numbers in the show.

The evening was an experience. Al introduced me to some of her students and, believe me, it is a funny feeling looking up at seventh graders. And Al is a monstrous 5-feet.

We discussed disciplining these "children."

"What do you do when they let loose?" I asked.

"You can bet it's not corporal punishment," she said.

I was very impressed by the sophisticated degrees of talent these kids displayed. Quite a few of the performers were very talented, had excellent stage presence and poise. The show was quite a production — complete with changing lighting, scenery and props. Good show.

Guidance Program Begins

A guidance and help program for troubled young people began operation this week in Des Plaines.

Training sessions have begun for adult volunteers who will spend time each week with Des Plaines youths, according to the Rev. Donald Hughes, chairman of the Des Plaines Youth Commission, which is the Big Brother program sponsor.

Letters have been sent to public school which ask that principals and counselors recommend those young people who would benefit from adult guidance and friendship, according to Sgt. Ken Fredricks, Des Plaines youth officer.

The Big Brother program has been in planning stages since last October when the Youth Commission heard reports that county and state youth counseling services had been cut, and the Des Plaines Police Department would not be able to provide this counseling.

Youth commission members have screened applicants, and have approved 18 for training. Dr. Edward Baranowski, director of the Maine Township Mental Health Association, 1032 Lee St., Des Plaines, will lead several training sessions, Father Hughes said.

Ten volunteers attended the first training session Monday, and several typical counseling situations were acted out and discussed, Father Hughes said.

The volunteers are men and women, who range in age from 20 to 45 years old, he said.

Volunteers were selected for their maturity and emotional stability. Adult volunteers and youths will be matched up according to common interests, commission members have said.

Members of the Des Plaines Police Department's youth division have said they see about 12 cases a week in which adult supervision would benefit Des Plaines youth.

Officials of the mental health association, which handles the evaluation of emotional problems for the city, have also cited cases where adult supervision would be valuable.

The Big Brother program will not be just for those youngsters who have been in trouble with the police, Sgt. Fredricks said.

One of the goals is to provide help before a child gets into serious trouble, according to program officials.

'Jaycee Of The Year' Named

A Des Plaines Jaycee has been honored for his community service.

Dick Weingartner, 2607 S. Rusty Dr., Des Plaines, was named "Jaycee of the Year" Saturday at the annual Jaycee installation banquet.

Weingartner, who was also sworn in as the new executive vice president of the service organization, has served as internal director, headed the Jaycee Food For The Hungry program, and has headed the Jaycee baseball team.

Weingartner has been a Des Plaines resident since 1967. He and his wife, Lucille, have two daughters, Dawn, 12, and Laura, 9.

Also honored was Tom Noesges, 2460 Ballard Rd., as an "outstanding new member." He has helped to computerize all Jaycee books as internal records chairman, Jaycee spokesman said.

THE "PRESIDENTIAL Award of Honor" was presented to Dan Brennan, 1506 Webster Ln., who headed two Jaycee fund-raising carnivals.

The pollution committee, headed by Dick Tabatt, 1044 Greenview, was honored for its Des Plaines river clean-up efforts and its sponsorship of a pollution essay contest.

Tom Przybylinski, 9545 Dee, was honored for his direction of the "Pitch, Hit, and Throw," baseball contest, which involved about 350 Maine Township young people, Jaycee spokesmen said.

Mary Swearingin, 185 Cambridge, was honored for her two years of service as president of the Jaycee wives.

New officers are Chuck Fries, 1100 Holiday, president; Weingartner, executive vice president; Brennan, external vice president; Noesges, internal vice president; Bob Wahl, 2406 Algonquin, Rolling Meadows, treasurer, and Al Lapides, 2081 Pine, secretary.

Kids Contribute 700 School Books

More than 700 books will be contributed today to a school in Chicago by students from Maple School, 2300 Birch, Des Plaines.

The books will be presented to the Stephen Douglas School, 3200 S. Calumet, by members of the Maple PTA, school librarian, Mrs. Marilyn Wiltry, and school principal, John Stine.

The books were collected by the students as part of a program to help them "experience and understand that all children do not have the same opportunities, especially in the schools, as do most Maple School children," according to school officials.

Also, "we know that our project will be helpful to the children at Douglas School, and we are really trying to focus our children's attention on reading, books, libraries and literature."

Both schools will gain, they said.

JAZZY RED AND BLACK bridesmaid's bouquet was chosen tops in its category on the basis of color, originality, design. Camera does not do justice to the ruby red glad poppies, white German statice and black eucalyptus. Glad poppies, like galmalas, are gladioli re-worked to resemble another flower. Bachelor buttons sprayed black were used to form the centers. Foliage was also sprayed black.

A ROUND POUF of color describes and green. Majestic daisies and this perky bridesmaid's bouquet, bachelor buttons were the plant materials used.

Bridal Bouquets

The Prettiest Ever

by MARY B. GOOD

Bridal bouquets aren't what they used to be. They're even better. They're alive, dramatic, sometimes offbeat and boldly colorful creations.

That was the consensus of judges who viewed an arrangement competition at the Allied Florist Association annual meeting.

It was a wild, mad, gay, exciting convention at the Sherman House in Chicago recently and an evening filled with innovative ideas for special events.

Florists from all over Chicagoland competed for the honor of best bouquet. Area contestants included Busse Flowers, Mount Prospect; Amling's Flowerland, Rolling Meadows; and Berthold Nursery, Elk Grove Village.

ONE WINNER which could easily be adapted to other uses besides wedding — garden club flower shows, coffee table arrangements, for example — was one of glad poppies with sprayed eucalyptus and German statice. Glad poppies are gladioli pulled apart and rewired petal by petal in a poppy shape. The center is studded with a sprayed bachelor button. This magnificent creation featured a color combination of ruby red and stark black.

JUNE BRIDE MAY FAVOR an elegant yet simple bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath. Trailers can be used as honeymoon corsages.

Mrs. Irene Haberkamp of Mount Prospect, owner of Haberkamp's Flowers, commented that the trend in flowers this year is casual and informal, just like the trend in fashion and suburban living.

Top winners in the bride's bouquet category reinforced Mrs. Haberkamp's feelings. Both were clean, uncluttered designs without a hint of frou-frou.

The selections were made on the basis of design, color, texture, choice of plant materials, condition and workmanship.

GONE IS THE pomp and circumstance of stilted designs in standard Hogarth curves and formal topiary sculpture. Bird of paradise as a plant material has flown out of fashion. "In" are Flemish and colonial bouquets of garden flowers. There were tulips, Dutch iris, baby's breath, statice, daisies on display in bridesmaids' bouquets.

The bride herself is likely to choose Amazon lilies and stephanotis or cymbidium orchids — long-time standbys — but the trend is to use fewer of them. This creates a less pretentious effect, that is softened by ivy foliage or baby's breath in a free-flowing design, alive and contemporary.

A demonstration of mod' wedding bouquets featured Clark Herman of Park Ridge, whipping up such exotic creations as Mexican bird feathers and eucalyptus petals that looked like wood and a bouquet of everything from the garden. Another offbeat Clark creation was a flower basket with a self-contained lighting unit that could easily serve as a banquet table centerpiece or home conversation piece.

Judges for the competition were Mary-Lin Siltz, Chicago Today staffer; Bill Kistler, American Floral Art School; and Mary B. Good, Paddock Publications garden editor.

IT'S A WINNER! Judges picked this Amazon lily and eucalyptus bouquet as best wedding bouquet in one category. The look is graceful and contemporary.

He Advertised His Love For Sandy

"Sandy, I love you, Howard." This ordinary love message became extraordinary when its sender posted it on a billboard just north of Palatine.

Howard Grossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grossman of Des Plaines, rented the billboard a year ago while he was stationed in Vietnam while serving in the Army. His message, posted at Rand Rd. near Dundee Rd., was intended for Sandy Niemiec, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Niemiec of Wauconda.

The billboard was in a place where Sandy would see it on her way home from work as a nurse at Holy Family Hospital. But just to make sure, she got a phone call to meet somebody at the appointed spot "and that's how I spotted it," her mother said last week. Sandy's reaction? She was shocked and delighted — and then broke down and cried.

HOWARD AND SANDY'S advertised romance culminated May 22 when the couple wed in a 4 p.m. double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Fremont Center. Rev. Brian Morgan of Transfiguration Parish, Wauconda, presided.

Sandy's maid of honor was Linda Harding, Lake Zurich, and bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Pat Niemiec; Chris Mosser, and the groom's sister, Carolyn Grossman.

Lon Olson, an Army friend of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were a brother, Robert Grossman; the bride's brother, David Niemiec; her cousin, Mike Niemiec; and Bruce Romanek.

A reception for 200 guests was held at Carpenter's Hall in Des Plaines where family and friends enjoyed dinner and dancing.

The couple is spending a week in Florida as a honeymoon and will soon be moving to Indianapolis.

Sandy is a graduate of Carmel High School, Mundelein, and the groom attended Western Military Academy in St. Louis and Harper College, Palatine.

Howard has one and a half years left to serve in the Army. He is currently stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

Mary Frances Seaton

Nancy Voyta

The engagement of Mary Frances Seaton has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Seaton of Glen Ellyn. She is the fiancée of Peter Martin Wallner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Wallner, 155 Stratford Rd., Des Plaines.

Mary is a graduate of Glenbard West High School and the University of Illinois, Urbana. Peter is a graduate of St. Viator High School and the U of I at Urbana.

An August wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Voyta, 1177 Stark Place, Des Plaines, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Mike Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Mason of Chicago.

Nancy is a graduate of Elk Grove High School and is employed by Western Electric, Arlington Heights. Mike is a graduate of St. Patrick High School and has attended Loop College. He is employed by the Chicago Police Department.

A wedding date has not yet been set.

Drake — Waymans
Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Drake of Wichita, Kan., announce the engagement of their daughter Patti Ellen, to Robert Charles Wayman, son of the Charles A. Waymans, 137 Stratford Rd., Des Plaines.

Patti Ellen is a graduate of Friends University in Wichita. She is presently employed by Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. of Chicago.

Robert is a graduate of Maine West High School and Southern Illinois University. He is currently employed by Montgomery Ward.

A November wedding is planned.

VFW AUXILIARY
Members who are able to march on Memorial Day are asked to contact Mrs. Carl Ekx, 824-6884, after 5:30 p.m.

The next business meeting of the Des Plaines VFW Auxiliary will be held Monday, June 14, at 8 p.m. at the VFW Hall. New officers take over in July.

Ron Dopp and Mrs. Carl Ekx, chairmen from VFW Post 2982 and its auxiliary for Poppy Day, expressed their appreciation to the community for the generosity shown on Poppy Day. They also thanked all who helped make the day a success.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY
Cook County Council, First Division, American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Illinois, will hold a business meeting Friday, June 4, at 12:30 p.m. at the Sherman House, Randolph and Clark St., Chicago. First Division officers for the 1971-72 year will be elected. Mrs. John Martin, president, will preside.

Since June is the month that the American Legion Auxiliary dedicates to the Juniors, Miss Debra Rawlings, 7th District Junior president, will open and close the meeting.

Under the supervision of the junior activities chairman, Mrs. Cleveland Lee, the annual Cook County Council Junior Conference was held April 18. Many senior and junior members attended.

Junior members of the American Legion are girls up to 18 years of age who are daughters, granddaughters or sisters of Legionnaires. Their activities are supervised by an adviser of the American Legion Auxiliary into which they graduate. They conduct their own meetings and perform their own activities. The Des Plaines Juniors are one of many active groups.

The Home Line

Dear Dorothy: Your reply to J. G. who asked you how to marble a steak surprised me as you didn't answer her at all. To marble a steak, cut off any fat that is on the outside and, making tiny strips of the pieces, insert them into tiny slits cut in the steak. This makes the steak marbled. If there is not enough fat, you can use some fat from bacon. It doesn't change the steak taste. You can also do this with a roast. This is usually called larding a roast or steak, but it really marbles it. Hope you pass this on to J. G. as she may not be able to pay the high cost of a marbled steak. As you know, they are higher in price. Thank you for listening. —L. S.

The way you started, I thought we disagreed totally on what a marbled steak is. We don't on that, but we are at opposite poles on your ersatz method. I simply do not believe that any amount of this laborious treatment will give you a taste to match a well-marbled cut.

Dear Dorothy: I've enjoyed many a tip in your column but none as much as the one on how to keep eggs from cracking — especially as I scoffed at it as I read it. It still amazes me when I pierce the large end of the egg with a needle and know that the egg will not crack when it is boiled. —Lucile D.

Have to confess I get the same feeling when I do this trick.

Dear Dorothy: The cast iron burners on my stove are pretty greasy. Is there any quick way to clean them? —Helen Y.

Put them in a pan of water to which you have added about six tablespoons of concentrated sal soda and let them simmer over a burner for about 15 minutes. The grease will slip right off. Be sure not to use an aluminum pan.

Dear Dorothy: My husband loves homemade bread, but two of us can't eat as much as is made from one recipe. Can I freeze the dough between bakings? —Hilda K.

A home economist says the activity of the yeast might be impaired in the freezing. Therefore, she says it's best to either fully or partially bake yeast bread dough before freezing.

Many High Spots, Some Low Spots In Maine West's 13-6-2 Campaign

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

In many respects, Maine West's 1971 baseball team had a fine season. Yet, in a few cases, it was a disappointing year for the Warriors.

On the plus side, Maine West batted .265 as a team, posted an extraordinary 1.04 earned run average and was never shut out during the course of the season as the Warriors put together a 13-6-2 record.

But on the disappointing side, Maine West had to settle for second place in the Central Suburban League standings when it appeared that the Warriors had a good shot at winning it all and the squad could not get past the first game of the district tournament.

No less than seven Warriors, five of them regulars, batted over .300.

Catcher Keith Moranz was the leading batter among the regulars with a .346 mark. He tied for the team lead in hits with 18 and led the squad in runs scored with 14 and in stolen bases with 10. Among his 18 hits were a double and a triple.

(One in a series of reviews of baseball seasons at schools in the Herald circulation area.)

Frank Mitchell, who played the outfield and pitched, was the second leading hitter with a .324 mark. First baseman Rick Wolgram proved to be the Warriors' most improved hitter on the club from the start of the season to the end. At one point in the season Wolgram was hitting .179 but rallied to finish at a .314 mark.

Despite a late-season slump, Jim Hanselmann closed out the season with a .304 batting average and was second in hits with 17 and runs with 13. For most of the season Hanselmann, a left fielder who was shifted from third base early in the year, batted over .340.

Mike Bistany was Maine West's leadoff batter all season and came through with a .308 batting average. The center fielder tied for the team lead in hits with 18 and scored 13 runs.

Second baseman Dan Moss, like Hanselmann, hit over .340 for much of the season but a late-season slump dropped him to a still respectable .286. He was second on the team in runs batted in with 10.

Shortstop Ken Schroeder was the top run producer for coach Al Carstens. Warriors with 12 runs scored and 15 runs batted in while batting .263. Among his 15 hits were five doubles, a triple and a home run. Schroeder teamed with Moss to form a fine double play combination. They turned over seven double plays in the last eight games.

Dave Arnswald had a fine season with the glove at third base, committing only three errors in 18 games. He batted at a .262 clip which he maintained most of the season.

Others who cleared the .200 mark were pitcher Dave Nelson (.227), pitcher-first baseman Bill Besenhofer (.225), outfielder Roger Spencer (.200) and outfielder Colin Carroll (.200).

Two of the top three batters on the team saw limited action — Doug Dalbke, who went one-for-two for .500 and Jeff Kalb who went one-for-three for .333.

Other team members were Bill Heyse,

Throughout the season, Maine West got outstanding pitching from its staff. On only two occasions did opponents get five runs and in only three games out of 21 did the Warriors yield four or more runs.

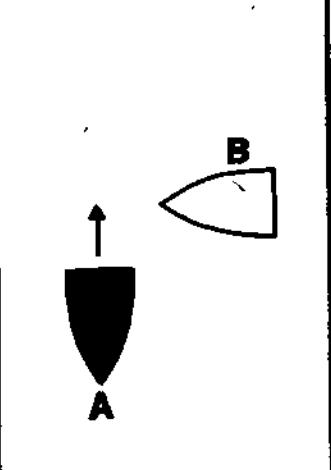

Maine West's three top pitchers were all lefthanders. Nelson threw 46 innings and gave up just four earned runs for an 0.61 earned run average. He fanned 60 batters and walked only 13 while going 4-2-1.

Besenhofer also went 4-2-1 while posting an 0.91 earned run average. He fanned 57 batters in 54 innings.

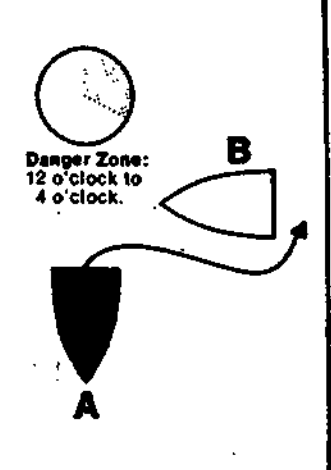

Mitchell's ERA was 1.63 as he won four games and lost only one. Dave Arnswald pitched three shutout innings for the Warriors and Campobasso was 1-1 with a 2.63 ERA.

Safe Boating Quiz

Q. Boat A is backing up. According to the Rules of the Road, which has the right-of-way? Boat A or Boat B?

A. When a boat is being backed up, the stern temporarily becomes a bow and normal Rules of the Road apply. In this case, Boat B, approaching from the right, takes precedence. It's up to Boat A to turn right and pass astern of Boat B.

Should They Wear Pads? That's Still A Question

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Summer football practice classes in pads may not be a reality in the Central Suburban League and the Inter-Suburban Association conference, the Herald learned this week.

The Inter-Suburban Association athletic directors have reviewed a new Illinois High School Association by-law on conducting summer football classes in pads and said:

"We recommend that all ISA (Inter-Suburban Association) schools will not be allowed to use helmets, pads, protective equipment or live contact in summer school football programs. Also, that no contests be allowed in any state-recognized sport during the summer with the exception of baseball."

ic directors of the Central Suburban League made this recommendation to the principals of those schools within the league:

"(It is) recommended that all conference schools do not use helmets, pads, protective equipment or have live contact in a summer school football program. Also, no summer school sports program shall have inter-school competition except baseball. It is hoped that no school will use summer classes in an attempt to begin football practices early."

It is expected that the principals of Central Suburban League schools will act on this recommendation — and pass it — sometime before the school year is completed. The Central Suburban League is composed of Maine West, Maine North, Maine South, Niles West, Niles North, Glenbrook South, Glenbrook North, Deerfield and New Trier West.

If the Inter-Suburban Association athletic directors' recommendation is passed by the Board of Control — which is likely and would happen sometime before the school year is completed — then all of this area's schools, except Notre Dame and St. Viator — will not be permitted to use pads and have contact in summer football practices.

At Notre Dame High, according to its head football coach and athletic director Fran Willett, a summer football class has not been planned there for this year.

Among the alleged reasons for the Inter-Suburban Association and the Central Suburban League passing their recommendations were the cost of insurance to cover any accident in the football classes and, foremost, the idea of keeping high school boys wrapped up in football for up to six weeks during the summer did not appeal to the athletic directors.

As one area coach said, "Boys have too many interests in the summer besides sports. They want to go to the beach, go on vacation, go fishing and whatever, and coaches should not impose on this mellow around time with practices every day."

Apparently, this opinion was prevalent among many athletic directors since they voted unanimously against practice in pads, though summer football classes without pads may still be used.

Mark Trail's OUTDOOR TIPS

IF YOU EXPECT TO TRAVEL ON ROUGH ROADS IN YOUR CAMPER OR TRAILER BE SURE TO SECURE LOOSE ITEMS SUCH AS A RADIO, CLOCK, ASHTRAYS, CHAIRS, ETC.

AD Group Names Kennedy Secretary

Dave Kennedy, Maine North High's athletic director and head baseball coach, has been elected secretary of the Inter-Suburban Association's athletic directors' organization.

The Inter-Suburban Association has an athletic director from each of its schools from the Central Suburban League, West Suburban League, Mid-Suburban League, Suburban League and Des Plaines Valley Conference.

The newly elected president of the athletic directors' organization is Russ Attis, Arlington High School's athletic director.

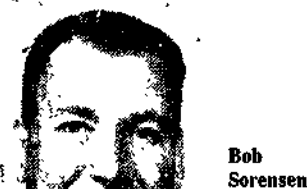

River Trails Names Sorensen

Robert J. "Bob" Sorensen, club professional and college coach in the north and west suburbs for the past 13 years, has been appointed head pro at the new River Trails indoor tennis center south of Mount Prospect.

Sorensen, 38, currently pro at Hinsdale Golf Club, will officially assume his new duties Oct. 1, River Trails' opening date. A resident of Broadview, he will move to the Mount Prospect area soon.

The appointee is a graduate of Carthage College where he was No. 1 on the tennis team and a basketball squad member. He taught nine years in the elementary school systems of Oak Park, Broadview and River Grove. In addition, he coached varsity tennis teams at Concordia College (River Forest) and George Williams College (Downers Grove) where he received a master's degree in 1969.

As tennis director for the Broadview Park District, Sorensen organized the women's team which last year defeated Des Plaines, 3 to 2, in a playoff for the north and West Suburban League championship. His fifth annual tennis day camp will open June 16 in Clarendon Hills.

Sorensen's pro career includes tenures at Oak Park Tennis Club, West Side Racquet Club (Oakbrook Terrace) and Middlefork (Northfield). He is a member of the Midwest Professional Tennis Association and a graduate of the Leighton National Tennis School for Teachers. Still a strong player, he was a doubles semi-finalist in last year's Chicago District junior veterans tournament. His pupils include Paul Daniels of the University of Iowa, Ken Mackowiak of Western Illinois University and Dave Roberts, Proviso East High School basketball-tennis star.

Deschamps Picks Arizona

Dale Deschamps, Maine East's highly honored basketball forward, has signed a scholarship with the University of Arizona.

Deschamps made the Herald's All-Area team, the All-West Suburban League team and made special mention All-State.

The 6-6 1/2 forward, averaged 22.5 points per game and pulled down 15.9 rebounds per contest to lead the highly competitive West Suburban League in both categories.

In his junior year, Deschamps averaged 14.3 points per game and, with the varsity in half of his sophomore year, he scored at a 9.0 clip. He was Maine East's Most Valuable Player on the freshman team four years ago; and a year later he was given the same honor on the sophomore team.

Deschamps will major in physical education and minor in mathematics. He is awaiting his A.C.T. scores to determine if he will receive an NCAA scholarship or a work-study program scholarship. If he scores high enough on his A.C.T., he will receive the NCAA scholarship.

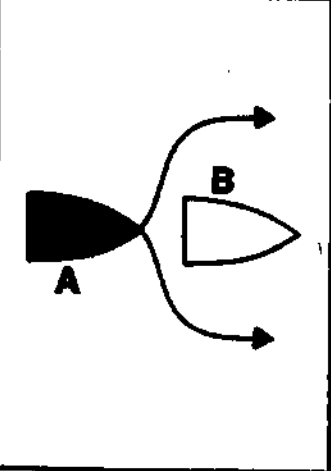

In his last two years on the varsity, Deschamps was coached by Paul McClelland.

Safe Boating Quiz

Q. Boat A is overtaking Boat B. On which side should it pass, left or right?

A. Either side is okay, just as long as Boat A stays well clear of the craft he is passing. Boat safety experts remind, however, that the boat being passed has the right-of-way.

Titans Nip Maine North In Season Finale, 3-2

Maine North's baseball team closed out the 1971 season on a losing note but not before giving Central Suburban League champion Glenbrook South's junior varsity team quite a tussle Monday.

The Norsemen lost to the Titans 3-2 in eight innings.

Maine North got all of its runs and hits in the first inning and was blanked in the remaining seven.

Neal Schawel got the inning going with a walk and went to third on a single by Brian Bradford. A fielder's choice by Ken Spain scored Schawel and a single by Dave Eck scored Bradford.

Glenbrook South tied the count 2-2 in the bottom of the second with an error, a single and a double.

The next five innings were scoreless until Glenbrook South tallied a run in the until Glenbrook South tallied a run in the bottom of the eighth with a walk, a sacrifice and a double.

Bradfield was the starting pitcher for the Norsemen and hurled a fine game despite the fact it was his first mound appearance of the season. Bradfield went seven innings and gave up the walk to start the eighth before being lifted for relief pitcher Doug Werhane.

Bradfield gave up just five hits, struck out four and walked two.

Maine North closed out its first baseball season with a fine 11-8-1 record against a combination varsity-junior varsity schedule.

NCU Files Suit Against National Tea

A lawsuit was filed yesterday in Chicago by the National Consumers' Union (NCU) against National Tea Company, asking that the firm be compelled to show NCU its books, bylaws, minutes of meetings and stockholder lists.

The suit was also filed in the names of Jan Schakowsky and Lynne Heldt, directors of NCU and National Tea shareholders.

NCU contends that the state law entitles shareholders to inspect a company's books and records of account, minutes of shareholder and board of director meetings and stockholder lists.

NCU has tried unsuccessfully, through letters and phone calls starting April 1, to get permission to examine National Tea's books and records.

NCU wants to see the records to help it pursue the adoption of proposals the two shareholders want to present at National's annual meeting on June 22.

The proposals the NCU shareholders will present:

—TO HAVE included in the 1971 proxy statement or disclosed at the annual meeting specific facts and figures detailing the firm's progress in minority hiring and promotion including opportunities for women, progress in implementing consumer services such as open dating and unit pricing, progress in community projects and community relations.

—TO HAVE included in the 1971 proxy statement a proposal to form a consumer advisory committee made up of company, union and community representatives. Such a committee was promised at last year's annual meeting.

—TO HAVE National Tea's bylaws amended to allow public interest and consumer proposals and non-management nominees for directors to appear on the proxy statements of future meetings.

NCU will also nominate three people to the board of directors. They are Kermit Coleman, a Chicago attorney, Linda Rockey, Seattle, former Chicago reporter, and Robert Townsend, Long Island, New York, author of the book, "Up the Organization."

National Tea omitted NCU's proposals and director nominees from its proxy statement. The NCU has asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to require the company to include them.

A spokesman in National Tea's legal department said yesterday the company hasn't been served with the suit, "and we have no comment."

Folk Songs Featured By Adventure

The Chicago Northwest Chapter of Adventure Unlimited will present Larry Groce, of New York, as featured entertainment June 12 at 8 p.m. in the Barrington High School auditorium, 616 W. Main St.

The program will include a variety of folk songs and hymns. Since his songs are suitable for any age, Adventure Unlimited is highlighting this as a family activity.

Adventure Unlimited is a not-for-profit corporation sponsoring social, recreational and educational activities for young Christian Scientists and their friends.

ORGANIZED IN 1962, it has grown from its initial activity, "College Week," in Colorado in 1964 followed by the first teen event, "Barrington Day" in Illinois in 1965, to a nation-wide organization meeting the needs of young people in many ways.

Sky Valley and Round-Up Ranches at Buena Vista, Colorado have been the center for three-week summer camps, college and high school one-week get-togethers and ski-weeks between Christmas and New Years.

Away-from-camp, canoe trips and tours of Mexico and Europe have been offered.

In 1968 the first local chapters for high school students were formed, directed by local chapter advisors and backed by regional directors. The next year a chapter advisors workshop conference was held in St. Louis with eighty young adults attending.

Now there are four regional directors, supervising 94 chapters with a chapter advisor and an adult committee. The adult committee are made up of church members who have a sincere desire to perpetuate these worthwhile events for teens by contributing their time and energy and by securing financial backing from other interested adults. While the camp activities are entirely self-supporting, the local activities are supported by donations.

THE CHAPTER advisor works with a teen council made up of teens from the Sunday schools in its geographical area including Woodstock, Antioch, Crystal Lake, Elgin, Schaumburg, McHenry, Round Lake, Libertyville, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Barrington.

A brief information show and comments from the teens will precede Groce's performance. Other teens will be acting as hosts and hostesses, ushers, ticket takers, parking lot attendants, etc.

Anyone interested in attending may secure tickets at the door the night of the event. Seats are unreserved. Donation: adults $2, teens $1.50, children under 12 $.75, children under five free.

Assessor Theroux Completes Course

Wheeling Township Assessor Marshall Theroux has completed the basic and advanced assessment courses offered by the Illinois Property Assessment Institute.

Theroux received the assessment diploma after studying various assessment procedures and passing a final examination given by the Institute in Peoria.

Certificates for the courses were presented to Theroux recently by Bernard Pedersen of Palatine, the Palatine Township assessor.

Third In Contest

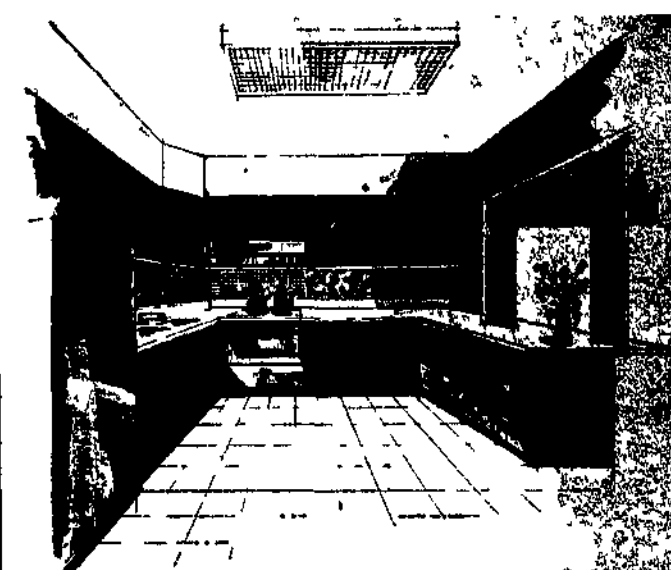

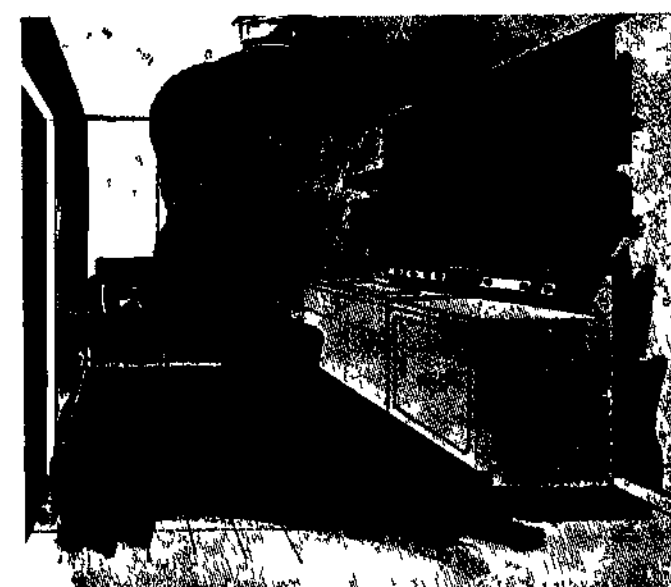

Karla Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Fischer, 1849 Circle, Des Plaines, and a senior at Maine West High School, recently placed third in the state bookkeeping contest held in Springfield.

Karla, who is in the office occupations program at Maine West, competed with twenty-two students representing twenty-two areas of the state. She represented area 15. She had previously won the area contest which was held at Evanston Township High School.

Seek Employees For Woodfield Store

Applications for an estimated 1,000 jobs at the new Sears Roebuck and Co. store at Woodfield Mall, Schaumburg, will be accepted June 7.

A spokesman for Sears said most jobs at the store will be filled with new employees, although top management will be transferred from other stores. Personnel will not be transferred from other outlets to staff the new store, he said.

Sears will be one of 211 retail outlet stores at the mall, which is being described as the largest indoor shopping center in the world. Other major department stores will be J. C. Penney's and Marshall Fields. Along with the retail stores, planners have said there will be a twin-screen movie theater, seven restaurants and a variety of snack shops. The center is to cover a total of 1.7 million square feet, and will have initial parking spaces for 8,300 cars. It is anticipated 6,000 persons will be employed at all of the center's stores.

Although Sears' grand opening is not slated until Sept. 4, some new employees could begin working as early as late July or early August, said the spokesman. Some persons will be asked to work before the store is open for business, and the actual opening may come earlier than the official grand opening ceremony, he said.

THE FIRM IS seeking both experienced and skilled employees, and non-skilled persons for full and part time jobs. There are openings in sales jobs and in all other aspects of store operations, he said. Some examples of areas where skilled persons are needed are the auto center and air conditioning sales and service, said the spokesman.

Non-experienced employees might also be hired for those departments, said the spokesman, if they look promising. They then could be trained in the store or in schools.

Some jobs will be open to persons aged 16 and 17, although these are limited, said the spokesman. Most positions will be for adults.

Applications will be taken at the automotive center of the Sears complex, which is the most completed part of the store. Applicants should enter the shopping center off of southbound lane of Route 53, using a drive just north of Higgins Road and south of Golf Road. All interviewing is to be done during day hours.

Persons applying will be asked to fill out forms, and then will be interviewed.

Applicants are to be notified within 10 days to two weeks if they are being considered for employment, said the spokesman. They then will be asked to report for at least one more interview.

Freud, Dewey And Dr. Spock - What Effect On Children?

(This column is presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, a fully-accredited 133-bed psychiatric hospital, known for intensive programs in psychiatric treatment, research, education, and community service.)

What effect have Sigmund Freud, John Dewey and Dr. Benjamin Spock had on children?

In a recent talk before the American Academy of Psychoanalysis Dr. Spock stated that Sigmund Freud and John Dewey have "fortuitously produced a crop of fearless children who are just what this country needs." As for himself, Dr. Spock says, "My own contribution has been in retailing these ideas to parents for use in everyday home situations."

Dewey and Freud taught that children respond more readily to love than to punishment, and that excessive inhibition of sex and aggression may distort personality, said Dr. Spock, as reported in the Roche Report. Assured by these thinkers that children naturally want to mature and become responsible citizens, parents of the past two decades confidently returned a measure of self-accountability to their children. The result has been not a generation rendered irresponsible by permissiveness, but children who are in fact sensitively responsible not only for their own behavior but for "some of the most terrible wrongs in today's society."

Many of today's children, largely on their own initiative, have decided they wanted to serve others in society, Dr. Spock noted. These selfless ideals are embodied in the "hippie life style," which includes stress on motives of love rather than competition, and a rejection of materialism.

Dr. Spock hopes Charles Reich, author of "The Greening of America," proves right in predicting that eventually, perhaps in some 20 or 30 years, enough people will have adopted a simpler life style and, without bloodshed or violent dissent, will create one of the greatest revolutions of all time. This massive change of life style will lead to reformation of some of our most pressing social problems, which are now extremely resistant to purely political solutions — including racial hatred, poverty, over-industrialization, pollution, and imperialism.

Wattenberg To Fill Halvorsen Post

Ted Wattenberg of Prospect Heights has been selected by the Dist. 26 School Board to fill the board post vacated by Jack Halvorsen.

The school board chose Wattenberg in a closed executive session after interviewing one other candidate. Wattenberg will not be officially appointed to his post until the board's next regular meeting Monday. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the administration center, 1800 E. Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect.

The school board asked eight people to apply for the post, but only two attended the board's May 18 meeting to be interviewed. According to school board member Lee Hilfman, "the eight names were taken from the caucus' list of candidates and from recommendations."

WATTENBERG, A lawyer for an insurance company, was interviewed earlier by the Caucus for candidacy in the April elections. Wattenberg withdrew from that race after failing to receive Caucus endorsement. However, he did receive 25 write-in votes in the election, which he termed "a big surprise because I did no campaigning."

Wattenberg said he is interested in serving on the school board because he believes "that all citizens have a duty to contribute time and effort to make the community a better one. In addition, I have no conflict of interests that would interfere in my being a board member."

Wattenberg, and his wife, Marianna have lived at 1407 Orchard Dr. five years. They have two married children.

Chicken Tycoon Col. Sanders 'Rocks Gravy Boat'

by LEE MUELLER

LOUISVILLE (NEA) — Faces foisted upon the world by the advertising media spin past in a blur of magazine pages, television blurbs and newspaper ink. They call for Phillip Morris and a whole kernel of wheat in every flake and sometimes insinuate they can make you belch.

Phony, most of them. Like Poppin' Fresh and Sugar Bear and Happy Tooth, they represent a product, not a person. Now meet a person (and a product): Col. Harland Sanders.

In a world filled with put-ups and put-ons, Col. Sanders and his finger-lickin' Kentucky Fried Chicken are authentic articles. The white hair, white mustache and white goatee are as real as the walnut-sized diamond ring on his right hand. He is 60 years old, stubborn, persnickety, independent and healthy.

The Colonel really does have a secret recipe (with 11 herbs and spices) and he really invented it himself many years ago in Corbin, Ky., where he operated a restaurant. He really does care about his chicken, like they say, and he really does have lots of money. (The Colonel once bought a white Rolls-Royce and had 24-carat gold chickens emblazoned on both front doors.)

HE IS FAMOUS among chicken people for the force and flair of his swearing. The Colonel claims that, as a fifth-grade dropout, he never had much of a vocabulary. "I quit cussin' two years ago and lost over half of what I had left," he says, smiling. Still, it has been noted that he still has great difficulty calling a no-good, lazy, incompetent, dishonest, no-count son of a possum by any but his rightful name.

Which brings up the subject of gravy, as do most things connected with Col. Sanders.

Even after the Colonel sold his company in 1964 for $2 million, some stock and a lifetime salary of $75,000 a year, he remained a perfectionist in an imperfect world. Contracted to promote Kentucky Fried Chicken and himself, he travels 200,000 miles a year "so damn fast sometimes I meet myself coming back." And always, in his travels, he will pop unexpectedly into a K.F.C. outlet to inspect the kitchen and sample the gravy. He dreams, he says, of fried chicken so golden and delicious that it'd make a man cry and of gravy so sublime that "it'll make you throw away the dern chicken and just eat the gravy."

Since Col. Sanders sold out, the gravy served by K.F.C. franchisers has been good, but it has not been the Colonel's. "The Colonel's gravy involved too much time, it left too much room for human error and it was too expensive," said a company representative. For years, he raged against the K.F.C. gravy, with such withering critiques as, "How do you serve this slop? With a straw?"

Now, Col. Sanders apparently has won. Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp., with franchises in every state and 23 countries, which grew from $30 million to $600 million in sales during a six-year period, lost money last year. A lot of money. Now, K.F.C. is going through what it calls a "re-Colonization" process.

"They're getting back to my basic principles," the colonel said. "We're going back to making 100 per cent milk gravy and throwing out the gravy base they've been using — which is a couple of various elements that taste like wallpaper paste." The chicken also is in for some changes.

THE NATURAL crimson in Col. Sanders' face glows. "We're gettin' straightened out," he said. "We've got rid of a lot of vice presidents who were unknowledgeable about what we were trying to do. For a while, it seems as though all you had to do to be a vice president at K.F.C. was to have been a good football player or a good encyclopedia salesman."

The man who owns most of K.F.C., as it happens, is John Y. Brown Jr., a young Louisville attorney who once sold encyclopedias. If Brown was responsible for the phenomenal growth of K.F.C. — as many contend — the Colonel apparently holds him at least in part responsible for its recent slip.

Although he can be cantankerous in private, Col. Sanders is nearly always a smoothie in public. ("He thinks he's Santa Claus," said his wife, Claudia.) Children love him and he, in fact, loves children.

"If I had my way, I'd fill that 10-room house of ours in Shelbyville up with children," he said. "I love children and old people. The middle-aged people can take care of themselves. I like old people because someday I might get old myself."

Kentucky Colonel (an honorary title conferred by the state) Sanders was born in 1900 near Henryville, Ind. When he was six, his father died and his mother was forced to work. This meant little Harland Sanders had to take care of his younger sister and brother and had to do much of the cooking.

By the time he was seven, he was excelling in bread and vegetables and coming along nicely in meat. At 12, however, Sanders' mother remarried to a man not fond of stepchildren, so he and his brother left home.

For the next 30 years or so, the Colonel had a varied career. He worked as a streetcar conductor; served in the Army; got married and had three children, worked on railroads; studied law by correspondence and practiced in justice-of-the-peace courts; sold insurance; operated a steamboat ferry between Louisville and Jeffersonville, Ind.; worked as the secretary of the Columbus, Ind., Chamber of Commerce; manufactured acetylene lighting systems for farmers; sold tires and ran two service stations in Kentucky.

In Corbin, where he ran his last gas station, he cooked for his family in a back room and, to make extra cash, began selling an occasional meal to travelers. It was here he discovered his secret recipe. Word spread that there was terrific grub up at the Sanders' place, so the Colonel did away with his gas pumps and opened a restaurant. By the late 1890s, he had acquired a regional reputation and was listed in Duncan Hines. All this time, Sanders was pan-frying his chicken, a slow process. "Took 35 minutes," he recalled. "By the time I finished, all the customers would be gone." Then in 1939 he hit upon the idea of frying his chicken under pressure in a pressure cooker. It took seven minutes and the product was still absolutely finger-lickin' good.

The restaurant prospered until 1956 when a new interstate highway bypassed it. Meanwhile, though, a good friend in Salt Lake City, Pete Harman, was having incredible luck with Sanders' chicken-frying process. So, at 66 — already equipped with a goatee and mustache and secret recipe — Col. Harland Sanders decided to go into the franchise business in earnest.

Cycle Rider OK Following Crash

A Des Plaines man was reported in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights yesterday after the motorcycle he was driving went out of control on Golf Road in Mount Prospect.

Police said David Bibler, 27, was driving east on Golf Road early yesterday morning when his motorcycle apparently struck the curb of a median strip and overturned in a driveway at 66 E. Golf Rd. Dennis Young, 21, also of Des Plaines, was a passenger on the motorcycle and was treated and released from the hospital.

Police said road conditions were wet and it was raining.
